And the Members being returned;

The Right Honourable Pierre Elliott Trudeau, addressing himself to the Clerk, moved, seconded by the Honourable Robert L. Stanfield,—That Lucien Lamoureux, Esquire, Member for the Electoral District of Stormont-Dundas, do take the Chair of this House as Speaker.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

And the Clerk having declared Lucien Lamoureux, Esquire, duly elected, Mr. Lamoureux was conducted to the Chair by the Right Honourable Pierre Elliott Trudeau and the Honourable Robert L. Stanfield, when he returned his humble acknowledgements to the House for the great honour they had been pleased to confer upon him by choosing him to be their Speaker.

The Mace was laid upon the Table.

At 11.17 o'clock a.m., the sitting was suspended until 3.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

3.00 o'clock p.m.

The sitting resumed;

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter:

GOVERNMENT HOUSE
OTTAWA

12th September, 1968.

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that His Excellency the Governor General will arrive at the Main Entrance of the Parliament Buildings at 3.00 p.m. on this day Thursday the 12th September 1968, and when it has been signified that all is in readiness, will proceed to the Chamber of the Senate to open formally the First Session of the Twenty-eighth Parliament of Canada.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ESMOND BUTLER,
Secretary to the Governor General.

The Honourable,
The Speaker of the House of Commons,

A Message was delivered by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

"Mr. Speaker, His Excellency the Governor General desires the immediate attendance of this Honourable House in the Chamber of the Honourable the Senate".

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the House, went up to the Senate Chamber, and Mr. Speaker spoke to the following effect:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

The House of Commons have elected me their Speaker, though I am but little able to fulfil the important duties thus assigned to me.

If, in the performance of those duties, I should at any time fall into error, I pray that the fault may be imputed to me, and not to the Commons, whose servant I am, and who, through me, the better to enable them to discharge their duty to their Queen and Country, humbly claim all their undoubted rights and privileges, especially that they may have freedom of speech in their debates, access to Your Excellency's person at all seasonable times, and that their proceedings may receive from Your Excellency the most favourable construction.

The Honourable the Speaker of the Senate then said:

"Mr. Speaker, I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor General to declare to you that he freely confides in the duty and attachment of the House of Commons to Her Majesty's Person and Government and, not doubting that their proceedings will be conducted with wisdom, temper and prudence, he grants and upon all occasions will recognize and allow their constitutional privileges.

I am commanded also to assure you that the Commons shall have ready access to His Excellency upon all occasions, and that their proceedings as well as your words and actions, will constantly receive from him the most favourable construction."

And the House being returned:

Mr. Speaker reported that the House had been in the Senate Chamber, and that he had, in their names and on their behalf, made the usual claim of privileges, which His Excellency had been pleased to confirm to them.

Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-1, An Act respecting the Administration of Oaths of Office, which was read the first time.

Mr. Speaker reported that, when the House did attend His Excellency the Governor General this day in the Senate Chamber, His Excellency was pleased to make a speech to both Houses of Parliament, and to prevent mistakes, he had obtained a copy, which is as follows:

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I have the honour to welcome you to the first session of the 28th Parliament of Canada.

Across the land there are great expectations of what this Parliament will produce. My Ministers recognize the responsibility for leadership which these hopes entail. They are determined to do all that they can to carry out the mandate they received from the people of Canada in the recent general election. They recognize their duty to ensure that the wishes of Canadians concerning their Government be fulfilled as quickly and as completely as the general advantage will allow. At the same time my Government is conscious that aspirations and their realization have to be tempered by a sober awareness of reality. In the complexities of modern society, effective programs take time to develop and more time to implement. At all stages they require financial and intellectual resources which are not unlimited and must be used with careful planning and the hard judgement of priorities. It is a simple fact of life that everything cannot be done at once.

My Government has planned the legislative program of this first session in the context of a Parliament of normal duration. To make way for the consideration in later sessions of new programs that Ministers are already developing, it is proposed, during the current session, to elucidate priorities and to set in motion new policies. Of equal importance, though of far less drama, Parliament will be asked to deal with a host of matters essential to the smooth and up-to-date functioning of government which were not disposed of in the previous Parliament. My Government considers that its first responsibility, and the first responsibility of this Parliament, is to clear the accumulation of essential legislative adjustments, improvements and modernizations left over from the last Parliament. Unless they are cleared up promptly, efficient public administration and the effective operation of the Canadian economy and society will be hampered.

My Ministers believe that much of the delay and difficulty in handling of Parliamentary business during recent years could have been avoided or reduced by the improvement of Parliamentary rules and procedures. It is their view that Canadians feel that Parliament is too far removed from the people it serves; its operations are too slow and ponderous; its deliberations are often insufficiently informed and its decisions are too few and too much delayed. In order that Parliamentary institutions may retain the confidence of the people, and in order that they may cope successfully with the vast scope and complexity of government today, it is essential that provision be made for legislative machinery that can act speedily on the large number of varied, detailed and complicated legislative, financial and policy questions that will be the normal, and indeed the growing, Parliamentary program of the future. My Government accords the greatest importance to Parliamentary reform and, to this end and as a matter of the highest priority, it has already had useful discussions with representatives of Opposition parties concerning changes in the rules and procedures of the House of Commons.

So that the Official Opposition, to which we in Canada give formal recognition as a vital part of our democratic process, as well as the other parties in opposition, may be in a position to cope more effectively with the heavy load of action and decision each session must face you will be asked to make new provision for the Official Opposition, and the other parties in their Parliamentary role. You will also be asked to consider additional facilities for the better discharge of the functions of Parliament generally.

My Government is deeply and irrevocably committed to the objectives of a just society and a prosperous economy in a peaceful world. My Ministers believe that the unity of the country is fundamental to the attainment of these goals, as—indeed—to the enjoyment by each Canadian of the maximum possible liberty, happiness and material well-being. Constitutional reform remains the best long-term guarantee of Canadian unity and my Ministers are directing officials in discussions with the Provinces which are proceeding well and will, through a series of intergovernmental conferences, lead to proposals that Parliament will wish to consider. In the meantime, however, to further the objective of a united Canada, you will be asked during the current session, to enact a totally new Official Languages Act based on the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism. You will also be asked to approve a new Publication of Statutes Act to change the way in which the law of our bilingual land is presented and made known in both the official languages of our land. You will also be asked to consider measures relating to Indians, to citizenship, to national symbols, to cultural agencies, to transportation of all kinds as well as to communications (including satellites), educational television, and the financing of the Post Office.

Some of these proposals involve the righting of wrongs and others the opening of opportunities long denied. Together they exemplify the essential connection between justice and national unity. The attainment of a just society is the cherished hope of civilized men. While perhaps more difficult to formulate for groups than for individuals, even the members of majorities—political, religious, linguistic or economic—must know what it is to suffer injustice. My Government is deeply concerned to provide and to ensure increased justice, dignity and recognition to the individual, particularly in an age which is characterized by large governments, industrial automation, social regimentation and old-fashioned laws. A great deal has been accomplished in recent years to make the Canadian society more just in terms of income distribution and security against the vicissitudes of life. Pensions for the aged, provision for the sick and for the needy have been made more effective by legislation passed in recent Parliaments and by action of the provinces. Notwithstanding such measures, poverty continues to exist in Canada. My Government recognizes that, but it also believes that it would be deluding and cruel to pretend that there is a simple, all-encompassing or instantaneously effective remedy. Poverty can be dealt with successfully and permanently only by continued and determined action in a variety of ways by all governments. For its part, Parliament can be assured that the federal government will contribute fully and assume leadership wherever it can properly do so. To this end, the proposals you will have for your consideration will include the establishment of a department charged with the objective of ensuring that people in all areas and regions of our country have as equal access as possible to the opportunities of Canada's economic development.

At the same time, there are other and broader elements vital to a just society, and my Ministers feel that these must receive, at this and in later sessions of Parliament, a degree of attention they have not had hitherto. Toward these ends, you will be asked to enact important changes in the Criminal Law, to provide new protections for consumers and investors, to up-date food, drug and health legislation, to revise or amend legislation relating to the machinery of justice, and to correct a number of particular injustices, including those resulting from certain provisions of the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act. During the course of the present session it is anticipated that the government will receive reports from inquiries with regard to labour legislation and veterans pensions, and it is the intention of my Ministers to bring their proposals in these matters before you as soon as possible.

My Government believes that the objective of a just society must always include the pursuit of a prosperous economy as well as the fair distribution of its proceeds. Just as we have in the past tended, perhaps, to consider justice in our society largely in material terms, so we must recognize that there has been a tendency in Parliament and to some degree in Government to concentrate on the distributive aspects of our economy. In this course we have sometimes tended to neglect those aspects that can affect the productivity of our country, and hence the total provision of economic well-being for our society, and its competitiveness in the changing conditions of the modern world. The natural resources of Canada and the industries based upon them continue to be of immense importance to our economy but the advantages of our great physical resources by themselves are no longer an adequate base for a growing and prosperous modern economy. We shall increasingly have to compete on even terms with those countries of the world which are most advanced technologically in the provision of the sophisticated products of modern life. Unless Canada can maintain an economy that is efficient, competitive and productive in relation to the most advanced nations on earth, we cannot have the basis for a society from which poverty has been eliminated, we cannot maintain high levels of employment and income and we cannot ensure the standard of life to which Canadians generally aspire. It is against this background, as well as with the consciousness that the interests of all must be fairly balanced, that the government is approaching its policies and programs of an economic character. In this same context, Parliament will be asked during the present session to consider proposals for a systematic and continuous review of prices and costs in our economy.

Just as incomes cannot increase faster than productivity if price increases are to be restrained, so government spending by all levels of government cannot increase faster than productivity if we wish to restrain the increase in levels of taxation. These two realities are among the most important that Canadians and their leaders must bear in mind during the months and years ahead. Measures that you will have to consider relating to the Kennedy Round reflect the outcome of a major international effort to reduce the barriers to international trade and emphasize the opportunities opening up for a great trading nation like Canada. A measure to be brought before you dealing with the amendment of the Bretton Woods arrangements, results from comparable efforts to stabilize and improve the whole international financial system.

Conscious of the limitations it must place on its expenditures, my Government has acted within the framework of previously announced guidelines to select carefully the programs which in the light of regional needs and opportunities it considers most promising for the promotion of a prosperous economy.

My Ministers will bring before you legislation relating to the encouragement of manpower programs, regional improvements, domestic investment, export development, and resource administration, including a Yukon Mineral Act and an Oil and Gas Production Act relating to Canada's increasingly important northern resources. In addition, my Government will propose a Freshwater Fish Marketing Act, and intends to investigate immediately a number of methods for promoting greater efficiency in the production and marketing of grains, including the establishment of a National Grains Council. You will be asked to approve amendments to the Farm Improvement Loans Act, the Farm Credit Act, the Farm Machinery Syndicates Act, the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act, and the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act. You will be asked to consider a Canada Development Corporation Act, a Federal Cooperatives Act and an Export Development Corporation Act.

The growth of our population and the changes in the nature of our mobile urban and industrial society lend a new importance to conservation in its traditional sense. We have taken and are taking effective strides toward economic conservation through progressively better use of our resources to achieve a high and long-term productivity. We must also give new attention before it is too late to the preservation of our natural heritage for the enjoyment of Canadians of future generations. You will be asked to consider measures concerning National Parks and Historic Sites and Monuments. These and other facilities for the repose of the mind and restoration of the spirit, for sport, and for physical relaxation are and will be of increasing importance to our social environment. They offer Canadians and to visitors to Canada the possibility of a quality of life richly satisfying and ever more difficult to come by in this and in other industrial countries. Of broader importance is the problem of pollution, which must receive increased attention from federal, provincial and municipal governments. My Ministers are actively engaged in preparing proposals on these subjects and, in due course, these will be brought before you for your examination.

The natural riches with which Canada is blessed must serve to remind us that we have a substantial responsibility and a great opportunity in matters of foreign aid. My Government intends to press forward its plans and programs for international cooperation and development which include the establishment in Canada of an International Development Centre.

In international affairs generally, my Ministers regard the current situation as uncertain and deeply disturbing. Talks are under way in Paris concerning Vietnam but so far negotiations have not advanced as we had hoped they might. The Government has followed with anxiety the attempts to promote a peaceful settlement in Nigeria and has participated actively in international efforts to relieve the sufferings of the civilian population. The situation in Czechoslovakia has also caused the gravest concern to the government, not only for its effects on the prospects of détente and future evolution within Communist countries, but also for its consequences for the freedom and well-being of the Czechoslovak people. For those of them who have to seek refuge in other countries, my Ministers have already taken steps to offer permanent homes in Canada.

The Government has undertaken and is pursuing a thorough review of our external and defence policies. Canada's contribution to NATO, relations with Peking, with Latin America and with Europe are being studied currently. Reviews of our relations with other areas will be undertaken later and, as conclusions are reached, Parliament will be invited to consider them.

The events in other lands to which I have referred are a vivid reminder that our good fortune as Canadians includes rights and freedoms as well as material advantages. They alert us to the need, not only for vigilance in the conservation of our democratic institutions, but also to the importance of constant concern for their improvement. Efficient government, responsive to public requirements and open to public participation, is essential to the meaningful operation of the democratic process. It will be the more vital in the future as technology and science provide new and more immediate means for the dissemination of information and for the involvement, as individuals, of all our people. The Government has already taken steps to review its information services in order to introduce, as soon as possible, improvements by which the flow of information into and out of the government will be more efficient and effective, permitting the people of Canada a continuing, informed, and more active participation in the activities of their government. In addition, as part of the continuing process of modernization and development of governmental machinery, you will be asked during the current session to enact a Government Organization Act. This measure will complete a number of changes in organization and structure announced by the Prime Minister some weeks ago and will complement the Parliamentary reforms so fundamental to the successful operation of our democratic institutions.

The reinforcement and renovation of Parliamentary and administrative machinery and the clearing away of the substantial backlog now outstanding in the legislative program, will free Parliament so that it can come to grips with difficult and pressing problems relating to youth, poverty, regional disparities, urban growth, individual welfare and the application and encouragement of scientific technology. These subjects are of concern to all governments in Canada and it is clear that a great deal more has to be done than has so far been contemplated. It would be wrong, however, to expect solutions to be found easily or indeed to be found at all except on the basis of close cooperation in good faith between federal, provincial and municipal governments not only in planning but in implementation as well.

To assist in this process it would be useful to have available to all governments an institute where long-term research and thinking can be carried out into governmental matters of all kinds. At the present time there is no such facility available in this country and it is the intention of my Ministers to bring before you in the near future legislation that will fill this most important gap in our governmental apparatus.

Members of the House of Commons:

During the current session you will be asked to appropriate the funds required for the services and payments authorized by Parliament. In addition to this business, the legislative program that the Government proposes is very extensive but many of the items have been seen before or are of an uncontroversial nature. A list of the Bills relating to the matters to which I have referred will be tabled by the Prime Minister later this day and other portions of the program will be brought forward as the session proceeds. It is very important to the proper government of the country in the years ahead that the proposals for the current session be dealt with. In Canada as in other countries of the world democracy today faces a decisive challenge. It must adapt to new circumstances and new demands or fail in its purpose. This challenge is not abstract but a confrontation which you will have to face by virtue of your election to this Parliament.

Honourable Members of the Senate,

Members of the House of Commons,

May Divine Providence guide you in your deliberations.

On motion of Mr. Trudeau seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), it was ordered,—That the Speech of His Excellency the Governor General, delivered this day from the Throne to the two Houses of Parliament, be taken into consideration at the next sitting of the House.

Mr. Trudeau, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—List of Measures referred to by His Excellency the Governor General in the Speech from the Throne.

Agreed—That the said list be printed in this day's Hansard.

Mr. Trudeau a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, delivered a Message from His Excellency the Governor General, which was read by Mr. Speaker, as follows:

ROLAND MICHENER:

The Governor General transmits to the House of Commons a certified copy of an Order in Council appointing the Honourable George James McIlraith, Solicitor General of Canada, the Honourable Charles Mills Drury, President of the Treasury Board, the Honourable Jean Chrétien, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development and the Honourable Donald Stovel Macdonald, President of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada to act with the Speaker of the House of Commons as commissioners for the purposes and under the provisions of the one hundred and forty-third chapter of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, entitled: An Act respecting the House of Commons.

On motion of Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), it was resolved,—That a Special Committee be appointed to prepare and report, with all convenient speed, list of Members to compose the Standing Committees of this House; the said Committee to be composed of Messrs. Baldwin, Bell, Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), Macdonald (Rosedale), Pilon and Rondeau and that the provisions of Standing Order 65(1) be suspended in relation to the number of Members of this Committee.

On motion of Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), Hugh Faulkner, Esquire, Member for the Electoral District of Peterborough, was appointed Chairman of Committees of the Whole House.

On motion of Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), Albert Béchard, Esquire, Member for the Electoral District of Bonaventure, was appointed Deputy Chairman of Committees of the Whole House.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The following papers having been deposited with the Clerk of the House were laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely:

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Parliamentary Librarian, pursuant to section 2 of the Regulations respecting the Library of Parliament, (English and French) which is as follows:

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons:

The Parliamentary Librarian has the honour to submit his report for the Calendar year 1967. His last report was presented to both Houses on May 8, 1967, and covered the Calendar year 1966.

The Joint Committee on the Library of Parliament met once last year on December 21st, to review Library matters, chiefly salary revisions.

The slow progress of Parliament's Centennial Project, publication of the House of Commons and Senate Debates for 1867-1874, was also considered, and the publication of volume I only, containing the debates of the 1st session of the 1st Parliament, November 6, 1867-May 22, 1868, was authorized.

It was also decided to close the Library on Sundays, though the House of Commons Reading Room would remain open, during the Session, from 12.00-4.00 p.m.

Previously, on February 9, 1967, our Sub-Committee to Examine the Research Branch, Automation, and Related Matters, met and considered the informative report of Mr. Philip Laundry, Chief of the Research Branch, on his operations. Members attending, in addition to the Joint Chairmen, the Hon. Sydney J. Smith, Speaker of the Senate, and the Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Q.C., M.P., Speaker of the House of Commons, were Senator Muriel McQueen Fergusson, Mr. R. Gordon Fairweather, M.P., and M. Gérard Pelletier, M.P. In addition to the Parliamentary Librarian and Mr. Laundry, the Associate Parliamentary Librarian and the Assistant Librarian were present.

REFERENCE AND CIRCULATION BRANCH: Miss Simonne Chiasson, Chief.

Overall inquiries totalled 4,274, an increase of 603 over 1966, 1,931 more than in 1965. Inquiries handled by the Clipping Service increased by 291 to 1,029, and 5,892 copies were made, an increase of 1,101.

For example, in January, 1967, alone, 382 answers were provided, 176 to 68 Liberal Members or Liberal appointed Senators, and 206 to 74 opposition Members or Conservative appointed Senators. In addition, 53 answers were given to government departments, 11 to Embassies, 55 to letters, 38 to Senate and House of Commons staff, 7 to Royal Commissions, and 23 to members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Circulation totalled 17,654, down 833 from 1966, but up 2,080 over 1965. Other libraries borrowed 346 items, we borrowed 199. Our notable collection of newspapers was used by 197 non-parliamentary persons, only 61 fewer than in 1966, although we turned our 7200 volumes of bound newspapers over to the National Library.

Mr. Thomas E. (Tom) Monette, certainly one of the best liked, and most courteously efficient staff members ever to serve in this Library, retired as Senior Library Consultant this year, and all who knew him still regret his going. He was a truly outstanding staff member, and the attendance of both the Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Commons at his retirement party in October testifies to the regard in which he was held by those he served.

RESEARCH BRANCH: Mr. Philip Laundry, Chief.

Office space, the most pressing problem for this branch, was finally provided by the Department of Public Works in the Rideau Club Annex in September, 1967, but is temporary only, allows inadequate room for expansion, and is by no means first rate in either location or facilities. Nevertheless, it is an immense and much appreciated improvement over the cramped quarters previously occupied within the Library itself.

As the director's office remains in the Library, and is always occupied by one of his staff when he is absent, close touch is retained between the branch and the "consumer", but ideally, all Research Officers should be on Parliament Hill.

One Research Officer left, but two experienced new Officers, Mr. Anthony J. Wright, from the Parliamentary Press Gallery, and Miss Margaret A. Carroll, from the Department of National Defence, were added.

200 papers were completed in 1967, 133 for government Members or Liberal appointed Senators, 42 for opposition Members or Conservative appointed Senators, and the remaining 25 for parliamentary committees, delegations, and associations. Contrary to general expectation, opposition use of this service declined last year and remains a matter of some concern.

It is interesting to note, however, that "inquiries have become more sophisticated", and "studies in relative depth" are replacing "the superficial". If more staff were available, we could do more to encourage use.

In addition to his regular duties, Mr. Laundry served as Secretary to the House of Commons Special Committee on Procedure, and from March 27 to April 9, 1967, served as Secretary to the Canadian Delegation at the Spring Conference of the Inter-Parliamentary Union in Majorca.

CATALOGUING AND ORDER BRANCH: Miss Florence Moore, Chief.

The 18,377 volumes catalogued and classified in 1967 represents an increase of 3,750 over 1966, 6,534 more than in 1965. Variations like this are usually explained by shorter periods of recess, though staff changes and new methods frequently lead to improvement.

HOUSE OF COMMONS READING ROOM: M. Jean Houle, Chief.

The three bilingual staff members here maintain 829 newspapers (160 daily, 669 weekly), 235 periodicals, and 4,000 novels. As this Reading Room is freely open to Senators, it is perhaps time that the role of the Senate Reading Room be again re-examined by the proper authorities.

BINDERY: Mr. Robert L. Brydon, Chief.

The loss of our Chief Binder, Mr. Conrad Sabourin, to the C.B.C. where he is now Record Library Supervisor of the music record collection of CBO, CBOFM, and CBOF, was an unexpected blow, and we all regretted his departure though wishing him every success. Fortunately, we were able to attract a first-rate Scottish craftsman, Mr. Robert L. Brydon, from the Public Archives, and he arrived early in February. Unfortunately, after a lengthy illness, the indefatigable Madame Marie S. Gagné retired later in the year, and was not replaced until October. Despite these difficulties, however, 11,236 jobs were undertaken, including 2,081 bindings, and 433 repairs.

MISCELLANEOUS

Gifts

During 1967, over 400 volumes of surplus parliamentary documents were provided to the university libraries of Alberta, Brock, McGill, Montréal, Mount St. Bernard, Saskatchewan, Simon Fraser, Southampton (England), Trent, and Victoria, and to the library of the Supreme Court of Canada, the Polish National Library, and the Library of the Bundestag in Bonn, West Germany. The usual exchanges were also maintained.

Of course, the largest transfer of material was, as usual, to the National Library of Canada. Approximately 7200 bound volumes of newspapers (largely Canadian), and lengthy files of documents, including those received on exchange from the Australian States, the States of the Union of South Africa, and from India, Pakistan, Eire, Northern Ireland, Nigeria, Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Belgium, Switzerland, individual West Indian nations, and France (prior to 1945) were transferred.

We were especially glad to add to our collection copies in both English and French of Senator Paul Yuzyk's informative new book Ukrainian Canadians: Their Place and Role in Canadian Life, and Senator F. A. McGrand's fascinating political history Backward Glances at Sunbury and Queens. As usual we are also indebted to a number of Embassies for gifts, and should like to repeat our thanks to them, and to all others who kindly enriched our collection. Special thanks go to Mr. & Mrs. Hugh MacMillan of Ottawa whose donations improved the National Library and the Ottawa Public Library as well. We are also happy to record our appreciation to the Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, P.C., Q.C., M.P., who sent us several cartons of interesting material.

We are also happy to acknowledge the prompt and generous response of many Canadian publishers, both French and English, to a request for books to fill the bookshelves of the new Government guest house at 7 Rideau Gate during Centennial Year. Provision of these books increased the enjoyment of its guests, and improved the appearance of their surroundings.

Visitors

In addition to the over one million tourists brought in by the House of Commons Protective staff, and amongst many other visitors, the following may be of special interest: Mr. T. V. Goonetilleke, Ceylon's Parliamentary Librarian, worked with us for the first six months of 1967, thereby completing nearly a year's tour of duty under the Colombo Plan; Mr. D. J. T. Englefield, Deputy Assistant Librarian of the British House of Commons Library, visited August 8-11 to study our operations and methods; and Miss Jean Kerfoot, Ontario Legislative Librarian, also visited with one of her staff.

Two groups of foreign librarians visited in 1967. Over 150 came on August 21st from the International Federation of Library Associations' Conference in Toronto, and, after a special tour, enjoyed a lunch in the West Block at which they were greeted by the Hon. Sydney J. Smith, Speaker of the Senate. The next month, fifteen Swedish librarians lunched in the New Zealand Room.

We were honoured by a visit from the Rt. Hon. Horace King, P.C., Ph.D., M.P., Speaker of the British House of Commons, in October. We also had visits from the Secretary to the Malaysian Senate, a member of the British Parliament, and a member of Parliament for Kenya.

We enjoyed a lengthy visit from Mr. H. L. White, C.B.E., M.A., then Parliamentary and National Librarian for Australia, who asked for an interview with our critics. An informative discussion-luncheon was promptly arranged and attended by Mr. A. Hales, M.P., Mr. H. Gray, M.P., Mr. G. Baldwin, M.P., and the Parliamentary Librarian, the Associate Parliamentary Librarian, and the Chief of the Research Branch of the Library. Unfortunately, others asked were unable to attend on short notice.

And finally, I think we should note the visit of Mr. John H. Hansard, a direct descendant of Luke Hansard, the famous printer to the British House of Commons. He was referred to us by Mr. Speaker Lamoureux, and we were able to substantially fill his request on behalf of the University of Southampton for Canadian Parliamentary Papers.

PARLIAMENTARY LIBRARIANS

The Assistant Librarian, Miss A. Pamela Hardisty, in addition to her varied regular duties, remained on the Board of the Institute of Professional Librarians of Ontario until July, continued as Chairman of the Government Reference Libraries Committee of the Canadian Library Association, and attended the Canadian Library Association Conference held in Ottawa in June, as well as a Special Libraries Association Seminar on Administration, Finance, and Personnel also held in Ottawa.

The Associate Parliamentary Librarian, M. Guy Sylvestre, in addition to his important routine library duties, was appointed Secretary of the Canadian Section of the "Association interparlementaire Canada-France", and a member of two Privy Council Office Committees, one on Bilingualism, and one on the French Language.

M. Sylvestre, as Secretary to the Canadian Delegation, attended the founding meeting of the "Association internationale des Parlementaires de langue française" in Luxemburg, May 17-18, 1967. He represented the Library at the annual Conference of the "Association canadienne des Bibliothécaires de langue française" in Montreal August 24-27.

In addition, M. Sylvestre conceived and organized the World Poetry Conference as a special event of Expo '67, and attended the meetings in Montreal September 6-10, 1967.

Finally, M. Sylvestre was the compiler and editor of the French section of the centennial volume "A Century of Canadian Literature/Un siècle de Littérature canadienne".

In view of these, and his past achievements, it will be understandable that I was pleased to recommend M. Sylvestre for a Centennial Medal which was duly awarded. That M. Sylvestre was also awarded a pin for twenty-five years service is almost an anticlimax.

And though it is not technically a happening in 1967, I should be remiss if I neglected to inform all Parliamentarians that on June 1, 1968, M. Sylvestre was appointed National Librarian of Canada. We all wish him every success in his new position, but regret very much his loss to Parliament.

On March 2nd both the Associate Parliamentary Librarian and the Parliamentary Librarian appeared before the Special Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Commons on The National and Royal Anthems, presented papers, and answered questions. M. Sylvestre's paper dealt with the National Anthem, and mine, prepared by our Research Branch, with the Royal Anthem. We enjoyed appearing before this Committee and should like to express our thanks to the Joint Chairmen, the Honourable Maurice Bourget and Mr. S. Perry Ryan, M.P., and all members, for their courteous and interested reception.

The Parliamentary Librarian, as a member ex-officio, and the Associate Parliamentary Librarian, as an invited guest, also attended meetings of the National Library Advisory Council on February 24th, June 21st, and December 5th.

The Parliamentary Librarian submitted a brief to the Royal Commission on Security in defence of the "right to know" on March 22nd, after prior discussion with Mr. Speaker Smith, Mr. Speaker Lamoureux, and the Honourable L. T. Pennell, P.C., M.P., then Solicitor General.

The Parliamentary Librarian participated in the Ontario Library Association Conference in Fort William May 14-18, and the Conference of the Canadian Library Association in Ottawa in June. More important, he attended the International Federation of Library Associations' Conference in Toronto August 15-19 as the voting delegate of the Canadian Library Association, and spoke to the Special Libraries Section on Special Libraries in Canada.

The Parliamentary Librarian also participated in the meetings arranged by the Ontario government at Lake Opinicon in September to discuss "Swedish-Canadian Problems of Mutual Interest", and spoke on administration to the Montreal Chapter of the Special Libraries Association meeting in Ottawa in April.

In November, when in New York on private matters, he visited the United Nations Library. As we are a UN depository library, and frequently assist them in obtaining official Canadian publications, this was a mutually useful visit. On the same trip the Parliamentary Librarian visited the Library of the Council On Foreign Relations, and as a result our Library now has improved coverage of events in Russia.

Almost without exception our staff is hard-working, well-qualified, and sincerely anxious to serve. We all hope we shall have the opportunity, but it is a choice each one must make. Our services cannot be forced on anyone. To those who have given us the opportunity to serve, we say thanks; to those yet to do so, we say, please come, or write, or telephone. We exist only to serve you.

Finally, thanks are sincerely expressed to our friends on the staff of the Senate, the House of Commons, the Department of Public Works, and all others who have helped us in helping keep Senators and Members of Parliament well-informed.

Respectfully submitted,

Erik J. Spicer
Parliamentary Librarian

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

Mr. SPEAKER: The House will note that on today's Order Paper there are some 100 Public Bills listed for introduction by Private Members.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, for the Chair to review the provisions of each of these bills at this time. May I therefore suggest to the House that we adopt the procedure which was agreed upon by the House in several recent sessions; namely, that we proceed to the introduction and first reading of these bills, so that each may be scrutinized between now and the time appointed for its second reading, in order to determine whether there be any defect therein with respect to the practices and usages of the House.

Therefore, in order to save the time of the House, taking into consideration that perhaps more than two hours would be required to introduce each of these measures separately, it is suggested that, by unanimous consent, all the bills listed for introduction on today's Order Paper be deemed to have been introduced, given first reading and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House, subject of course to a subsequent examination as to the regularity of each bill.

Bill C-111, An Act to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act, was again considered in Committee of the Whole;

And the House continuing in Committee;

Objection being taken in Committee to a decision of the Deputy Chairman (Mr. Béchar), and an appeal being made to Mr. Speaker;

Pursuant to Standing Order 59(4), Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

Whereupon the Deputy Chairman reported as follows:

"In Committee of the Whole, when clause 1 of Bill C-111, An Act to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act was being considered, the honourable Member for Crowfoot (Mr. Horner) proposed to move an amendment, as follows:

That the words 'and other financial institutions' be inserted immediately after the word "Society," appearing in line 12 and preceding the word 'that' in line 13 of clause 1.

The Chairman ruled the proposed amendment out of order on the grounds that it went beyond the provisions of the resolution preceding the bill in that the resolution listed specific institutions whereas the proposed amendment would include many institutions not covered by the resolution.

The honourable Member for Crowfoot appealed this decision."

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER.

MR. SPEAKER: The question before the House is an appeal to Mr. Speaker from a decision given by the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole pursuant to section 4 of Standing Order 59.

In the Committee of the Whole on Bill No. C-111 the honourable Member for Crowfoot (Mr. Horner) proposed an amendment to Clause 1 of the Bill as follows: "To add after the word 'society', line 12, and before the word 'that' in line 13 the words 'and other financial institutions' "

The question is to determine whether the proposed words of the amendment go beyond the terms of the resolution. My view is that if the words proposed by the honourable Member for Crowfoot by way of amendment do not enlarge the words "financial institutions" used in Clause 1 of this Bill, then the amendment is redundant and superfluous. If they seek to enlarge the terms of these words, then we have to determine whether the amendment is consistent with the detailed provisions of the resolution preceding the bill. In my view, when a resolution preceding a money bill sets out in detail the terms of the bill, as this one does, we have to be very cautious about amendments which might enlarge upon these terms.

I have to refer honourable Members to citation 246 in the fourth edition of Beauchesne at page 207, subparagraph (3) which reads as follows in part: "The guiding principle in determining the effect of an amendment upon the financial initiative of the Crown is that the communication, to which the Royal demand of recommendation is attached, must be treated as laying down once for all (unless withdrawn and replaced) not only the amount of the charge, but also its objects, purposes, conditions and qualifications."

I suggest to honourable Members with respect that the amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Crowfoot does affect the conditions and qualifications set out in detail in the resolution approved by the House and preceding the bill.

For this reason I feel I have to sustain the decision of the learned and wise Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-111, An Act to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act,

And the House continuing in Committee;

At 6.00 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

*[Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-111, An Act to amend the Farm Improvement Loans Act, and progress having been made and reported the Committee obtained leave to consider it again at the next sitting of the House.

The House resumed consideration of the question raised by the honourable Member for Cape Breton-East Richmond (Mr. MacInnis) concerning the attendance in the House of Ministers of the Crown during the Question Period.

DECISION BY MR. SPEAKER.

Mr. SPEAKER: At the opening of the sitting yesterday the honourable member for Cape Breton-East Richmond (Mr. MacInnis), rising on a question of privilege concerning the attendance in the House of Ministers during the Question Period, proposed to move: "That the matter of scheduling of Ministers in the House and the general conditions affecting the daily Question Period be referred to the Special Committee on Procedure."

In the course of his argument the honourable member raised two distinct questions. On the one hand the honourable Member referred to rulings of the Chair dealing with questions directed to Ministers "in capacities other than of departments they represent". He has raised as a second point the question of the scheduling of attendance of Ministers in the House.

In considering the first point I have read carefully the reference at page 3756 of Hansard for June 1, 1966, the page to which the honourable Member has alluded. On that occasion a notice of question had been filed seeking information from the Minister of National Health and Welfare, presumably in his capacity as Minister for Nova Scotia. A ruling was then made to the effect that a question must be addressed to a Minister in relation to his administrative responsibilities.

It seems to the Chair that there is nothing inconsistent between the ruling made on that occasion and any decision or ruling of the Chair in relation to the recent procedure in asking questions of Acting Ministers.

The very limited ambit of the previous ruling was to the effect that a Minister may be asked questions relating to a department for which he has ministerial responsibility or acting ministerial responsibility, but a Minister cannot be asked, nor can he answer questions in another capacity, such as being responsible for a province, or part of a province or, again, as spokesman for a racial or religious group.

As I stated when this very point was raised by the honourable Member on Friday last as a Point of Order, it has been a common occurrence for many years to have Ministers reply to questions dealing with departments for which they have an acting responsibility.

With reference to the second argument advanced by the honourable Member, I expressed my concern yesterday about two aspects of the proposed Question of Privilege and the motion based thereon. In the first instance I referred to citation 104(3) of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition wherein it is stated in part: "A matter of privilege which claims precedence over other public business should be a subject which has recently arisen and which calls for the immediate interposition of the House."

The Chair might again refer to and read part of citation 104(5) of the same authority, as follows: "As a motion taken at the time for matters of privilege is thereby given precedence over the pre-arranged program of public business, the Speaker requires to be satisfied, both that there is a prima facie case that a breach of privilege has been committed, and also that the matter is being raised at the earliest opportunity."

The attendance system to which objection is taken was proposed to the House approximately two weeks ago. Since then the proposal has been referred to daily by a number of honourable Members. Questions have been asked about it, and it has been the subject of a number of Points of Order. It was also considered at length in connection with the President of the Privy Council's estimates. However it has not been advanced until now as a question of privilege. I find it rather difficult to disregard the many precedents to the effect that a question of privilege must be raised at the first opportunity.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles), in the course of his argument, has reminded the Chair that there is no specific provision in the rules for the attendance of Ministers on specific days. Provisional Standing Order 39(5), as well as long-established practice, provide for the right of honourable Members to ask oral questions, over and above written questions consigned to the Order Paper, in urgent circumstances. At the same time, the citations and precedents are clear on the point that while a member has a right to ask a question he cannot insist on an answer. On this point I refer honourable Members to Beauchesne's fourth edition, citation 181(3), which states, "A refusal to answer cannot be raised as a question of privilege nor is it regular to comment on such refusal."

The third point I would like to make has reference to the motion itself which would be put to the House for debate and determination if the procedural requirements were satisfied. As honourable Members know, a motion of this nature forms part and parcel of the suggested question of privilege. The redress sought by the motion has to be considered in determining whether the question can be accepted as a valid prima facie question of privilege and if the motion is to be put to the House for debate. The specific motion proposed by the honourable Member for Cape Breton-East Richmond (Mr. MacInnis) is, in my view, more in the nature of a substantive motion.

What is being proposed is not so much that an alleged breach of honourable Members' privileges be considered, possibly by the committee on Privileges and Elections, but that the proposed system of ministerial attendance during the question period be considered, along with other procedural changes, by the Special Committee on Procedure.

With respect, I submit that this type of motion is essentially a substantive motion and one which therefore cannot be moved without notice as provided by Standing Order 41.

For these reasons, and I can assure honourable Members after giving the matter much serious thought, I do not find it possible to put the honourable Member's motion to the House.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-114, An Act to amend the Judges Act;

Mr. Turner (Ottawa Carleton), seconded by Mr. McIlraith, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole and reported without amendment.

By unanimous consent, the said bill was read the third time and passed.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Forest, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Laflamme be substituted for that of Mr. Kaplan on the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

On motion of Mr. Forest, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Breau be substituted for that of Mr. Prud'homme on the Standing Committee on Labour, Manpower and Immigration.

[At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional Standing Order 15(3)]

(Notices of Motions)

Mr. Chappell, seconded by Mr. Cobbe, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, the government should consider the advisability of giving immediate consideration to amending the Expropriation Act so that an owner whose property is expropriated will be dealt with in a more business-like and just manner, and more particularly so as to provide for a notice before the expropriation takes place, for a substantial advance of money at the time of taking property, for the spelling out of measures of compensation, for the change of interest rate to the bank rate of interest, and finally, to provide that if property is affected or invaded in part by an act on the part of expropriating authorities, the owner may call upon authorities to take all his land or property—(Notice of Motion No. 5).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), seconded by Mr. Davis, it was ordered,—That, saving always the powers of the Committee of Supply in relation to the voting of public moneys, the items listed in the Revised Main Estimates for 1968-69, relating to Agriculture, Atomic Energy Control Board, Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Canada Council, Canadian Arsenals Limited, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Canadian Commercial Corporation, Canadian Dairy Commission, Canadian Film Development Corporation, Canadian Livestock Feed Board, Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation, Canadian Radio-Television Commission, Canadian Transport Commission, Cape Breton Development Corporation, Centennial Commission, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Chief Electoral Officer, Communications, Company of Young Canadians, Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Correctional Services, Customs and Excise, Defence Construction (1951) Limited, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Dominion Coal Board, Economic Council of Canada, Energy, Mines and Resources, External Affairs, External Aid Office, Farm Credit Corporation, Fisheries and Forestry, Immigration Appeal Board, Indian Affairs and Northern Development, Insurance, International Joint Commission, Manpower and Immigration, Medical Research Council, National Arts Centre Corporation, National Defence, National Energy Board, National Film Board, National Harbours Board, National Library, National Museums of Canada, National Research Council, Northern Canada Power Commission, Northern Transportation Company Limited, Post Office, Public Archives, Public Service Commission, Public Service Staff Relations Board, Regional Development, Representation Commissioner, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, Secretary of State, Solicitor General, Tax Appeal Board, Taxation, Trade and Commerce, Unemployment

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1968.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

One petition for a Private Bill was presented in accordance with Standing Order 70(1).

The following bills from the Senate were read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House:

Bill S-10, An Act to amend the Customs Act.—Mr. Côté (Longueuil).

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-116, An Act to amend the Post Office Act;

Mr. Kierans, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Macquarrie, seconded by Mr. McCutcheon, proposed to move in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" in the said motion be struck out and the following substituted therefor: "the further consideration of this bill be deferred until the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications has considered the subject-matter thereof".

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: The proposed amendment of the honourable Member for Hillsborough (Mr. Macquarrie), reads as follows: "That all the words after "That" in the said motion be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

The further consideration of this bill be deferred until the Standing Committee on Transportation and Communications has considered the subject-matter thereof."

The question before the House on second reading is the principle of the bill. This, of course, is well known and recognized by all Members. An amendment at this point must oppose the principle by way of a reasoned amendment or otherwise. It seems to me that the honourable Member for Hillsborough is proposing an amendment which does not oppose the principle of the bill nor does it support it. It merely asks to set the bill aside while the subject-matter is considered in Committee.

I am in full agreement with the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) that effectively the amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Hillsborough would produce the same result as an amendment in the usual form; on the other hand the Chair must give a decision on the basis of the amendment as proposed for the consideration of the Chair. The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre, along with the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin), claims that this is a reasoned amendment which effectively opposes the principle of the bill. I suggest to honourable Members that this is not the effect of the proposed amendment. It merely seeks to postpone a decision until such time as certain conditions have been fulfilled.

I am also appreciative of the difficulty arising out of the fact that there is a form, No. 93, which is quoted at page 396 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition. I have studied this form and it has caused me some concern. Honourable Members will realize however that it is not exactly in the same terms as the amendment now before us. For one thing it does not propose the same type of remedy. I suggest there is, on this basis, a substantial difference between the form set out by Beauchesne's at page 396 and the form of the amendment advanced by the honourable Member for Hillsborough.

The form of amendment No. 93 actually opposes the principle of the bill. If honourable Members will study this paragraph closely they will see that if this amendment as proposed in form No. 93 were carried the bill would effectively be taken out of the consideration of the House and to all intents and purposes it would be in my view in opposition to the principle of the bill. On the contrary, the amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Hillsborough merely attaches a condition that is not an amendment in opposition to the principle of the bill and is not a reasoned amendment.

Again I realize we are cutting things a bit fine, if I may use this expression, because in practice the result of the amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Hillsborough would be exactly the same as if this amendment were proposed in the usual words which are contained in the stereotyped form of amendment on second reading to the effect that the subject-matter of a bill be referred to a committee. I am just wondering whether in the circumstances honourable Members would allow the honourable Member for Hillsborough to change his amendment to read according to the usual form. If he does not wish to do this I would be rather suspicious that there is a substantial difference between the amendment he proposed and the one that honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre wants to advance.

In the circumstances, with much regret, I do not think it possible to accept the honourable Member's amendment.

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That the hour for Private Members' Business be deferred.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Kierans, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale),—That Bill C-116, An Act to amend the Post Office Act, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Macquarrie, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), moved in amendment thereto,—That Bill C-116, An Act to amend the Post Office Act, be not now read a second time, but that the subject-matter thereof be referred to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

And debate arising thereon;

And debate continuing;

Mr. Skoberg, seconded by Mr. Benjamin, proposed to move pursuant to Standing Order 44,—That this House now proceed to Order No. 8 second reading of Bill C-113, An Act to amend the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for the expression of their views. Unfortunately, I do not think it is possible for the Chair to accept the motion proposed by the honourable Member (Mr. Skoberg). It is true that the Standing Order referred to by the honourable Member must be taken into account, but we must also take into account other Standing Orders, and particularly Standing Order 18(2) which reads: "Except as provided in Standing Orders 43 and 56, Government Orders may be called in such sequence as the Government may think fit."

There are a number of other precedents that I might bring to the attention of honourable Members. This is one precedent that is entirely on point. On that occasion a motion was brought under the Standing Order to move from one Government Order to another Government Order. The matter was not, as the honourable Member for Parry Sound-Muskoka (Mr. Aiken) said, a proposal to move from a Government Order to a Private Member's Order.

I refer honourable Members to the Journals of the House of Commons, 1956, page 543, where the following is to be found: "Act the question being again proposed,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to consider a certain proposed Resolution ...

Mr. Fulton, seconded by Mr. Blair, moved,—That the House do proceed to another Order, namely No. 12."

Mr. Speaker ruled as follows: "May I point out to the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton), that I cannot accept his motion because the Order that is now before the House is a Government Order, and the other Order that the honourable Member now considers we should proceed with is Order No. 12, which is another Government Order, and Government Orders may be moved only by the Leader of the House. I would refer honourable Members to Standing Order 18(2)."

There is also citation 136, which reads: "All motions referring to the business of the House should be introduced by the Leader of the House."

By virtue of Standing Order 18(2) the government has full jurisdiction over its own Orders. Standing Order 18(2) reads: "Except as provided in Standing Order 56, Government Orders may be called in such sequence as the government may think fit."

Therefore, I cannot accept the honourable Member's motion.

In view of this precedent—and in the circumstances this is the only one which I thought was necessary to bring to the attention of honourable Members—I regret I cannot put to the House the motion proposed by the honourable Member.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Kierans, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale),—That Bill C-116, An Act to amend the Post Office Act, be now read a second time.

And on the motion of Mr. Macquarrie, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), in amendment thereto,—That Bill C-116, An Act to amend the Post Office Act, be not now read a second time, but that the subject-matter thereof be referred to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

And debate continuing;

[At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional Standing Order 15(3)]

(Notices of Motions)

Mr. Knowles (Norfolk-Haldimand), seconded by Mr. Nesbitt, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, the government should consider the advisability of extending from twenty-five to forty days the exemption period for social security, unemployment insurance deductions and taxation deductions presently allowed in the case of migrant agricultural workers.—(Notice of Motion No. 7).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Weatherhead be substituted for that of Mr. Reid on the Standing Committee on Labour, Manpower and Immigration.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Breau be substituted for that of Mr. Corbin on the Standing Committee on Regional Development.

Standing Committee on Agriculture.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—
That the name of Mr. Major be substituted for that of Mr. Leblanc (Laurier) on the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—
That the name of Mr. Gillespie be substituted for that of Mr. Weatherhead on the Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Estimates.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1968.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Last Thursday, the honourable Member for Abitibi (Mr. Laprise) on a question of privilege protested against the lack of personnel and facilities in committees of the House. The honourable Member complained more particularly about the lack of interpreters available to those committees. Since then, in co-operation with the officials of the House, I have studied seriously the problem mentioned by the honourable Member.

I wish to say that, in general, the honourable Member is fully justified. All honourable Members will recognize, I am sure, that the committees should sit only when the interpretation services requested by honourable Members, whether they are French or English-speaking, are available for the proceedings of the committees.

During the last few days, several committees have been sitting at the same time, thus putting to a hard test the services that the House can provide. Special arrangements will have to be made to prevent a recurrence of the situation about which the honourable Member complained. Steps will soon be taken with a view to improving both the interpretation and the translation of the proceedings of the committees of the House. Still, I doubt that we would contribute to solving the problem by suspending the work of all the committees as was suggested rather radically by the honourable Member for Abitibi in this motion.

The fact remains that the Member did his colleagues a good turn by calling the attention of the House to this problem.

Mr. Hopkins, from the Standing Committee on National Resources and Public Works, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting.

Mr. Reid, from the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Lessard (Lac-Saint-Jean), it was ordered,—That the names of Messrs. Fairweather and Baldwin be substituted for those of Messrs. Aiken and Horner on the Special Committee on Procedure of the House.

On motion of Mr. Laflamme, seconded by Mr. Leblanc (Laurier), the First Report of the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections, presented to the House on Thursday, October 31, 1968, was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. Isabelle, seconded by Mr. Legault, the First Report of the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs, presented to the House on Thursday, October 31, 1968, was concurred in.

Mr. Marshall, seconded by Mr. Lundrigan, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-125, An Act to establish a Newfoundland Tunnel Authority, which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Benson, seconded by Mr. Drury,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Ways and Means (Budget);

And on the motion of Mr. Lambert (Edmonton West), seconded by Mr. Asselin, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"this House regrets that the government has repeatedly deceived this House and the Canadian Public as to the extent and gravity of the 1968-69 budgetary deficit and has destroyed its own credibility and that of the 1969-70 budgetary forecasts notwithstanding the heaviest peace time tax increases and consequently rejects the government's statement of the country's financial position".

And on the motion of Mr. Saltsman, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre) in amendment to the said proposed amendment,—That the amendment be amended by changing the period at the end thereof to a comma and by adding immediately thereafter the following words:

"and rejects in particular the 2% income tax increase, with its $120. a year cut-off, which is an outrageous burden on those in the lower and middle income brackets and adds to the inequity of our tax system."

And debate continuing;

At 9.45 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker interrupted the proceedings pursuant to Standing Order 58(4);

And the question being put on the said proposed amendment to the amendment, it was negatived on the following division:

Your Committee considered the matters referred to it by the said Order of Reference dated Monday, October 7, 1968 relating to Nigeria, and reports as follows:

REPORT ON THE EVIDENCE

The Observer Team

1. The evidence presented to the Committee indicates that the Observer Team to Nigeria has been performing a very useful function.

The Observer Team was established on the invitation of the Government of Nigeria and represents a desirable precedent and a sound initiative by that Government.

The Observer Team operates under terms of reference which read as follows: "To visit all war affected areas and newly liberated areas, on the Federal-controlled side, to witness the conduct of Federal troops—re charges of genocide, etc. Such visits may be undertaken at their own instance or at the instance of the Federal Military Government on receipt of any international allegations about the conduct of Federal troops in any particular area".

The Observer Team has not investigated incidents which may have happened before its appointment and it has not visited the secessionist area. The Committee's recommendations include suggestions for an extension of the work of the Observers, an increase in their number, and a broadening of their terms of reference.

The Committee believes that the five reports published to date by the Observer Team have been honest, factual and responsible, and that the procedures adopted by the Observer Team have been reasonable in the light of their terms of reference and the circumstances in the field.

2. The evidence presented to us does not indicate that the Government of Nigeria has adopted a policy of genocide. On the contrary the evidence indicates it is doing its best to assist and to preserve the lives and property of the people, including the Ibo people, in the area now under its control.

The evidence indicates that many of the Ibo people now living in the secessionist area fear genocide, and that this fear is based upon a large number of factors. These include (without attempting to be exhaustive or to assess the relative strength of these factors) religious, tribal and economic rivalries, jealousies and hatreds, the bitterness of a civil war, and the past history of atrocities and improper treatment of minorities.

While there have been atrocities and extreme bitterness in this civil war, there is no evidence that troop formations are engaged in genocide.

3. The evidence indicates that the Government of Nigeria is attempting to impose and maintain proper standards of conduct and discipline among its troops. A code of proper conduct has been issued by the Government to the Nigerian troops. In general, the attempt to enforce proper discipline and conduct seems to be as successful as could be expected in the difficult circumstances which exist.

Conditions in Nigeria

4. The evidence presented to the Committee indicates that the civil war has been the cause of very great hardship, destruction of property and loss of life among the civilian population both in the area now controlled by the Nigerian Government and in the secessionist area. In these areas a very large number of people are dying each day of malnutrition or starvation. While need exists for food and medical supplies in both areas, it is the opinion of the Committee that a much greater need exists in the secessionist area which is surrounded by Federal troops and which is cut off from normal sources of supply.

5. It appears that one of the greatest immediate needs in all parts of Nigeria is for effective means of transportation to get available supplies quickly to people in need. The Committee was pleased to note the action of the Nigerian Government in permitting the International Red Cross to fly mercy relief flights over Nigerian territory to the secessionist held area, and hopes that this action will serve as a useful precedent.

6. If the war in Nigeria continues, civilian suffering and death will be multiplied many times unless the effective supply of food and medical supplies can be increased very substantially. Evidence presented to the Committee indicates that if the war continues 3,000 tons per day of relief supplies will be required by the end of this year. The Committee cannot tell whether or not this estimate is accurate. Clearly however, the aid required will be very large—so large as to raise serious doubts as to whether the problem can be handled adequately by the voluntary church and Red Cross organizations now engaged in the task unless aided and supplemented by governments or regional or international agencies.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Since the work of the Observer Team has been beneficial and has helped to alleviate fears and provide incentives for proper conduct, it would be desirable if such work could be carried out in all parts of Nigeria including the secessionist area, and if this work could be extended to include the investigation in all parts of Nigeria, including the secessionist area, of the conduct of troops on both sides, allegations of bombing of civilians and any other acts contrary to the Code of Conduct issued to the Nigerian Armed Forces.

The Observer Team was established on the invitation of the Nigerian Government and was limited to a two month period. The Canadian Government should therefore request the Nigerian Government to extend the duration of its invitation and to widen its terms of reference. We recommend that the numbers of the present Observer Team be increased or a second Observer Team be formed, and that the work of the Observer Team or Teams be extended as mentioned above. As recommended by the Observer Team, for its future efficacy, we recommend that additional communication and transport facilities be provided, and that the organization of the Observer Team be changed to enable it to have certain of its members permanently on the ground in each divisional sector.

2. The Canadian Government acting in concert with other interested governments and international organizations, should approach the Nigerian Government with a view to establishing an International Team to ascertain the extent of need in all parts of Nigeria and the best methods of meeting it.

In view of the evidence indicating the need for vastly increased relief supplies, the Relief Team should give particular attention to the possibility of establishing a land or Niger River relief corridor as well as improving the delivery of relief supplies by air. The Canadian Government should support actively the work and recommendations of any such International Team, including assistance, in concert with other interested governments, in constructing or establishing such relief corridors.

The Committee notes with regret that there is no international machinery to aid innocent victims of hostilities, as there is in the case of natural disasters; and the Committee recommends that, in order to avoid this problem in the future, the Canadian Government take an initiative in developing international machinery to meet this need.

3. The Canadian Government should continue and intensify its efforts to supply effective aid through the International Red Cross. It should also continue to make senior officials available at Fernando Po, Lagos and other key localities to assist and supplement the efforts of the International Red Cross to obtain all governmental and other permissions necessary to enable relief efforts to be carried out effectively. This should include permission to use Canadian Hercules and any additional aircraft, including lighter aircraft, which can be used effectively to carry relief supplies to all parts of Nigeria from whatever airfields can be effectively used for this purpose and effectively supervised by the International Red Cross.

4. The Canadian Government in concert with other interested governments should offer to the Nigerian Government non-military assistance in the building or re-building of civil air strips in any part of Nigeria, for the exclusive use of relief flights.

5. It is important that governmental efforts should be backed up adequately by individual Canadians. The Committee urges Canadian individuals and corporations to be generous in supporting public appeals for aid.

6. It is important that the Canadian Government should continue and intensify its efforts to help the Red Cross to aid suffering children including transporting them from Nigeria to relief centres, or Canada, where they can be given proper treatment or care.

7. Under no circumstances should Canada supply arms either to the Government of Nigeria or to the authorities in the secessionist area.

8. The Canadian Government should continue and intensify its efforts by negotiations through all possible channels, including the Commonwealth, the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity, and with interested governments, to persuade the contending parties to accept further mediation. However, steps should not be taken which would jeopardize the effectiveness of our relief efforts.

9. In the event of a cease-fire and a request from the parties to do so, the Canadian Government under the aegis of the Commonwealth or the United Nations should be prepared to assist as far as possible, in an effective peace-keeping force in Nigeria.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 1 to 13) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 6 to the Journals).

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That one supply day not to include a Wednesday or Friday be set aside to debate the Second Report of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence on a motion to concur in the said Report.

That on such motion, all Standing Orders and precedents applicable be waived to the extent necessary to permit an amendment to be moved as would be the case on a motion to amend a Supply Motion under Standing Order 56.

At fifteen minutes before the ordinary time of daily adjournment on such day Mr. Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings and forthwith put all questions in order to dispose of the said motion and any amendments then before the House.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Brewin, moved,—That the report of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence be amended by adding the following recommendations as paragraphs 10 and 11 thereof:

10. The Canadian Government, alone or in conjunction with like-minded nations, should take initiatives to persuade nations supplying arms to the combattants in Nigeria-Biafra to stop the flow of arms without which the war would soon no longer be possible.

11. The Canadian Government should mobilize support for a resolution in the General Assembly deploring the war, expressing concern for the human rights of the starving civilians in Biafra, and calling on both sides for a cease-fire. Canada should see that the matter of Biafra is raised for consideration in the Third Committee of the General Assembly. Canada should also invite the Third Committee to present a draft resolution concerning Biafra to the General Assembly.

And debate arising thereon;

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: Before calling it six o'clock may I be permitted to refer for a moment to the procedural aspect of the amendment moved by the honourable member for Fundy-Royal.

Section (2) of citation 323 from Beauchesne's 4th edition, states that "A report from a committee cannot be amended by the House, but it must be referred back to the Committee."

That is the end of the quotation.

Under the provisions of that citation, the purported amendment now before the House could not be received or debated, since it amends the report of the Committee rather than the motion for concurrence.

However, in view of the terminology of the Special Order setting up this debate suspending precedents and Standing Orders, the Chair, under the circumstances, considered that the amendment should be accepted.

The effect of my brief comment will be, I hope, that today's proceedings will not be drawn into precedent for use at a later date.

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That the Hour for Private Members' Business be suspended and that the House continue to sit until 7:00 o'clock p.m.

Debate was resumed on the motion that the Second Report of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence, presented to the House on Wednesday, November 6, 1968, be concurred in;

And on the motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Brewin, in amendment thereto.

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Mongrain, it was ordered,—That the names of Messrs. Deakon and Chappell be substituted for those of Messrs. Watson and Roberts on the Standing Committee on National Resources and Public Works.

Debate was resumed on the motion that the Second Report of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence, presented to the House on Wednesday, November 6, 1968, be concurred in;

And on the motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Brewin, in amendment thereto,—That the report of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence be amended by adding the following recommendations as paragraphs 10 and 11 thereof:

10. The Canadian Government, alone or in conjunction with like-minded nations, should take initiatives to persuade nations supplying arms to the combatants in Nigeria-Biafra to stop the flow of arms without which the war would soon no longer be possible.

11. The Canadian Government should mobilize support for a resolution in the General Assembly deploring the war, expressing concern for the human rights of the starving civilians in Biafra, and calling on both sides for a cease-fire. Canada should see that the matter of Biafra is raised for consideration in the Third Committee of the General Assembly. Canada should also invite the Third Committee to present a draft resolution concerning Biafra to the General Assembly.

And debate continuing;

At 9:45 o'clock p.m. Mr. Speaker interrupted the proceeding pursuant to Special Order made Wednesday, November 6, 1968;

And the question being put on the said proposed amendment it was negatived on the following division:

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1968.

11.00 o'clock a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Blair, from the Special Committee on Procedure of the House, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

I. Terms of Reference.

1. On September 24, 1968 the House of Commons resolved that a Special Committee of twelve Members, to be named at a later date, be appointed to consider and, from time to time, to report upon the advisability of making changes in the orders concerning the business of supply, the business of ways and means, the stages of the legislative process, and the operation of the standing committees of this House; upon the advisability of making permanent, with or without amendment, any or all the several changes in the procedures of this House that were in effect prior to the dissolution of Parliament on April 23, 1968; and upon the advisability of such other changes as the committee may deem suitable to promote the more expeditious dispatch of the business of the House; and that this Special Committee is hereby instructed to make its reports to the House prior to December 1, 1968, and to include in its reports drafts of proposed Standing Orders drawn to give effect, if adopted by the House, to any change or changes that may be proposed by the Committee.

2. Your Committee held 26 meetings and, having been granted an extension of time until December 6, 1968 in which to prepare and present its final report, has examined all the areas of procedure specified in its terms of reference and formulated recommendations relating to all of them.

II. The Business of Supply.

3. Among the most time-consuming, repetitive and archaic procedures inherited by the Canadian Parliament are those relating to the business of supply. Tradition requires that a charge on the people must originate by way of a resolution agreed to in a Committee of the Whole House, and the complexities of supply procedure arise from this basic principle. It is not proposed in this report to describe supply procedure in detail. Suffice it to say that it does not permit of an effective scrutiny of the estimates; it does not provide the House with a means of organizing meaningful debates on pre-arranged subjects; it has failed, in practical terms, to preserve effective parliamentary control over expenditure; and it fails to guarantee an expeditious decision on the appropriation bills giving legislative effect to the supply resolutions, a protection to which a modern democratic government is surely entitled. In short the historic supply procedures are irrelevant to the realities of government and society in the present day and age, a fact which has been recognized in Australia, New Zealand, and even Great Britain, the very home of parliamentary tradition. The Parliaments of these countries have radically revised their own supply procedures in recent years.

4. In the opinion of your Committee, the Committee of Supply, consisting as it does of the total membership of the House, is not a forum in which a detailed scrutiny of the estimates can be realistically attempted. Our view is that this function could be more efficiently carried out in the Standing Committees, each of which would concentrate on specific Departments, while the debates on the floor of the House would relate to broader questions of policy. It is contemplated that these policy debates would take place on allotted days on motions initiated by the Opposition, and that these allotted days would be at the disposal of the Opposition as regards the subjects to be discussed.

5. The reforms related to supply procedure which are embodied in the recommendations contained in the Fourth Report of your Committee, are based upon a number of crucial principles and assumptions which it will be convenient to list.

- (a) A pattern of regular parliamentary sessions is assumed whereby a session would normally commence in September or October and the House would rise for the summer recess on or about July 1.
- (b) For the purposes of supply, the parliamentary session would be divided into three periods ending on December 10, March 26 and June 30, respectively.
- (c) The main estimates would be presented to the House as early as possible in February and certainly before March 1.
- (d) The Committee of Supply would be abolished.
- (e) All estimates would be referred to Standing Committees for detailed scrutiny before March 1.
- (f) The Standing Orders would provide that the supply resolutions and the bills based thereon would be disposed of by the House by the dates specified above. Interim supply to cover the months of April, May and June would be disposed of by March 26; the main estimates would be disposed of by June 30, the Standing Committees having reported by May 31; and the supplementary and additional estimates would be disposed of by December 10, March 26 or June 30, depending on the periods in which they are presented.
- (g) A total of 25 allotted days spaced throughout the session would be placed at the disposal of the Opposition. Five would fall before December 10, seven before March 26, and 13 before June 30. On these allotted days the Opposition would be free to select for debate any matter coming within the jurisdiction of Parliament, including the business of supply currently before the House, on motions of which notice would be required. Six of the motions moved by the Opposition during a session could be motions of non-confidence in the Government, two falling within each of the specified periods. Motions other than these six would not normally be brought to a vote but would provide opportunities for debating matters which, in the opinion of the Opposition, call for public consideration. It is envisaged that during the latter weeks of a session these days would frequently be used for debating the reports on the departmental estimates presented by the various Standing Committees.

- (h) In addition to the 25 allotted days specified above, an additional 3 days would be provided for the consideration of any final supplementary estimates, presented in the period ending on June 30, and provision would also be made for the reference of these estimates to the Standing Committees.
- (i) The final decisions in relation to the main estimates of each department of government would be held over until the end of the third supply period so that the opportunity to debate any department would remain open throughout the session. A Member wishing to vote against an estimate would be required to give notice, and motions for the adoption of unopposed estimates could be consolidated into a single question.
- (j) Any days unused from the eight devoted to the Throne Speech debate and the six devoted to the Budget debate would be added to the total number of allotted days and would also be at the disposal of the Opposition.
- (k) In order to extend the opportunities of Members to participate in debates on allotted days, the length of speeches would be limited to twenty minutes, except that the principal spokesmen for the Government and the Opposition would be allowed thirty minutes.

III. The Business of Ways and Means.

6. The procedure relating to ways and means is, if anything, even less readily comprehensible than that relating to supply. It is deeply rooted in history and the original purpose underlying it appears to be lost in obscurity. The Committee of Ways and Means has two functions: a taxing function and a spending function. In its taxing capacity it considers and gives preliminary authorization to the taxation proposals arising from the budget statement. In its spending capacity it authorizes the issue from the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the sums voted by the Committee of Supply to make good the grants requested by the Government. This stage of supply has become completely formal, and it seems hardly necessary to point out that the Committee of Supply and the Committee of Ways and Means are identical bodies in terms of their composition.

7. Your Committee has already recommended the abolition of the Committee of Supply, and it is therefore consistent to recommend the abolition of the Committee of Ways and Means also. The effect of this in relation to supply would be to eliminate a superfluous stage which, although achieving little in terms of the saving of parliamentary time, would go far towards clarifying supply procedure. This reform is, in fact, implicit in your Committee's recommendations relating to the business of supply.

8. The abolition of the Committee of Ways and Means as a part of the taxation process has different implications. Under the present procedure the budget debate takes place on the motion that the Speaker leave the Chair in order that the House should resolve itself into the Committee of Ways and Means, and the budget proposals themselves are open to extensive debate in Committee of Ways and Means. Opportunities for further debate on the budget proposals are provided by the various stages of the Bills which are introduced following the adoption of the ways and means resolutions.

9. The abolition of the Committee of Ways and Means would eliminate the present repetitive procedure. Your Committee's recommendations, which are contained in its Fourth Report, envisage that the budget debate would take place on a resolution couched in very general terms and permitting a wide-ranging debate as at present. The ways and means resolutions themselves would not be separately debated although they could be considered simultaneously with the general resolution during the six-day budget debate. The questions on the specific resolutions would be put at some time after the question on the general resolution had been disposed of and would be decided without amendment or debate. The opportunity for specific consideration of the taxation proposals would arise at the various stages of the bills which would then be introduced to implement them. Since a bill is a more effective proceeding than a resolution it seems logical that the proceeding having legislative effect should be the one on which direct debate should take place.

IV. The Legislative Process in relation to Public Bills.

10. In considering the reform of the legislative process your Committee has taken into account the need to eliminate obsolete procedures; the desirability of providing more meaningful opportunities for Members, and particularly back benchers, to participate in the consideration and shaping of a bill; the desirability of identifying the crucial stages in a bill's passage which, in your Committee's opinion, should occur later rather than earlier in the legislative process; and the necessity of ensuring that the legislative programme of a session, following reasonable consideration by Parliament, should always be completed in this age of heavy governmental responsibilities.

11. In the hope of achieving these aims the Committee's recommendations, which are contained in its Fourth Report, are based on the following principles:

- (a) The preliminary resolution stage in Committee of the Whole House which is required in respect of a bill involving the expenditure of money should be eliminated. This proposal is consistent with the recommendations to abolish the Committee of Supply and the Committee of Ways and Means, and taken in conjunction they would achieve the elimination of the ancient practice requiring that a charge on the people must originate by way of a resolution agreed to in a Committee of the Whole House.
- (b) The three readings of a bill would be retained, but the motion relating to each reading would be re-phrased in such a way as to illuminate the philosophy behind each stage of the legislative process.
- (c) The motion for the First Reading of a bill would read:
"That this bill be read a first time and printed."

This motion, if passed, would imply that the House had agreed to the introduction of the bill without any commitment beyond the fact that it should be made generally available for the information of Parliament and the public.

- (d) The motion for the Second Reading would read:

"That this bill be now read a second time and referred to a committee".

This motion, if passed, would imply that the House had given preliminary consideration to the bill and that, without any commitment as to the final passage of the bill, had authorized its reference to a committee for detailed scrutiny. Your Committee believes that the significance of the Second Reading stage has been exaggerated in the past, and that the decisive stage should occur later in a bill's passage after it has emerged from a committee. The purpose of the Second Reading stage is to define the scope of a bill, and to extend its significance any further is, in our opinion, to distort the meaning of the legislative process.

- (e) The motion for Third Reading would read:

"That this bill be now read a third time and passed."

This wording would indicate clearly and unambiguously that the final and most crucial decision relating to the passage of a bill would be taken at the Third Reading. At present the Third Reading is seldom debated and has become almost a formal stage. Your Committee does not envisage that a debate should necessarily take place at the Third Reading, but it attaches great importance to the preservation of the opportunity for debate at this stage. We wish to emphasize that the Third Reading should always be the decisive stage and that in the case of a highly controversial bill it could be a most crucial debating stage.

- (f) All bills, other than those based on supply and ways and means resolutions, would be automatically referred to Standing Committees for consideration in detail unless the House decided otherwise. A bill which had been considered in a Standing Committee would not be reconsidered in a Committee of the Whole House but would be directly reported to the House. Bills based on supply and ways and means resolutions would not be considered in Standing Committees but in a Committee of the Whole House.
- (g) The report stage would be revived as a debating stage of the legislative process. It is contemplated that opportunities for proposing amendments to bills would occur both in the Standing Committees and in the House when the bills are reported. Debate at the report stage would take place only when notices of amendments are given for consideration at the report stage and would be strictly relevant to the amendments proposed. When a bill emerges from a Standing Committee, whether amended or not, a minimum period of 48 hours would be provided before the calling of the report stage to enable Members to give notice of amendments. If no notices of amendments are received within the prescribed time the motion for concurrence in the Bill as reported from the Standing Committee would be decided without amendment or debate. Bills which had been considered in a Committee of the Whole House would not be debatable at the report stage.

- (h) The length of speeches made in debates at the report stage would be limited to twenty minutes, except that the principal spokesmen speaking to an amendment for the Government and the Opposition would be allowed forty minutes.
- (i) In order to ensure a cohesive debate at the report stage the Speaker would have the authority to select and combine the amendments of which notice had been given.

V. The Committee—Structure of the House

12. It will be apparent from the recommendations already made in relation to supply and the legislative process that your Committee envisages a significant extension of the functions of the Standing Committees and in consequence a substantial strengthening of their importance and influence. They would become the forums in which the details of expenditure and legislation would be closely considered. They would investigate the operations and continuing programmes of government departments and would develop areas of subject specialisation. We would expect debate in the Standing Committees to be well-informed and pertinent; their members to become influential in the areas of their specialised experience; and their reports to the House to assume a critical significance related more closely to the national interest as a whole than to simple political differences. We also anticipate that the business of the House would be greatly expedited and handled more efficiently through exploiting the potential of the committee system of the House to the full.

13. With the abolition of the Committee of Supply, the Committee of Ways and Means and other money committees, the use of Committees of the Whole House would be considerably curtailed with a corresponding saving in the time of the House. They would be retained principally for the clause-by-clause consideration of bills founded on supply and ways and means resolutions, and also for the consideration of any bill or other matter which the House might see fit to refer to a Committee of the Whole House.

14. Your Committee believes that the structure of Standing Committees provided for in the resolution of the House of September 20, 1968 is suitable for the purposes which its recommendations contemplate, and the draft Standing Order 65 set out in your Committee's Fifth Report preserves this structure intact, while making provision for one additional Standing Committee.

15. Your Committee believes that a Standing Committee on Procedure and Organization should be established with the function of keeping the rules and practice and the internal administrative organization of the House under continuing review, and that this Committee should consist of not more than twelve members. If the recommendations contained in your Committee's Fourth and Fifth Reports are implemented, we would urge that this proposed Standing Committee be given an opportunity of reviewing the revised Standing Orders after they have been in operation for a certain length of time.

16. Your Committee has taken the opportunity to recommend a draft Standing Order which consolidates the rules relating to Standing, Special and Joint Committees, and which introduces new provisions relating to the quorum of a committee, the duration and terms of reference of Standing Committees, and the simplification of the procedure for effecting changes in the membership of committees.

VI. Emergency Procedures.

17. Your Committee is of the opinion that Standing Order 26 should be revised in accordance with the recommendations of the Sixth Report of the Special Committee on Procedure of the House presented to the House on March 20, 1968. This report was prepared following a visit to the British House of Commons and a thorough investigation of the emergency adjournment procedure on the part of that committee, but Parliament was dissolved before it could be considered. We propose the adoption of the draft Standing Order which the previous committee recommended, with minor amendments, and which is set out in the present Committee's Fourth Report. For purposes of explanation we feel we can do no better than repeat in the following paragraph the substance of the words set out by the previous committee at the beginning of its Sixth Report.

18. In the view of your Committee a situation has developed in which the kind of debate that takes place under Standing Order 26 is not always satisfactory. It is, therefore, proposed that the procedure relating to emergency debates be amended on the basis of the following principles:

- (a) The Speaker's discretion in relation to the acceptance or rejection of a motion in terms of Standing Order 26 should be widened by reducing his obligations to follow previous interpretations of the Standing Order. To this end it is proposed that the test of "a definite matter of urgent public importance" be replaced by one of "a specific and important matter requiring urgent consideration".
- (b) Standing Order 26 should be redrawn to ensure that it will be invoked only for the purpose of debating a genuine emergency, no other early opportunity for debating the matter being available.
- (c) Notice of intention to ask for a debate under Standing Order 26 should be a requirement; and such a debate, when granted, should not supersede immediately the regular business of the House, but should be held over until later in the day.

19. There are occasions when it is in the national interest that Parliament should consider or expedite an item of business with the minimum of delay, and your Committee believes that the Standing Orders should make provision for such situations. Two kinds of eventuality are envisaged. In the first place the House should be free to deal without delay with any item of Government business calling for immediate consideration on the first day of a session or a resumption of a session following an adjournment. Secondly, it seems reasonable to expect that the normal requirement of a notice of motion in relation to the introduction of business or the hours and days of sitting might be dispensed with for the purpose of dealing with matters of urgency when the overwhelming majority of the House recognizes that it would be desirable to do so. It seems intolerable to your Committee that a single dissenting voice should be permitted to frustrate the otherwise unanimous will of the House, although we recognize that an objection registered by ten or more Members should carry some weight. Accordingly your Committee has included in its recommendations a revised Standing Order 41 and a new Standing Order 42-A which are designed to achieve the desired purposes, and which are set out in the Committee's Fifth Report.

VII. Programming of Business.

20. The Government discharges its legislative responsibilities to the public through Parliament, to which it is directly accountable. Parliament for its part is responsible for reaching decisions with regard to the passage of the various items of government business. It seems to your Committee that if both are to fulfil the duties required of them, the right of Parliament to come to a decision must be protected, while the Government is entitled to a reasonable assurance that its sessional legislative programme will be carried through to completion. Some machinery would therefore seem to be necessary which would enable business to be programmed and time allocated to the various items of business and stages thereof, through consultation between the parties. It is therefore proposed that a Proceedings Committee be established, consisting of the House Leaders or their representatives, to carry out this function.

21. It is recognized that goodwill and co-operation would be essential to the successful functioning of such a committee, and that it should be vested with the authority which would ensure that its unanimous decisions could be readily translated into orders of the House. Provision is therefore made in the proposed draft Standing Order to ensure that the unanimous recommendations of the committee could not readily be obstructed.

22. While your Committee attaches the utmost importance to the desirability of reaching decisions relating to programming and the allocation of time by agreement, it nevertheless recognizes that occasions may arise when the Proceedings Committee might not be able to agree. Provision is therefore made in the proposed draft Standing Order, which is contained in the Committee's Fourth Report, which would permit the Government to refer a matter falling within the terms of reference of the Proceedings Committee to the decision of the House.

VIII. The Rulings of the Speaker and the Chairman of Committees of the Whole House.

23. In its Seventh Report presented to the House on March 20, 1968, the Special Committee on Procedure of the House recommended the adoption of a revised Standing Order 12 which would have had the effect of eliminating the right to appeal to the House against the decisions of the Speaker. We believe that the House would be well-advised to adopt the Standing Order proposed by the previous committee, as set out in the Fifth Report of the present Committee. We would emphasize that its adoption would in no way abrogate the right of a Member to challenge a Speaker's decision by way of a substantive motion introduced on notice and debatable by the House, but would merely eliminate the spontaneous appeal from the floor of the House immediately after a ruling has been given.

24. Your Committee would also draw attention to the desirability of observing and enforcing the rules and practice of the House relating to decorum during the taking of a division, both when the Speaker is in the Chair and when a Committee of the Whole House is voting.

25. On June 11, 1965, Standing Order 59 was provisionally amended to provide that an appeal against a ruling of the Chairman of Committees of the Whole House would be decided in the first instance by the Speaker instead of by the House itself. Your Committee believes that this rule should be made permanent.

26. Standing Order 59 also provides in section (3) for a limitation of thirty minutes on the length of speeches made during debates in Committee of the Whole House. Your Committee is of the opinion that this limitation should be reduced to twenty minutes.

IX. Hours of Sitting and Arrangement of Business.

27. Your Committee believes that the convenience of the House would be served if the following adjustments were made in the hours of sitting and the arrangement of business:

- (a) The hours of sitting on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays should be from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and from 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

- (b) The hours of sitting on Wednesdays should be from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.
- (c) The hours of sitting on Fridays should be from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- (d) The hours of sitting on any day on which a morning sitting is held other than a Friday should be from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.
- (e) On Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, private members' business should be taken between 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m.
- (f) On Fridays, private members' business should be taken between 4:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.
- (g) No provision should be made for the taking of private members' business on Wednesdays.
- (h) The loss of private members' hour on Wednesdays should be compensated for by extending the period of the session during which private members' business may be considered on Mondays and Tuesdays.
- (i) The arrangement of private members' business should be re-ordered in accordance with section (3) of the proposed draft Standing Order 15.
- (j) A transitional order should be adopted by the House for the balance of the session to protect the passage of private bills pending the passage of special legislation.
- (k) The provisional procedure for continuing a sitting through a lunch or dinner hour or beyond the normal hour of daily adjournment should be continued and simplified in accordance with sections (4), (5) and (6) of draft Standing Order 6.
- (l) The provisional rule relating to the control of statements on motions as set out in section (2a) of draft Standing Order 15 should be made permanent.

28. Revised drafts of Standing Orders 2, 6 and 15, incorporating the above recommendations are set out in your Committee's Fifth Report.

X. Question Period.

29. Your Committee is of the opinion that the duration of the oral question period on every sitting day should be standardised at 40 minutes.

30. Your Committee believes that Standing Order 39-A, provisionally introduced on April 20, 1964, under which a Member is entitled to air a grievance arising from the question period by means of a brief debate on the daily adjournment motion on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, embodies a right which the House as a whole would wish to preserve, and should therefore be retained.

31. Revised drafts of Standing Orders 39 and 39-A are set out in the Committee's Fifth Report.

XI. Tabling of Papers by Ministers.

32. Your Committee believes that it would be reasonable to permit a Minister, without the unanimous consent of the House, to lay upon the Table any report or paper dealing with a matter within the administrative responsibilities of the government, and that Standing Order 40 should be amended accordingly. A revised draft of this Standing Order is set out in the Committee's Fifth Report.

XII. Transferred Motions.

33. On June 11, 1965 a provisional section (2) was added to Standing Order 43, providing for the transfer to government orders of an order for the resumption of a debate which had originated on a motion under routine proceedings. Its purpose was to prevent such an order from obstructing indefinitely the normal business of the House. This purpose was only partially achieved, however, because under the provisional rule the government is obliged to call such an item of business before any other government order.

34. Your Committee believes that this restriction on the government's discretion should be removed and that it should not necessarily be obliged to call such an order before any other. One day of debate would already have been devoted to the kind of motion contemplated prior to its transference to government orders, and in the opinion of your Committee the government's obligation in respect of such orders should be limited to ensuring that the House should have an opportunity for bringing them to a decision. Your Committee has therefore proposed certain changes to Standing Orders 18(2) and 43(2) which are designed to remove the anomaly described above, and which are set out in the Committee's Fifth Report.

XIII. Motions for the Production of Papers.

35. Your Committee is of the opinion that the duration of a debate on a motion for the production of papers should be reduced from two and a half hours to one and a half hours, and that provisional Standing Order 47(2) be therefore amended accordingly and adopted on a permanent basis. The revised draft Standing Order is set out in your Committee's Fifth Report.

XIV. Questions of Privilege.

36. Your Committee is of the opinion that provisional Standing Order 41-A be adopted on a permanent basis but that it should be incorporated into Standing Order 17 where it logically belongs. A revised draft of Standing Order 17 is set out in the Committee's Fifth Report.

XV. General Conclusions.

37. Your Committee is very conscious of the fact that, in spite of the far-reaching and wide-ranging recommendations contained in this report, it has been unable in the time available, to complete an exhaustive revision of all the rules and practices of the House. It is aware also that the recommendations which have been proposed are radical, and urges that any new rules adopted by the House should be reviewed by the proposed Standing Committee on Procedure and Organization after they have been tested in practice. There are in addition several other matters which your Committee wishes to call to the attention of the House.

38. Your Committee is of the opinion that a means should be found whereby a greater number of private members' bills and motions could be brought to a final decision or referred to a Committee for study.

39. Your Committee would favour the establishment of a convention whereby the Government House Leader would make a weekly statement of the programme of business proposed by the Government for the forthcoming week.

40. Your Committee believes that occasional adjournments of the House for short periods to facilitate the work of committees, an experiment already tried in this session, would prove to be a useful practice.

41. Your Committee understands that the chairmen of Standing and Special Committees are sometimes rather severe in their interpretation of the rules of debate as they apply to committees. We would therefore urge chairmen to make every effort to ensure that the rules of debate are applied liberally and in such a manner as to give effect to the intent implicit in the recommendations contained in the Fourth and Fifth Reports.

42. Your Committee's specific recommendations and the texts of the new and revised Standing Orders proposed are contained in the Committee's Fourth and Fifth Reports. Texts of the draft Standing Orders relating to supply, ways and means, the legislative process, the programming of business and emergency adjournment motions are set out in the Fourth Report. Texts of all the other draft Standing Orders proposed by the Committee are set out in the Fifth Report.

Mr. Blair, from the Special Committee on Procedure of the House, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends that the Standing Orders and Procedure of the House be amended, as follows:—

- (6) If Mr. Speaker so desires, he may defer his decision upon whether the matter is proper to be discussed until later in the sitting, when he may interrupt the proceedings of the House for the purpose of announcing his decision.
- (7) In stating whether or not he is satisfied that the matter is proper to be discussed, Mr. Speaker is not bound to give reasons for his decision.

- (12) Debate on any such motion shall not be interrupted by "Private Members' Business".
- (13) Proceedings on any such motion may continue beyond the ordinary hour of daily adjournment but, when debate thereon is concluded prior to that hour in any sitting, the motion shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. In any other case, Mr. Speaker, when he is satisfied that debate has been concluded, shall declare the motion carried and forthwith adjourn the House until the next sitting day.
- (14) No Member shall speak longer than twenty minutes during debate on any such motion.
- (15) The provisions of this standing order shall not be suspended by the operation of any other standing order relating to the hours of sitting or in respect of the consideration of any other business; provided that, in cases of conflict, Mr. Speaker shall determine when such other business shall be considered or disposed of and he shall make any consequential interpretation of any standing order that may be necessary in relation thereto.
- (16) The right to move the adjournment of the House for the above purposes is subject to the following conditions:

- (2) For the purposes of this order the business of supply shall consist of motions to concur in interim supply, main estimates, and supplementary or final estimates; motions to restore or reinstate any item in the estimates; motions to introduce or pass at all stages any bill or bills based thereon; and opposition motions that under this order may be considered on allotted days.
- (3) Opposition motions on allotted days may be moved only by members in opposition to the Government and may relate to any matter within the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada and also may be used for the purpose of considering reports from standing committees relating to the consideration of estimates therein.
- (4) (a) Forty-eight hours written notice shall be given of motions to concur in interim supply, main estimates, supplementary or final estimates, to restore or reinstate any item in the estimates. Twenty-four hours written notice shall be given of an opposition motion on an allotted day or of a notice to oppose any item in the estimates.
(b) When notice has been given of two or more motions by members in opposition to the Government for consideration on an allotted day, Mr. Speaker shall have power to select which of the proposed motions shall have precedence in that sitting.
- (5) For the period ending not later than December 10, five sitting days shall be allotted to the business of supply. Seven additional days shall be allotted to the business of supply in the period ending not later than March 26. Thirteen additional days shall be allotted to the business of supply in the period ending not later than June 30. These twenty-five days are to be designated as allotted days.
- (6) When any day or days allotted to the Address Debate or to the Budget Debate are not used for those debates, such day or days may be added to the number of allotted days in the period in which they occur.
- (7) When concurrence in any final supplementary estimates relating to the fiscal year that ended on March 31 is sought in the period ending not later than June 30, three days for the consideration of the motion that the House concur in those estimates and for the passage at all stages of any bill to be based thereon shall be added to the days for the business of supply in that period.
- (8) Opposition motions shall have precedence over all government supply motions on allotted days and shall be disposed of as provided in sections 9, 10 and 11 of this order.

- (9) In each of the periods described in section (5) of this order not more than two opposition motions shall be no-confidence motions against the Government. The duration of proceedings on any such motion shall be stated in the notice relating to the appointing of an allotted day or days for those proceedings. On the last day appointed for proceedings on a no-confidence motion, at fifteen minutes before the ordinary time of daily adjournment the Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings and forthwith put, without further debate or amendment, every question necessary to dispose of the said proceeding.
- (10) On the last allotted day in each period but, in any case, not later than the last sitting day in each period at fifteen minutes before the ordinary time of daily adjournment the Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings then in progress, and, if those proceedings are not in relation to a no-confidence motion, he shall put forthwith successively, without debate or amendment, every question necessary to dispose of any item of business relating to interim supply, main estimates, and supplementary or final estimates, the restoration or reinstatement of any item in the estimates or any opposed items in the estimates, and for the passage at all stages of any bill or bills based thereon. If the motion under consideration at the hour of interruption is a no-confidence motion, the Speaker first shall put forthwith, without further debate or amendment, every question necessary to dispose of that proceeding, and forthwith thereafter put successively, without debate or amendment, every question necessary to dispose of any item of business relating to interim supply, main estimates, and supplementary or final estimates, the restoration or reinstatement of any item in the estimates, or any opposed item in the estimates, and, notwithstanding the provisions of Standing Order 75, for the passage at all stages of any bill or bills based thereon. The standing order relating to the ordinary time of daily adjournment shall remain suspended until all such questions have been decided.
- (11) Proceedings on allotted days on opposition motions which are not "no-confidence" motions shall expire when debate thereon has been concluded or at the ordinary time of daily adjournment, as the case may be.
- (12) On any day or days appointed for the consideration of any business under the provisions of this standing order, that order of business shall have precedence over all other government business in such sitting or sittings.
- (13) During proceedings on any item of business under the provisions of this standing order, no member may speak more than once or longer than twenty minutes, except that both the mover of a debatable motion and the member speaking immediately in reply thereto may speak for thirty minutes.
- (14) In every session the main estimates to cover the incoming fiscal year for every department of government shall be referred to standing committees on or before March 1 of the then expiring fiscal year. Each such committee shall consider and shall report, or shall be deemed to have reported, the same back to the House not later than May 31 in the then current fiscal year.

- (15) Supplementary estimates shall be referred to a standing committee or committees immediately they are presented in the House. Each such committee shall consider and shall report, or shall be deemed to have reported, the same back to the House not later than three sitting days before the final sitting or the last allotted day in the current period.

- (17) The adoption of all unopposed items in any set of estimates may be proposed in one or more motions.
- (18) In the event of urgency in relation to any estimate or estimates the proceedings of the House on a motion to concur therein and on the subsequent bill are to be taken under Government Orders and not on days allotted in this Order.
- (19) The adoption of any motion to concur in any estimate or estimates or interim supply shall be an order of the House to bring in a bill or bills based thereon.

Provided that when adopted by the House, it shall be deemed that this standing order was in effect at the outset of this session. No compensation in allotted days shall be provided in relation to the period prior to December 10, 1968, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO DRAFT BILL ON ANTI-DUMPING:

Clause 2(1)

"sale" includes agreement to sell;

Clause 2(2)

(a) "associated persons" or persons associated with each other are persons not dealing with each other at arm's length within the meaning of subsection (5) of section 139 of the Income Tax Act; and

Clause 5(a)

(ii) material injury has been caused to the production in Canada of like goods by reason of the fact that the entered goods constitute a massive importation or form part of a series of importations into Canada of dumped goods that in the aggregate are massive and that have occurred within a relatively short period of time, and in order to prevent the recurrence of such material injury, it appears necessary to the Tribunal that duty be assessed on the entered goods, and

Clause 7

(2) Every order made under this section shall be published in the Canada Gazette.

Clause 9

(2) In the application of subsection (1) in the case of any goods,

- (a) if there was not, in the opinion of the Deputy Minister, such a number of sales of like goods made by the exporter at the place described in paragraph (d) of subsection (1) as to permit a proper comparison with the sale of the goods to the importer in Canada, there shall be substituted for that place the place located nearest thereto at which like goods were sold by the exporter; and
- (b) if there was not a sufficient number of sales of like goods made by the exporter by reason of the fact that the exporter sold goods solely or primarily for export, but there were sales of like goods for home consumption in the country of export by other vendors, there shall be substituted for the exporter such one of any such vendors as the Deputy Minister may specify.

(3) In determining the normal value of any goods under subsection (1), the price of like goods when sold by the exporter to purchasers during the period referred to in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) shall be

- (a) the price at which the preponderance of sales of like goods that comply with all the terms and conditions that are referred to in subsection (1) or that are applicable by virtue of subsection (2) was made by the exporter to purchasers throughout the period; and
- (b) when there is no such preponderance of sales at a single price throughout the period, the weighted average of the prices at which like goods are so sold by the exporter to purchasers throughout the period.

(4) Where goods imported into Canada and goods sold for home consumption are like goods except only that the goods sold for home consumption have applied to them a trade mark, as defined in the Trade Marks Act, that is not applied to the goods imported into Canada, and goods like the goods imported are not sold for home consumption, the goods imported and the goods sold for home consumption shall be deemed to be like goods for the purposes of this section if, in the opinion of the Minister.

- (a) the goods are being imported into Canada without that trade mark applied to them in order to avoid the operation of subsection (1), and
- (b) it is probable that there will be applied to the goods, subsequent to their importation into Canada, that trade mark or any other mark so closely resembling that trade mark that it is likely to be taken therefor.

(5) Where the normal value of any goods cannot be determined under subsection (1) by reason that there was not a sufficient number of sales of like goods that comply with all the terms and conditions that are referred to in that subsection or that are applicable by virtue of subsection (2), the normal value of the goods shall be determined, at the option of the Deputy Minister in any case or class of cases, as

- (a) such price of like goods when sold by the exporter to importers in any country other than Canada during the period referred to in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) as, in the opinion of the Deputy Minister, fairly reflects the market value of the goods at the time of the sale of the goods to the importer in Canada, as adjusted by allowances calculated in the manner prescribed by the regulations to reflect the differences in the terms and conditions of sale, in taxation and other differences relating to price comparability between the sale of the goods to the importer in Canada and the sales of the like goods by the exporter to importers in any country other than Canada but with no other allowances affecting price comparability whatever; or
- (b) the aggregate of
 - (i) the cost of production of the goods, and
 - (ii) an amount for administrative, selling and all other costs and for profits, calculated in such manner as may be prescribed by the regulations.

Clause 10

(1) Subject to this section, the export price of any goods, notwithstanding any invoice or affidavit to the contrary, is an amount equal to the lesser of

- (a) the exporter's sale price for the goods, or
- (b) the importer's purchase price for the goods, adjusted in the manner prescribed by the regulations to exclude all charges thereon resulting from or arising after their shipment from the place described in paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 9 or, where applicable, the place substituted therefor in determining normal value by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 9.

Clause 10(2)(b)

- (ii) by reason of a compensatory arrangement made between any two or more of the following, namely, the manufacturer or producer, the vendor, the exporter, the importer and any other party, that directly or indirectly affects or relates to
 - (A) the price of the goods,
 - (B) the sale of the goods,
 - (C) the net return to the exporter, vendor, manufacturer or producer of the goods, or
 - (D) the net cost to the importer of the goods.

Clause 10(2)(c)

- (c) if the goods were sold by the importer in the condition in which they were imported to a person with whom, at the time of the said sale, he was not associated, the price for which the goods were so sold less an allowance calculated in the manner prescribed by the regulations
 - (i) for costs, including the duties imposed under the Customs Tariff and taxes, incurred on or after the importation of the goods and their sale by the importer,

- (ii) for profits on the sale of the goods to that person, and
- (iii) for all charges on the goods resulting from or arising after their shipment from the place described in paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 9, or

Clause 10(4)

(4) For greater certainty, any agreement pursuant to which the manufacturer or producer, the vendor or the exporter of any goods undertakes directly or indirectly, or in any manner whatsoever, to indemnify, pay on behalf of or reimburse the importer of the goods for all or any part of the dumping duty that may be levied upon the entry of the goods, shall be deemed to be a compensatory arrangement affecting the price of the goods within the meaning of paragraph (b) of subsection (2).

Clause 14(2)

- (c) cause to be filed with the Secretary of the Tribunal notice in writing of the determination, stating the reasons therefor, together with such other material relating to the determination as may be required under the rules of the Tribunal; and
- (d) in accordance with the directions given by the Minister, take such proceedings as may be necessary in order to make a final determination of dumping, in accordance with subsection (1) of section 17, within three months from the date of the preliminary determination.

Clause 15

(2) Any provisional duty or security paid or posted by or on behalf of an importer in respect of the entry of any goods pursuant to subsection (1) shall, except to the extent of the duty payable in respect of the goods, be returned to the importer forthwith following the final determination made by the Deputy Minister under section 17, in respect of the goods.

Clause 16(1)(b)(ii)

- (ii) material injury has been caused to the production in Canada of like goods by reason of the fact that the entered goods constitute a massive importation or form part of a series of importations into Canada of dumped goods that in the aggregate are massive and that have occurred within a relatively short period of time, and in order to prevent the recurrence of such material injury, it appears necessary to the Tribunal that duty be assessed on the entered goods.

Clause 17

(3) The Deputy Minister shall give notice of his final determination in the manner prescribed by the regulations and shall cause notice thereof to be published in the Canada Gazette.

Clause 18(1) and (3)

(1) Subject to this Act, where, subsequent to an order or finding of the Tribunal, any goods are entered into Canada,

- (a) a determination as to whether the entered goods are goods of the same description as the goods or description of goods to which the order or finding applies, and
- (b) an appraisal of the normal value and export price of the entered goods, made upon the entry is final and conclusive unless the importer, within 90 days from the making thereof, makes a written request in a prescribed form and in a manner prescribed by the regulations to a Dominion Customs Appraiser for a re-determination or a re-appraisal.

(3) Subject to subsection (4), a decision of a Dominion Customs Appraiser under this section is final and conclusive unless the importer, within 90 days of the date of the decision, makes a written request in a prescribed form and in a manner prescribed by the regulations to the Deputy Minister for a re-determination or a re-appraisal.

Clause 19

(3) On any appeal under subsection (1) the Tariff Board may make such order or finding as the nature of the matter may require and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, may declare what duty is payable or that no duty is payable on the goods with respect to which the appeal was taken, and an order, finding or declaration of the Tariff Board is final and conclusive subject to further appeal as provided in section 20.

Clause 21

(1) There shall be a tribunal to be called the Anti-dumping Tribunal, consisting of not more than five members to be appointed by the Governor in Council.

Clause 22

22. Each member of the Tribunal shall be paid such remuneration for his services as is fixed by the Governor in Council and is entitled to be paid reasonable travelling and living expenses incurred by him while absent from Ottawa in the course of his duties under this Act.

Clause 25(1) and (2)

(1) The Tribunal may, subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, make rules respecting

- (a) the sittings of the Tribunal; and
- (b) the procedure for making representations to the Tribunal and generally the manner of conducting any business before the Tribunal.

(2) Copies of all rules made pursuant to subsection (1) shall be laid before Parliament within 15 days after the commencement of the session next ensuing after the making thereof.

Clause 30

(Clause 30 of the proposed Anti-dumping Bill to be deleted)

Clause 32

(2) The Tribunal shall, within three months of the termination of each year, transmit to the Minister of Finance a statement relating to the activities of the Tribunal for that year and the Minister shall cause such statement to be laid before Parliament within fifteen days after the receipt thereof or, if Parliament is not then sitting, on any of the first fifteen days next thereafter that Parliament is sitting.

Clause 33

(1) The true amount of duty or provisional duty payable to Her Majesty on any goods entered into Canada from and after the time such duty should have been paid or accounted for constitutes a debt due and payable to Her Majesty by the importer of the goods, and such debt may be recovered at any time with full costs of suit in any court of competent jurisdiction, and any goods thereafter imported by the said importer are subject to a lien for such debt and may be withheld from delivery by Customs until such debt is paid.

Clause 34

(2) Where, in the case of a request made by the Deputy Minister under subsection (1) to submit a statement with respect to any goods on or before a specified date, the manufacturer or producer, the vendor, the exporter or the importer of the goods refuses or fails to comply with the request, any entry subsequent to the specified date of goods of the same description made or exported by or on behalf of the manufacturer or producer, the vendor, the exporter or the importer shall be deemed not to have been perfected, notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, until

- (a) the statement with respect to the goods is submitted to the Deputy Minister and the normal value and the export price of the said goods are determined pursuant to sections 9 and 10, or
- (b) the normal value and the export price of the goods are determined pursuant to section 11.

Clause 35

(2) No regulation made under this section has effect until it has been published in the Canada Gazette but, when so published, a regulation shall, if it so provides, be effective from or at any time after the making thereof.

Clause 37

(1c) When any order is made under subsection (1a), the order shall cease to have any force or effect with respect to any period following the 180th day from the date of its making or, if Parliament is not then in session, the 15th day after the commencement of the next ensuing session, unless before that day the order is approved by Parliament.

Clause 38

(1) Subsection (8) of section 3 of the Tariff Board Act is repealed and the following substituted therefor:

“(8) With respect on an appeal to the Board pursuant to any Act other than this Act three or more members have and may exercise and perform all the powers and functions of the Board.”

(2) Section 9 of the said Act is repealed and the following substituted therefor:

“9. The Board shall cause its decisions in any case brought before it pursuant to any Act other than this Act to be published forthwith in the Canada Gazette.”

Your Committee requests that the Government give further consideration to certain problems raised with respect to clauses 19, 22 and 33 of the draft bill.

Your Committee notes that the following appears in the Introduction to the White Paper:

Canadian representatives took an active part in negotiating the Code to ensure that, on the one hand, it protected Canadian exports against the unreasonable use of dumping duties by other countries and, on the other, would leave the Canadian Government free to apply dumping duties quickly and effectively when dumping caused or threatened injury to Canadian industry.

Your Committee wishes to underline the necessity of prompt and effective action to ensure the carrying out of the intent of the proposed legislation with regard to injurious dumping.

Your Committee also heard much evidence with respect to certain types of low cost imports causing serious injury and reiterates that prompt and effective action must also be taken under the pertinent section of the proposed legislation.

Your Committee recommends that the Tribunal be duly constituted with members of the highest calibre at the earliest possible date.

Your Committee notes that while agreement was reached on the principles of the Anti-Dumping Code by participating governments, problems still remain with respect to the full implementation of the Code among all participating nations. Your Committee urges the Government to continue to press for the full implementation of the Code among all nations and expresses the hope that the passage of the proposed bill will be of assistance in achieving this objective.

Your Committee recommends that negotiations for the elimination of other non-tariff barriers be intensified.

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1968.

PRAYERS.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: In a very learned presentation the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) suggested yesterday that the motion to concur in the Procedure Committee's Fourth Report should be debated in Committee of the Whole rather than by a motion to concur therein with the Speaker in the Chair. The honourable Member quoted a number of precedents going back to Confederation which he submits support the view that the Report presented by the honourable Member for Grenville-Carleton (Mr. Blair) should be referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Since yesterday, as I have noted, a review has been made of all instances when rules changes were proposed for the consideration of the House of Commons, beginning with and including the enactment of the first set of rules in 1967 but excluding the motions now before the House. There have been 29 such occasions. Many of these proposals, of course, were concerned with minor changes only; but some of the amendments which, at least at the time they were proposed, could be considered as substantial were in fact debated with the Speaker in the Chair: they were not considered in Committee of the Whole.

For example, the 1952 amendments dealt with hours of adjournment, time of meeting and the consideration of Private Members' Business. In that case the Report of the Special Committee was considered by motion to concur in the Committee Report; there was no reference to the Committee of the Whole.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre mentioned the rules changes in 1960-61 and in 1962. These alterations, I submit, were not inconsequential. The rules of procedure were amended, for instance, to reduce the speaking time when Private Members' Business is considered. The Address Debate and the Budget Debate were reduced by two days in each case, a new procedure on questions was adopted, and Private Members' Business was re-organized.

In 1960-61 and in 1962 all these changes were effected by way of concurrence in the report of a special committee. The proposals were not considered in Committee of the Whole. In all these cases the House itself, with the Speaker in the Chair, debated the committee report. It will thus be seen that while most of the major revisions of House rules were considered in Committee of the Whole, as was quite correctly explained by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre, on a number of other occasions there was, in fact, no provision for debate in Committee of the Whole.

This leads us to the view expressed by the Honourable President of the Privy Council (Mr. Macdonald) that rules changes can be dealt with procedurally in one of two ways. He has suggested that either procedure has been acceptable to Honourable Members in the past in changing the Standing Orders of the House. This opinion is borne out particularly by more recent precedents, and especially by those of 1952, 1960-61 and 1962.

It may also be relevant to remind honourable Members that in most cases when major revisions were proposed, these were considered first by a special committee chaired by the Speaker. This occurred, for example, in 1867, 1876, 1927 and 1955. In the case now before us the Speaker did not participate in the special committee. I should add that there must be serious doubt whether the Speaker has the authority to take the action suggested by the Honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre. After all, the Speaker is guided and bound by existing rules, precedents and practice: he cannot arrogate to himself powers which the House itself has never placed in him.

The honourable Member referred to the flag debate when Mr. Speaker Macnaughton agreed to divide the question then before the House. The decision, however, was based on precedents and citations of Canadian and British authors. These specifically recognize the authority of the Speaker to divide a motion. There appears to be no precedent in Canadian parliamentary practice to support the proposition that the Speaker is at liberty to decree, on his own initiative, that a motion will be considered in Committee of the Whole rather than by the House, or by the House rather than by the Committee.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre has submitted that the Speaker would have authority to direct that the proposed procedural changes be studied in Committee of the Whole, by virtue of Standing Order 50. Standing Order 50 reads as follows: "Whenever Mr. Speaker is of opinion that a motion offered to the House is contrary to the rules and privileges of Parliament, he shall apprise the House thereof immediately, before putting the question thereon, and quote the Standing Order or authority applicable to the case."

I would not think it could be argued reasonably that the proposed motion is contrary to the rules of Parliament. Is it contrary to the privileges of Parliament? The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre contends that it is and that the procedure now contemplated would adversely affect the privileges of honourable Members. The question arises as to whether or not honourable Members would have greater opportunity to debate and amend the report in Committee of the Whole. The scope for debate and amendment, in my view—and I suggest this to honourable Members—is as great with the Speaker in the Chair as it is in Committee of the Whole. There is no limit to the number of amendments that can be proposed at this stage. Each individual proposition may be the subject of an amendment by way of a direction to the special committee. Honourable Members may wish to refer to citation 221 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition which refers to permissive instructions and mandatory instructions. Citation 221 (2) reads as follows: "The object of mandatory instructions is to define the course of action which the Committee must follow."

In view of this it seems to me the privileges of honourable Members would not be diminished by conducting the debate with the Speaker in the Chair.

My conclusion therefore is that the privileges of Parliament are not affected in a way which would justify the Chair's intervention on the basis of Standing Order 50.

The honourable Member for St. John's East (Mr. McGrath) having raised a question of privilege relating to the status of the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications presented to the House on Tuesday, December 3, 1968.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The conclusion I have to come to after hearing honourable Members of the House is that it would obviously be easier to resolve the question now before the House in a committee than it might be to resolve it in the House of Commons. My initial reaction was to follow the advice of the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Woolliams) and give the matter serious and protracted consideration, but honourable Members have indicated quite clearly, in my view, that there is a prima facie case of privilege and that it is the type of question which might easily be sent to committee.

I must say I am worried to some extent about the remedies sought by the motion. I think the committee would have some difficulty in examining the members of another committee—one committee of the House looking into the affairs of another committee. That may cause procedural difficulties at that stage, but that is not really what we are seized with at the present time.

What the Chair has to decide without resolving the question of whether it is a de facto question of privilege is merely to determine whether it is a prima facie case of privilege. I think the honourable Member for Annapolis Valley (Mr. Nowlan) has made a very important point, one which had worried me all along as to whether or not this matter had been raised at the first opportunity. In view of the fact that we have reached the end of the consideration of the committee's reports probably the question has been raised at the first opportunity, thus disposing of one objection which I had in the back of my mind. I do have to reach the conclusion that there is a prima facie case of privilege and, if the House decides the motion should be carried, the matter should be referred to a committee as proposed by the honourable Member for St. John's East (Mr. McGrath).

Whereupon, Mr. McGrath, seconded by Mr. Woolliams, moved,—That the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections to determine the reason for the omission of the resolution adopted by the Committee on November 28th, from the Second Report of the Committee presented to the House on November 29th, and which reads as follows:

Resolved,—That the Canadian Transport Commission be requested to postpone the implementation of its decision to abandon railway service in Newfoundland until such a time as the Committee travel to Newfoundland to study the transportation problems of the Atlantic Provinces.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Mr. Blair, seconded by Mr. Jerome, moved,—That the Fourth Report of the Special Committee on Procedure of the House, presented to the House on Friday, December 6, 1968, be concurred in.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Stanfield, seconded by Mr. Baldwin, moved in amendment thereto,—That the Fourth Report of the Special Committee on Procedure of the House be not now concurred in but referred back to the Committee with instructions that it have power to recommend that proposed Standing Order 16-A be amended to provide that a motion to accept the decision of the Proceedings Committee shall only be made following the unanimous decision of the Proceedings Committee arrived at during a meeting properly convened upon adequate written notice.

And debate arising thereon;

[At 6.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional Standing Order 15(3)]

(Private Bills)

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill S-6, An Act respecting The Canada Trust Company;

Mr. Blair, seconded by Mr. Barrett, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs.

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

Debate was resumed, on the motion of Mr. Blair, seconded by Mr. Jerome,—That the Fourth Report of the Special Committee on Procedure of the House presented to the House on Friday, December 6, 1968, be concurred in;

And on the motion of Mr. Stanfield, seconded by Mr. Baldwin in amendment thereto,—That the Fourth Report of the Special Committee on Procedure of the House be not now concurred in but referred back to the Committee with instructions that it have power to recommend that proposed Standing Order 16-A be amended to provide that a motion to accept the decision of the Proceedings Committee shall only be made following the unanimous decision of the Proceedings Committee arrived at during a meeting properly convened upon adequate written notice.

And debate continuing;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question, "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

At 10.28 o'clock p.m., the House adjourned until tomorrow at 2.30 o'clock p.m., pursuant to Standing Order 2(1).

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION

ELECTION FOR THE RIDING OF HUMBER-ST. GEORGE'S-ST. BARBE

RESPONDENT

JUDGMENT OF PUDDISTER AND MIFFLIN, JJ.

This matter arises out of the election of members to the House of Commons held on June 25, 1968.

In that election there were three candidates in the District of Humber-St. George's-St. Barbe in the Province of Newfoundland. Of the votes cast at the election Jack Marshall received 9765, Herman Maxwell Batten 9482, and Calvin Morris Hillyard 3276; and, consequently, Jack Marshall was declared elected by a majority of 283 votes.

On August 13, 1968, Gerald Matthews, a person who had the right to vote and did vote at the election in the District of Humber-St. George's-St. Barbe presented a petition to this Court in accordance with the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, Chapter 87 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, asking that the election in that District be declared void because of non-compliance in 14 named Polling Divisions in that District with certain provisions of the Canada Elections Act, Chapter 39 of the Statutes of Canada, 1960. For convenience we shall refer to each of the Polling Divisions as a Division, with its appropriate number, and to the District of Humber-St. George's-St. Barbe as the District.

The petitioner alleged that in Divisions 5 to 17, both inclusive, and in Division 39, in the District the polling stations opened at 8:00 a.m. and closed at 7:00 p.m., daylight saving time, which was in force in the Province of Newfoundland on the date of the election, instead of at 9:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. that time, contrary to the provisions of paragraph (12) of Section 2 and of subsection (5) of Section 31 of the Canada Elections Act, and that as a result seven hundred and eighty-five voters may have been deprived of the right to vote during the statutory voting period and thereby the result of the election may have been affected. Sections 2 (12) and 31 (5), read together, provide that the polling stations shall be opened at the hour of 8:00 o'clock in the forenoon and kept open until 7:00 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, standard time, which would be 9:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. daylight saving time. Counsel quite properly agreed that this was so, and there was no dispute that in the Divisions in question the polling stations had closed prior to 8:00 p.m., daylight saving time, at the election, except, as will appear later, in Divisions 6 and 14.

The petition was filed on August 13, 1968. Particulars were filed on September 3, 1968, following an order made by Mr. Justice Mifflin on August 26, 1968. The particulars showed the time, known in all but three instances, that the polling station, which we shall call the "poll" from now on, was opened in each of the Divisions concerned, and the names of the voters, known to the petitioner on September 3, 1968, who tried to vote after 7:00 p.m., daylight saving time, at their respective polls and were unable to gain admittance to the poll. There were two in Division 5, one in 7, one in 8, five in 9, two in 10, one in 11, two in 13, two in 15, and one in 39, seventeen in all. The particulars did not deal with five of the Divisions referred to in the petition, but at the hearing evidence was given of additional voters being unable to vote after 7:00 p.m., daylight saving time, in all of the Divisions except 6 and 14. From now on all references to time will be to daylight saving time unless some other time is specified. Leaving out the voters in Divisions 6 and 14, the number of voters on the list of voters for the twelve other Divisions was 1756, of whom 1061 voted and 695 did not vote. Division 17 is about one hundred and seventy miles by road north of Corner Brook, the seat of the Returning Officer, and the distance from Division 17 north to Division 5 is about seventeen miles. Most of the men in the latter Divisions are fishermen, but not all were at home on election day; for example, two crews, totalling nine men, were away fishing on the Labrador Coast. And polling day was not a good day, so far as the weather was concerned, being damp and misty. But it was a good day otherwise, there being "a nice lot" of fish being caught, so much that in some settlements both the men and the women were busy working at the fish until 9:00 or 10:00 o'clock on election night, and, for this reason, some of them did not find it convenient to vote before 7:00 p.m. Those who voted took time out to change their clothes and go to the poll. Division 39 is about eighty miles by road north west of Corner Brook.

In the relevant Divisions, other than Divisions 6 and 14, all the polls opened at 8:00 a.m., but eight closed at 7:00 p.m., one at 7:10 p.m., one at 7:30 p.m., and two between 7:15 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. No evidence was given in respect of Division 6, and the poll in Division 14 opened at 8:45 a.m., one quarter of an hour earlier than it should have opened, but did not close until 8:00 p.m., the proper time for closing. In those Divisions where the polls opened at 8:00 a.m. and closed at various times between 7:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. the Deputy Returning Officers made no distinction between daylight saving time and standard time, even though the instructions issued to Deputy Returning Officers from the office of the Chief Electoral Officer say that the hours of the day for opening and closing the poll—8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.—relate to standard time. In each Division, other than Division 14, in which there were two polls, there was only one poll and this served the voters in, usually, two or three other settlements which were, in some cases, a half mile to one mile away from the poll. It would appear that most of the residents in the settlements had some means for conveyance but in at least one case two people, who lived a mile away from the polling station, and who said they intended to vote between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m., had no means of conveyance; and others had to await the return of a conveyance in which others had already gone to the poll.

Fifty-five witnesses were called on behalf of the petitioner, one of whom was the petitioner himself, one was a poll clerk, one was a C.N.T. operator, thirteen were the Deputy Returning Officers for the relevant Divisions, twenty-four were voters who had tried to vote after 7:00 p.m. but were not allowed to vote, twelve were voters who said that they would have voted if the polls had remained open until 8:00 p.m., but who had been told that these polls had closed at various times between 7:00 p.m., and 7:30 p.m., and three were persons who had voted. There were thirteen other persons, not called as witnesses, who had also been told that the poll had closed at 7:00 p.m. or shortly afterwards, but we do not know if they had intended to vote or not. As we have already said, as at September 3, 1968, when particulars were filed, the petitioner named only seventeen persons who had tried to vote and were unable to do so because the poll was closed, but only fifteen of these were called as witnesses, and since that time, and these were called as witnesses, he has added twenty-one to that list—thirty-six in all. If we add to this total all of those referred to in the evidence, whether or not we know they had intended to vote, who were told that the poll had closed at various times between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. and if we assume that all of them would have voted we would add twenty-three more. This makes a grand total of fifty-nine. It can be seen that this number of voters is only just over one-fifth of Mr. Marshall's majority of 283.

The only witness called on behalf of the respondent was the Returning Officer for the District. There were 33,200 voters on the list for the District, of whom 22,365 voted in the election, just over sixty-seven percent. He said that the returns from the various Divisions began to come in to his office in Corner Brook between 8:05 and 8:10 p.m., the first count coming from Corner Brook itself. He remembered receiving a telephone call from Division 9 at Flower's Cove just before 7:45 p.m. He told the caller that the booth was not to close until 8:00 p.m. and that the ballots which had been counted should be put back into the ballot box and the box resealed, and the station should then re-open and remain open until 8:00 p.m. The Deputy Returning Officer followed those instructions and, as a result one person, of the six who first had tried to vote after 7:00 p.m., came back and voted, but the other five could not be reached. The Returning Officer did not get a telegram from Canadian National Telegraphs from any Division in the District until 8:30 p.m., but this was not to be taken as showing that none of the messages had been filed before 8:00 p.m. He said quite positively that no count was taken by telephone before 8:00 p.m. Many of the reports were sent in by telegram but the bulk were received by telephone.

This matter, in our view, hinges on the interpretation of Section 83 of the Canada Election Act, and it is only the first sentence of that section which is relevant:

83. No election shall be declared invalid by reason of non-compliance with the provisions of this act as to limitations of time unless it appears to the tribunal having cognizance of the question that such non-compliance may have affected the result of the election,

Counsel agreed, and we think it is so, that the rest of the section is not relevant to this matter because it does not deal with limitations of time. We were told that, as a matter of fact, in some of the older statutes of England, from which it would appear that the Canada Elections Act evolved, the first part of section 83, which we have quoted above, was a section unto itself and the last part of the present section 83 was a separate section. Counsel also agreed, and again we think it is so, that the early opening and closing of the polls concerned in this matter is a non-compliance with a provision of the Act—Section 31 (5)—as to limitation of time and therefore comes within the first part of section 83. In addition, section 70 (2) provides that it shall be deemed to be a non-compliance with the Act to do or omit to do any act that results in the reception of a vote which should not have been cast or in the non-reception of a vote which should have been cast. And counsel further agreed that the early closing of polls is not, without more, a sufficient ground for declaring an election invalid; it must appear that the early closing may have affected the result of the election before the election is to be declared invalid. The only questions, therefore, are as to the meaning of “result of the election”, and whether or not the non-compliance here “may have affected the result of the election.”

No one suggested that the Deputy Returning Officers in the Divisions concerned deliberately opened and closed the polls at the wrong time. On the contrary, it was accepted on all sides that the early opening and closing of those polls was an honest mistake and due solely to a non-appreciation of the distinction between standard time and daylight saving time on the day of the election. In doing what they did the Deputy Returning Officers concerned were acting in good faith and without any intention on the part of any one of them to affect the result of the election by trying deliberately to prevent anyone from voting who was qualified to vote.

Perhaps this is a good place to deal with the phrase “result of the election” in the relevant part of section 83. We do not feel it is necessary to discuss the cases cited on this point, beyond saying that we prefer the view of Mr. Justice O’Brien in the Clare case to that of Mr. Justice Grove in the Mackney case. As we see it, viewing it from a common sense point of view, the “result” of an election can mean only the election of one candidate over another. It cannot refer to the majority received by a candidate, because, obviously, cutting down that majority while leaving a majority, however small, affects the majority but does not affect the election of the candidate who has the majority. He remains the elected candidate.

It is from this point that Mr. Fagan asks us to travel the enticing, but very often disenchanting, road of assumption. In plain terms, he asked us to assume on the evidence that if the polls concerned had opened at 9:00 a.m. and closed at 8:00 p.m. a number of those who did not vote in the election would have voted and because they did not vote the result of the election "may" have been affected. In other words, he asks us to assume that more than 283 voters—Mr. Marshall's majority—might have voted and by doing so might have changed the vote that Mr. Batten received—I do not think we need consider Mr. Hillyard's vote—so as to give him the greatest number of votes of the three candidates and thus to make him the elected candidate. Mr. Fagan says that it is more reasonable to assume this than to assume that some number short of 283 might have voted so that the result would not have been affected. Mr. Fagan also put it this way, that the question is whether or not the early closing of the polls interfered, in the circumstances here, with the rights of the voters in the relevant Divisions by preventing some and deterring others from voting to such an extent that the majority of the voters in the District may not have been able to vote for the candidate of their choice and that, therefore, the result of the election may have been affected. He points out that a number of people have appeared as witnesses, some of whom said that they tried to vote but could not because the poll had closed early, and others of whom said that they did not vote because they had been told the poll had closed at or after 7:00 p.m. and before 8:00 p.m., which was the hour within which they had intended to vote, and he says that many others might have been deterred by being told or by hearing in some other way that the poll had closed prior to 8:00 p.m., before they were ready to vote. He does not say that all who heard of the early closing had intended to vote but he says that such information would have spread rapidly in small communities and a great number may have been deterred. He adds that it is reasonable to assume that if thirty-six persons who had intended to vote came as witnesses, there might have been others who did not come forward but who had intended to vote after 7:00 p.m., sufficient in number that the result of the election may have been affected.

To the suggestion that if any great number had been prevented or deterred from voting, who really wished to vote, and had felt their rights had been interfered with, a cloud of witnesses would have appeared. Mr. Fagan answers that perhaps they did not wish to be mixed up in the case. If that is so, the petitioner is the one who suffers but unfortunately no one can do anything about it. As against that, two witnesses who tried to vote said that they had heard over the radio or had read in a paper that the poll would close at 8:00 p.m. In our view, if they heard or read that, then those other witnesses who attempted to vote after 7:00 p.m. and those who intended to vote but did not attempt to when told after 7:00 p.m. that the poll had closed at 7:00 p.m. or later but before 8:00 p.m., must have heard it or read it or known it some other way, because, obviously, they must have intended to go to the poll between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.; and there were a few others who said that they had intended to vote a short time before 8:00 p.m. because they thought 8:00 p.m. was the usual closing time of the polls. If they had known or had thought that the poll closed at 7:00 p.m. then, presumably, they would have voted before 7:00 p.m. assuming, of course, that it was convenient to go before that hour. As we have seen, it was not convenient for some. In those circumstances, in our view, it is reasonable to assume that many others knew, by some means or other, that the poll should not close until 8:00 p.m. Yet, if only thirty-six of the people who did not vote came forward to say that they would have voted if the poll had remained open until 8:00 p.m. it would be reasonable, we think, to assume that all or nearly all of those who intended to vote between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. in the Divisions in question have been accounted for. If there were any more they would have come forward when they heard that the petition was taken or would have made themselves known to the petitioner or to his advisers or to some other voter who made himself known. In short, all or nearly all of those who intended to vote between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. would have come to the knowledge of the petitioner or his advisers in one way or another; they could not have remained hidden. If others did not come forward to say they had intended to vote between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. then in our view, it is reasonable to assume that they did not intend to vote between those hours.

As we have already indicated, there were only sixty people, at the most, witnesses and those only referred to in the evidence, who, if we may put it this way, had either gone to the poll after 7:00 p.m. and were told it was closed, or had intended to go but had been told after 7:00 p.m. it was closed and thus did not go to the poll, or were told after 7:00 p.m. that the poll had closed but who did not appear as witnesses to say whether or not they had intended to vote. It cannot be denied that this number "could" not, let alone "may" not, have affected the result of the election. Even if all of them, or four times as many, had voted and had all voted for Mr. Batten the result of the election could not have been affected, even though Mr. Marshall's majority may have been greatly reduced. Only thirty-six intended voters appeared as witnesses. On what basis, then, are we to assume that if the polls in question had remained open until 8:00 p.m. sufficient additional voters would have voted so that the result of the election may have been affected, that is, that Mr. Batten may have been elected instead of Mr. Marshall? It must be remembered that two hundred and eighty-three additional people would be needed, all voting for Mr. Batten, before Mr. Marshall's majority would have been reduced to nil so that each would then start off on equal terms to vie for a majority of the remaining four hundred and twelve votes.

The witnesses left us with the distinct impression of a lack of activity, rather than a 'last minute rush', at the Divisions in question between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. As examples of this lack of activity is the situation at Division 39, where, according to the evidence of the Deputy Returning Officer, only one person tried to vote after 7:00 p.m. and that person came to the Division at 7:45 p.m.; the situation at Division 11, where one person came to vote after 7:00 p.m. and that person came at 7:55 p.m.; the situation at Division 12, where the Deputy Returning Officer had the votes counted and was on his way to the C.N.T. office to send his report to the Returning Office at Corner Brook when he met a person who wished to vote and returned to the poll and voted that person at between 7:15 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; and the situation at Division 17, where the Deputy Returning Officer kept the station open until 7:30 p.m. awaiting the arrival of a person who, he had heard, wanted to vote.

If the majority here had been comparatively small, say around fifty, there might have been some reason, on the evidence, for asking us to make the assumptions suggested by Mr. Fagan. But the majority is two hundred and eighty-three, not an inconsiderable majority when we remember that the total number of persons on the voter's list who did not vote in the twelve polls under consideration was only six hundred and ninety-five, even if we assume a 100% poll. On the evidence, therefore, we feel that it would be unreasonable and unwarranted to conclude that, if the polls in question had remained open until 8:00 p.m. instead of closing at 7:00 p.m. or between that hour and 8:00 p.m., additional persons would have voted in such numbers and in such manner that the result of the election may have been affected. There were many factors which would have militated against people voting in such numbers in those particular Divisions only as compared with the rest of the District—the weather, distance from the poll, lack of transportation, being busy at work, and so on, of which there is evidence before us.

We have considered the cases cited by counsel but we do not consider that it is necessary to deal with them all. Mr. Fagan cited the Mackney case (1875) J.P. Rep. 151; In re Pounder (1892) 19 Ont. A.R. 684; Woodward v. Sarsons (1874) L.R. 10 C.P. 743; and Boyle v. Telfer (1943) 46 W.A.L.R. 2, and dealt with some of those cited by Mr. Browne, whose list was: Macpherson: Election Law of Canada; Rogers on Elections, 15th ed., Vol. 3; the Colchester case (1789) 1 Peck. 503; the Limerick case (1833) Par. & K. 355; the Drogheda case 2 O'M & N. 201; Halsbury 3rd ed. Vol. 14 p. 149 para. 261; Woodward v. Sarsons (1874) L.R. 10 C.P. 743; the Warrington case 1 O'M & H. 42; The Akaroa Election Petition (1891) 10 W.Y.L.R. 158; The Clare Eastern Division case (1892) 4 O'M & M. 162; and the West Division of Islington case (1901) 5 O'M & N. 120. We think that it will be sufficient to refer to Woodward v. Sarsons and The Akaroa Election Petition.

Mr. Fagan pointed out that in the cases cited the relevant statute read “did not affect . . .” or words to that effect, rather than, as in this case “may have affected . . .”. He said he had been unable to find a Canadian case precisely on the point in issue here, that is, that the time of opening and closing the polls “may” have affected the result of the election. Be that as it may, we feel that, as the following quotation will show, Woodward v. Sarsons cover also the case where there was reasonable ground for believing that a majority “might” have been prevented from electing the candidate they preferred, that is, that the result of the election might have been affected. In the Woodward case, from which extensive quotations appear in the Akaroa case, Lord Coleridge said, at page 743:

“... we are of the opinion that the true statement is that an election is to be declared void by the common law applicable to parliamentary elections, if it was so conducted that the tribunal which is asked to avoid it is satisfied, as a matter of fact, either that there was no real electing at all, or that the election was not really conducted under the subsisting election laws. As to the first, the tribunal should be so satisfied, i.e., that there was no real electing by the constituency at all, if it were proved to its satisfaction that the constituency had not in fact had a fair and free opportunity of electing the candidate whom the majority might prefer. This would certainly be so, if a majority of the electors were proved to have been prevented from recording their votes effectively according to their own preference, by general corruption or general intimidation, or by being prevented from voting by want of the machinery necessary for so voting, as by polling stations being demolished, or not opened, or by other of the means of voting according to law not being supplied or supplied with such errors as to render the voting by means of them void, or by fraudulent counting of votes or false declaration of numbers by a Returning Officer, or by other such acts or mishaps. And we think the same result should follow if, by reason of any such or similar mishaps, the tribunal, without being able to say that a majority had been prevented, should be satisfied that there was reasonable ground to believe that a majority of the electors may have been prevented from electing the candidate they preferred. But, if the tribunal should only be satisfied that certain of such mishaps had occurred, but should not be satisfied either that a majority had been, or that there was reasonable ground to believe that a majority might have been, prevented from electing the candidate they preferred, then we think that the existence of such mishaps would not entitle the tribunal to declare the election void by the common law of Parliament."

That quotation was used with approval in Howley vs. Campbell (1939) D.L.R. at page 438, a decision of the Nova Scotia Court of Appeal, though not on the point in issue in the present case. With respect, we think the quotation sets out the rule by which the present case is to be decided because what happened here comes within the first branch of the rule, the question being, was there a real election. It was not within the second branch, an election that "was not really conducted under the subsisting election laws," that is, the Canada Elections Act. Lord Coleridge gave as an example of that kind of an election the case where a constituency voted but not by ballot where the election laws called for an election by ballot. Lord Coleridge, having stated the rule, then went on to say, at page 745:

"If the rule be as thus stated, then the next question is, whether we can say, upon the facts disclosed in the present case, that a majority of the electors have been, or that there is reasonable ground to believe that a majority may have been, by misconduct or error of the presiding officers prevented from recording their votes with effect."

The Court in the Akaroa case, having considered the Woodward case and several others then proceeded, at pages 164 and 165:

"Adopting, therefore, the language of Woodward v. Sarsons, the question in the present case is whether we can say, upon the facts disclosed, that a majority of the electors have been, or that there is reasonable ground to believe that a majority may have been, prevented from recording their votes by reason of ten out of the eleven polling booths having been closed at 6 p.m. instead of at 7 p.m. There is no duty imposed on the Returning Officer to notify in any way when the poll closes. It is assumed that the voters will themselves know the legal hour. Had there been such a duty, and had an erroneous intimation of the hour of closing been officially made, we might have had to consider the case of voters who might have been unable to vote before six, and who might have been deterred by the erroneous official intimation from voting at all. Such cases might have caused considerable difficulty. As the case stands, the error could only have affected those persons who, after six o'clock, either presented themselves at a polling-place for the purpose of voting, or who, intending to do so, were informed that the polling places had closed. Had the majority in favour of the successful candidate been small it may well be that, without any evidence on the part of the petitioner, the possibility of such cases having occurred would have induced such an amount of reasonable doubt as to their possible effect on the result of the election as would have made it necessary for the respondent to give evidence. In that case, if he failed in showing facts negating the reasonable possibility of the result having been affected, the Court might have felt compelled to hold the election void. But the majority in the present case is 107. Sitting as judges of fact, and applying, in the words of one of the English Judges, one's common-sense to the circumstances of the case, it does not appear to us, on the petitioner's case, to be reasonably possible that that number, or anything remotely approaching that number, of voters could have been prevented from recording their votes by the irregularity complained of."

And, at pages 165 and 166, the Court goes on:

"At the present election a paper extensively circulated in the district mentioned six as the hour at which the poll closed. There is therefore every reason to think that six o'clock would be generally considered as the closing hour. We think it, therefore, extremely improbable that any appreciable number of voters could have come to the conclusion that they could vote from six to seven, and were prevented from doing so by the closing of the polling-places. If such had been the case, we are satisfied that abundant evidence of the fact could have been easily obtainable. The petitioner did produce one case, that of three brothers, who stated, we believe truly, that they were informed that the hour was seven and were prevented from recording their votes by the improper closing of the poll. But if a number equal to 10 percent, of the actual voters at the ten polling-places in question, or anything like such a number, believed they were entitled to vote after six o'clock, intended so to vote, and were prevented by finding or being informed that the polling-places were closed, the fact must have been a matter of public notoriety. Assuming them to be equally divided, there must have been a considerable number at each polling-place, or assuming, as would be more likely, they were unequally distributed, there must have been a considerable number at some one or other polling-place. They must in many cases have been seen by others and by each other, and have talked of the matter. Even if they had at the time assumed that they and not the Returning Officer had been in error as to the proper time of closing, yet the initiation of the present proceedings has given public notice of the irregularity, and must have informed them that there was at least ground for saying that they had been improperly prevented from voting. It is obviously absurd to suppose that a large number of voters have learned that they were, or at least have good grounds for believing that they were, disfranchised by the wrongful act of the Returning Officer without their taking advantage of this opportunity of having the injury redressed. We know no reason why people who have suffered by the error should not have come forward to say so, and no reason why the petitioner's advisers should not have availed themselves of the information. We know enough of the spirit evoked by a closely-contested election, and by an election petition, to justify us in saying that the difficulty in inducing witnesses to come forward is not one which is usually complained of."

We have received great assistance from the Akaroa case and we adopt the reasoning of the Court in the two quotations we have used from it.

Because of the wording of section 83 "no election shall be declared invalid by reason of non-compliance...unless it appears...that such non-compliance may have affected the result of the election", the burden of proof is on the petitioner to show that by the early closing of the twelve polls in question the result of the election may have been affected. In our view, the petitioner has not discharged that burden. On the contrary, on the evidence adduced from the petitioner's own witnesses, and the impression left with us by them, there is, in our view, no other acceptable conclusion than that there is no reasonable ground for believing that the result of the election may have been affected by reason of the non-compliance with the provisions of the Canada Elections Act that is present in this case, that is, the closing at various times between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. of the twelve polls which should have been kept open until 8:00 p.m.

We, therefore, declare that the election of a member to the House of Commons held in the District of Humber-St. George's-St. Barbe on the 25th day of June, 1968, was valid, and that Jack Marshall was, and is, the duly elected member.

The petitioner must pay the costs of the respondent.

Mr. Forest, Parliamentary Secretary to the President of the Privy Council, laid before the House,—Returns to the foregoing Orders.

Written notice having been given to Mr. Speaker, the honourable Member for Mackenzie (Mr. Korchinski) from his place in the House, asked leave under Standing Order 26, to move the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a specific and important matter requiring consideration and stated the subject to be: "the virtual bottleneck and paralysis in wheat movement in Vancouver harbour, due to the failure of the government to work with the railways in scheduling box-cars for this purpose; a situation which has already produced the loss of a 17,000 ton contract and may result in the loss of others; which has produced damaging economic loss as some ships have been tied up for as long as a month paying demurrage charges as high as $2,500. a day; which has brought about stagnation in the movement of wheat at a critical time for Western farmers; and where the government, in the person of the minister yesterday, refused to take action".

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The honourable Member for Mackenzie (Mr. Korchinski) has given notice as required by Standing Order 26 of his intention to move the adjournment of the House to discuss the matter raised in his proposed motion.

As honourable Members know, the provisions of Standing Order 26 have been radically altered in the new rules of procedure of the House of Commons. Under the terms of paragraph 5 of Standing Order 26, in determining whether a matter should be given urgent consideration, the Chair takes into account the extent to which the proposition concerns the administrative responsibilities of the government or would come within the scope of ministerial action, and also the probability of the matter being brought before the House within a reasonable time by other means. Additionally, the Chair must have regard to other considerations, many of which have been established as the practice of the House in previous years, before the enactment of the present Standing Orders.

The question raised by the honourable Member, it seems to me, does concern the administrative responsibilities of the government.

As far as the opportunity for the question being raised before the House within a reasonable time by other means is concerned, the Chair must have in mind the fact that in the present state of its business the House is not likely to have available certain opportunities which on previous occasions would have provided a vehicle for a debate on this question. As an example, there is no current debate in respect to the Speech from the Throne. We learned from the Minister of Finance yesterday that there is some uncertainty whether or not there will be a budget debate within the near future, and the estimates are not likely to be tabled until some time in February.

There is another matter which I think may be of some importance and that has to do with the alteration in circumstances surrounding emergency debates before the enactment of the current Standing Order 26. Before the present order was brought into force, in considering motions to adjourn under Standing Order 26 the Chair always had to weigh the importance of the proposed motion against the necessity of setting aside government business for the day, and it was much more difficult to justify the granting of a motion under Standing Order 26 when that would have the result of delaying current important public business. To a considerable extent the revised Standing Order 26 reduces the relative significance of this factor.

In deciding whether or not to allow the motion the Chair must, of course, take into account the actual problem sought to be discussed. Is it of national importance and is it urgent?

In my opinion the new circumstances indicated by the questions asked in the House yesterday, by the concern expressed by the Minister himself when replying to these questions, and by the honourable Member's statement, indicate that a strong case can be made in favour of the proposed motion, on the ground of urgency of debate.

Therefore, I am inclined to put the question to the House in accordance with the Standing Order for the reasons stated; that the matter is important, that there is urgency of debate, that the opportunity for debate within a reasonable time is restricted, and that public business is not impeded.

The question before the House is the following one: Has the honourable Member leave to move the motion for the purpose of discussing the matter stated by him?

And the honourable Member having obtained leave of the House for the purpose of discussing the stated matter, Mr. Speaker, pursuant to section (9) of Standing Order 26, directed that the proposed motion stand over until 8.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

Ordered,—That there be laid before this House copies of any maps and diagrams in the possession of the Department of Transport which show what changes will result in noise levels in the surrounding inhabited areas should plans for the expansion of Toronto International Airport be carried out.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 35—Mr. Diefenbaker).

Ordered,—That there be laid before this House a copy of all letters, communications, reports, memoranda or other data in respect of an agreement between the Government of Canada or the National Harbours Board, or any other agency or department of Government, on the one hand, and the Kaiser Corporation on the other.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 36—Mrs. MacInnis).

Notices of Motions for the Production of Papers Nos. 38, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 62 and 63 were allowed to stand at the request of the government.

Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 40, as follows: That an Order of the House do issue for a copy of a document entitled "Local Government on Indian Reserves" prepared by the Policy and Planning Directorate of the Indian Affairs Branch, dated August 4, 1967, having been called was, at the request of the honourable Member for Skeena (Mr. Howard), transferred by the Clerk to the order of "Notices of Motions (Papers)" pursuant to Standing Order 48(1).

The House resumed debate on the motion, as amended, of Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. Basford,—That Bill C-151, An Act to amend the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Fisheries and Forestry.

After further debate the question being put on the said motion, as amended, it was agreed to.

After debate thereon, Mr. Speaker declared the motion carried.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I wish to thank honourable Members who have taken part in the procedural debate—the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen), the honourable Member for Calgary North, the honourable Member for Cardigan, and the honourable Ministers—who were good enough to enlighten the Chair on the important point of order raised this afternoon and this evening by the honourable Member for Calgary North. The Chair particularly appreciates the consideration shown by the honourable Member for Calgary North in giving early notice of his intended amendment. I am not sure whether this has helped his cause or not, but at any rate it provided an opportunity to study the main aspects of the interesting procedural point raised by the proposed amendment.

It is hardly necessary to remind honourable Members that the Chair cannot rule on the merits of the honourable Member's proposal as opposed to the method supported by the Minister in the presentation of the bill. It is not for the Chair to determine whether it is proper or appropriate or politic for the government to present this legislation in the form of an omnibus bill. The only ruling which is within the competence of the Chair is whether the honourable Member's amendment is procedurally correct and acceptable at this stage.

What we have to determine is whether it is possible under our rules to move an amendment at this stage which in effect is an instruction to a committee, and whether the effect of this amendment, if allowed, would constitute an instruction to divide or split the bill.

The honourable Member for Calgary North argued at length this afternoon, and with great force, that honourable Members should not be called upon to vote for or against a motion which contains two or more distinct propositions. The bill would then be divided in so many different motions so that the sense of the House could be taken on each of the propositions individually.

The many aspects of the division of a complicated question were discussed and subsequently ruled on by Mr. Speaker Macnaughton during the flag debate. As pointed out a moment ago by the honourable Member for Yukon, on that occasion Mr. Speaker did divide the complicated resolution which was then before the House for consideration. However, as honourable Members know, and as was indicated, I believe, by the Minister of Justice in the course of his argument in support of his own point of view, what was before the House when Mr. Speaker Macnaughton reached his decision was not a straight forward motion for the reading of a bill but a complex motion. The purpose of the amendment was to divide a resolution; it was not an amendment to divide a bill. I am not forgetting the very important point raised by the honourable Member for Cardigan in this regard to which I will come to in a moment.

There may, of course, be considerable justification for dividing a complicated question stated in a motion as distinct from a bill, because such a motion is essentially a one step proceeding with the Speaker in the Chair. There is then no opportunity for the House to consider and to vote separately and individually on the propositions which constitute the proposed resolution.

Again I repeat that the procedural position is entirely different in the case of a motion for the second reading of a bill. As I stated at the outset, a close scrutiny of precedents and authorities, I suggest to honourable Members in all humility, leads to the conclusion that a motion to divide a bill by way of an instruction to a committee cannot be entertained at this particular stage of the House's proceedings.

In fact, Standing Order 74(1) precludes such a motion. It reads as follows: "Every public bill shall be read twice and referred to a committee before any amendment may be made thereto."

There are well accepted forms that can be used to amend not the bill itself but the motion for second reading of the bill. In particular, it is open to honourable Members to move a reasoned amendment; that is, a resolution declaratory of some principle adverse to or differing from the principles, policy or provisions of the bill, or otherwise opposing the progress of the bill. The amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Calgary North, as he has said himself, is not a reasoned amendment but an instruction to the committee to which the bill is to be referred.

On this point, I would like to refer honourable Members to citation 222 of Beauchesne's fourth edition, which deals with the division of bills by instructions to a committee. The citation reads, in part: "The right theory is not that the instruction should be given whilst the bill is still in the possession of the House, but rather after it has come in the possession of the committee."

There is, of course, an opportunity to vote on individual propositions when the bill is considered in committee. I readily recognize the objection raised to this point by the honourable Member for Yukon, the honourable Member for Cardigan and the honourable Member for Calgary North. It is not the same thing to vote on the individual propositions in committee as to vote against or for the individual propositions in the House itself.

However, what is much more significant is that under the new Standing Orders the House itself—as distinct from the committee—is given an opportunity to debate, to amend, to oppose or to reject any particular clause of a bill. This is the point that has been made by the President of the Privy Council. This new procedure is made possible under the provisions of Standing Order 75. Thus, every proposition in a bill can be submitted to the House itself for the purpose of obtaining a direct and specific vote on any individual proposition. This decision is taken by the house as distinct from the committee, and it seems to me that in some measure this answers the objection raised by the honourable Member for Yukon.

The honourable Member for Calgary North has advanced the suggestion that the significance of second reading has been altered by the new rules, and he expounded this view in a very interesting way this afternoon. Although this is not clear from the rules themselves, I would think this is a fair interpretation of the new relevant standing orders. The vote on second reading is less a vote on the principle of the bill and more a decision of the house to send the bill on for further consideration at subsequent stages of proceedings. If this interpretation is correct, it seems it should now be even less difficult for honourable Members to vote either for or against the main motion, since such vote would not constitute either approval of, or opposition to, the principle of the several propositions contained in the omnibus bill.

In view of the precedents, citations and rules by which the Chair is bound, I must therefore conclude that the honourable Member's motion cannot be put to the House at this time. In reaching this decision, I am somewhat comforted, as I pointed out, by the fact that the new rules of the House will make it possible for honourable Members to achieve, to some extent at least, a similar result by taking advantage of the report stage proceedings of the revised Standing Orders of the House.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Turner (Ottawa-Carleton), seconded by Mr. Greene,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act; be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs.

One petition for a Private Bill was presented in accordance with Standing Order 67(1).

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: As honourable Members know, last Thursday the Government House Leader announced the anticipated order of business for this week and, in accordance with his forecast, Wednesday and Thursday were set aside for the purpose of considering an opposition motion.

A question of procedure has arisen in that under a special order of the House the sitting is suspended tomorrow, Tuesday, January 28, in order to enable honourable Members to participate in the work of the various standing committees.

Subsection 4(a) of Standing Order 58 provides as follows: "Twenty-four hours' written notice shall be given of an opposition motion on an allotted day or of a notice to oppose any item in the estimates."

The question that has arisen is whether or not the notice referred to in the standing order can be filed on a day when the sitting of the House is suspended. In my opinion it is open to honourable Members to file their notices tomorrow or, indeed, on any day when the sitting of the House is suspended as distinct from being adjourned. I would advance the following reasons for adopting this attitude.

In the first place, the standing order itself states that 24 hours' written notice shall be given. A similar provision is also to be found in subsection 5 of Standing Order 75 for the filing of notice of amendments to be considered at the report stage of bills. It seems to me it should be open to honourable Members to file notices of their questions for the Order Paper and notices of motions or bills they may have in mind; and, generally, it should also be open to the government to file their notices without losing the day. There is also the desirability of placing honourable Members' questions on the Order Paper so that they may be circulated to the various government departments concerned without unnecessary loss of time.

In reaching this conclusion I would make the general observation that the House is not in adjournment; its sitting is merely suspended so that honourable Members may attend to their committee responsibilities.

In order to conform with the proposed changes Votes and Proceedings will be printed tomorrow in a revised format. There will be no Order Paper on Tuesday but Wednesday's Order Paper and Hansard will be renumbered to reflect the new procedure.

Mrs. MacInnis, seconded by Mr. Mather, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-161, An Act respecting Human Rights, which was read the first time and ordered to be printed and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Pursuant to Standing Order 39(4), the following six Questions were made Orders of the House for Returns:

2. How many permits for importation of Charolais were issued, and who were they issued to in the years 1966, 1967 and 1968?
3. How many permits were issued to Canadians for the export of Charolais cattle to the U.S.A. or any other country in the years 1966, 1967 and 1968 and to whom and how many permits were issued in each case for the years mentioned?
4. How many temporary permits and to whom were they issued in the years 1966, 1967 and 1968 for the purpose of showing Charolais cattle in U.S.A. show rings and for breeding purposes?

Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), from the Special Committee appointed to prepare and report lists of Members to compose certain Standing Committees of the House, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which was read as follows:

Your Committee recommends that the Standing Committee on Procedure and Organization be composed of the following Members: Messrs. Aiken, Blair, Deachman, Fairweather, Forest, Jerome, Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), Lambert (Edmonton West), Macdonald (Rosedale), MacEachen, Reid and Rondeau.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), seconded by Mr. Davis, the said Report was concurred in.

Mr. Beer, from the Standing Committee on Agriculture, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Tuesday, January 14, 1969, your Committee has considered Bill C-155, the Pesticide Residue Compensation Act, and has agreed to report it without amendment.

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence relating to this Bill (Issues Nos. 12, 13 and 14) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 22 to the Journals).

Mr. Beer, from the Standing Committee on Agriculture, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Tuesday, January 14, 1969, your Committee has considered Bill C-154, the Plant Quarantine Act, and has agreed to report it with the following amendment:

In Clause 7, Sub-clause 2, line 1, after the word "shall", insert the word "knowingly".

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence relating to this Bill (Issue No. 14) is tabled.

(A Copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report, recorded as Appendix No. 23 to the Journals).

Mr. Hales, from the Standing Committee on Public Accounts, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

The members of your Committee were appointed on October 8, 1968. Since that date a total of twelve meetings has been held.

On October 29, 1968, the House passed the following Order of Reference:

Ordered,—That the Public Accounts Volumes I, II and III for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1966, laid before the House on January 9, 1967, and the Report of the Auditor General thereon, and the Public Accounts Volumes I, II and III for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1967, laid before the House on January 22, 1968, and the Report of the Auditor General thereon, be referred to the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

In keeping with the tradition established in July 1958, your Committee elected a member of the opposition, Mr. A. D. Hales, as its Chairman. Mr. T. H. Lefebvre was elected Vice-Chairman. On November 7, 1968, it was announced that the Sub-Committee on Agenda and Procedure would consist of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman and Messrs. Cafik, Rodrigue and Winch.

Pursuant to the above order of reference, your Committee held two meetings to study the Follow-up Report by the Auditor General to the Standing Committee on Public Accounts on the action taken by departments and other agencies in response to recommendations made by the Committee. In view of the inability of your Committee to handle the heavy schedule which would have been involved at this time in examining the Reports made by the Auditor General to the House for the fiscal years ended March 31, 1966 and 1967, the members decided to postpone their examination of these matters until the Auditor General completes his Report to the House for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1968 and it is referred to the Committee. In the interim, your Committee has delegated a Sub-Committee consisting of Messrs. Allmand, Burton, Crouse and Rodrigue to study the use of Governor General's Special Warrants. To ease the burden placed upon your Committee by the House, it may become necessary to appoint other sub-committees.

Your Committee noted that as at October 31, 1968, the position of 55 outstanding Committee recommendations that had been reported to the House was commented upon by the Auditor General as follows:

| Category | Number |
|--|---------------|
| No action as yet | 20 |
| Executive has indicated disagreement with recommendation | 16 |
| Progress being made | 13 |
| Implemented | 2 |
| Soon to be implemented | 2 |
| Action taken not satisfactory | 1 |
| Withdrawn by the Public Accounts Committee | 1 |
| | <hr/> 55 |

Your Committee wishes to stress that if parliamentary control of public funds is to be effective, more prompt and effective action must be taken by Ministers, Deputy Ministers and other responsible government officials towards implementing your Committee's recommendations or a reasoned explanation given as to why such recommendations are not acceptable.

On November 18, 1968, the House passed the following Order of Reference:

Ordered,—That Booklets illustrating the proposed form of Estimates be referred to the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

In the period November 21, 1968 to January 23, 1969, your Committee held nine meetings to study the proposed new form of Estimates. At the first meeting on this order of reference, the President of the Treasury Board, Hon. C. M. Drury, assisted by Mr. S. S. Reisman, Secretary of the Treasury Board, made a statement to the Committee and appealed for suggestions.

During the course of the meetings, the following officers were in attendance and provided immeasurable assistance to your Committee:

From the Treasury Board:

Mr. Sylvain Cloutier, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Board;

Mr. J. G. Glashan, Director of Estimates and Supply Procedures Division;

And from the Auditor General's office:

Mr. A. M. Henderson, Auditor General;

Mr. G. R. Long, Assistant Auditor General.

In his introductory remarks on November 21, 1968, the President of the Treasury Board indicated that the 236 votes in the present Vote structure would, following the introduction of the revised form of Estimates, result in a reduction of approximately one hundred votes. The members agreed with the primary objective of the new form of Estimates which is to develop a meaningful and informative presentation of the votes of all departments and agencies. Concern was expressed over the reduction in the number of votes and the possible weakening of parliamentary control of public expenditure. Officials of the Treasury Board and Auditor General's staff collaborated in defining effective criteria as to the amounts and areas of spending which merited a separate vote of the House. These criteria are recommended by your Committee for use in determining the votes required under the proposed revised form of Estimates beginning 1970-71:

(1) In the revised Estimates, the proposed spending under a program is to be set forth under the three basic headings of

- (a) Administration, Operations and Maintenance (or operating costs);
- (b) Construction and Acquisition (or capital costs); and
- (c) Grants, Contributions and Subsidies,

so this information will be available to the members of the House in the same manner as seen in the example submitted to the Committee of the proposed form of estimates given for the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development regardless of whether there is to be one, two or three votes.

(2) Each department, agency or legal entity shall require one or more votes as the case may be.

(3) In all cases where agencies or Crown corporations are incurring a deficit or related deficits which must be covered by an appropriation, these will be the subject of a separate vote.

(4) The special circumstances surrounding any particular expenditure, e.g. Contingencies, Treasury Board Vote 5, be made the subject of a separate vote.

(5) As capital investment today can well mean increased Administrative cost tomorrow, spending proposals involving more than $5 million in total for Construction and Acquisition within a departmental program shall always be the subject of a separate vote.

(6) Grants, Contributions and Subsidies being of a special nature, therefore requiring a different type of consideration, will be the subject of a separate vote when the total within a departmental program exceeds $5 million.

It would be incumbent on the Auditor General to note the manner in which these criteria have been applied and to advise the House thereon in his next appropriate report.

Your Committee further recommends that, in addition to the criteria enunciated above,

- (a) explanatory notes accompany the votes to indicate the percentage increase in staff and the justification therefor;
- (b) the original cost estimate be provided wherever an increase occurs in construction programs.

The proposed new form of Estimates differs substantially from the current form and your Committee recommends that Treasury Board make available adequate explanations to all Members of Parliament on the background and details of this new procedure of presenting the Estimates.

Following extensive study of various methods of presenting the new form of Estimates and the production costs relating thereto, your Committee is of the opinion that the Estimates should take the form of a bilingual text available in bound books.

Recognizing the strides already taken towards the improvement of the Committee system, your Committee wishes to recommend that the officials of the House continue their efforts with particular emphasis given to the availability of the printed Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence. It is desirable that they be available in both languages on the day following a Committee meeting such as is done with Hansard.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 1 to 10 inclusive) is tabled.

(A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report, recorded as Appendix No. 24 to the Journals).

Mr. Trudel for Mr. Lessard (LaSalle), from the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee has considered Bills S-14, An Act to amend the Aeronautics Act, and S-19 An Act to amend the Navigable Waters Protection Act and has agreed to report them without amendment.

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence relating to these Bills (Issue No. 12) is tabled.

(A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report, recorded as Appendix No. 25 to the Journals).

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), seconded by Mr. Davis, it was ordered,—That the Standing Committee on Procedure and Organization be instructed, and hereby is instructed, to review the operation of the House under its present Standing Orders, and that, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, the Committee be, and hereby is instructed, to give special attention to (1) the way the several standing committees study the estimates (2) the means by which the position of the chairmen of the standing committees can be made somewhat more comparable to that of the Chairman of the Committees of the Whole House (3) the matter of ministerial attendance at the meetings of the standing committees, and (4) the means of meeting the need to make available to the standing committees stronger and more extensive support facilities.

Mr. Pelletier, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of a statement relating to the Canadian Corps of Commissioners. (English and French).

Mr. Hellyer, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of the Report of the Task Force on Housing and Urban Development—January, 1969. (English and French).

JOURNALS
OF THE
HOUSE OF COMMONS
OF CANADA

OTTAWA, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1969.

PRAYERS.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: On Thursday last the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) rose on a question of privilege in relation to the tabling of a report by the Secretary of State (Mr. Pelletier). When tabling the paper, the Secretary of State used the following words: "Mr. Speaker, I should like to table a report concerning the security agents in some of our national museums, which report constitutes a reply to the numerous questions put to me in the House in the last few days."

The report appears to have been presented to the House under Standing Order 41(2). The honourable Member for Peace River has expressed the view that the terms of the Standing Order are not sufficiently broad to include the tabling of that particular document. The honourable Member has been supported in his contention by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) and the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert).

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre has submitted the additional argument that the Secretary of State contravened the rules and practice of the House when he replied to oral questions by tabling the answer under the provisions of Standing Order 41(2). In reply to these objections, the Honourable President of the Privy Council (Mr. Macdonald) suggests that Standing Order 41(2) should be given a wide, rather than a restrictive, interpretation. The substance of the Minister's argument is summed up in the following words reported at page 4928 of Hansard of Thursday, January 30: "While Standing Order 41(1) is really quite precise as to the documents referred to, Standing Order 41(2) is in the broadest possible terms. It permits a Minister or a Parliamentary Secretary to lay on the Table of the House any report or other paper dealing with a matter coming within the administrative responsibilities of the government. I believe that the Chair should give the widest interpretation to those words."

Later on Thursday afternoon, after the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) had raised this question of privilege, the Minister of Finance (Mr. Benson) tabled a notice of motion to amend the Income Tax Act and the Estate Tax Act pursuant to Standing Order 60, subsection (1). Then, pursuant to Standing Order 41(2) he attempted to lay on the Table a document which the Minister described as "explaining the Ways and Means motion and giving some illustrations of the consequent changes in taxes". The honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert), supported in his views by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles), took exception to the procedure. The Chair then suggested that no further proceedings be taken and that the tabling be held in abeyance while the point of order and the previous question of privilege were being considered.

It is fitting to consider first the question of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) about the tabling of a document by the Secretary of State (Mr. Pelletier). The honourable Member, as well as others who supported his question of privilege, contend that the said document is not one which can be tabled under Standing Order 41(2). Secondly, they argue that the minister erred when he attempted to reply to questions put by some honourable Members by another method than that prescribed by the Standing Orders. After much thought, I must decide in favour of the honourable Members who questioned the procedure used, and especially the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) who raised the second objection.

According to the Standing Orders, a question put during the daily oral question period may be answered either by an oral answer, by an order for return or by a ministerial statement on motions. I must express the opinion that the new Standing Order 41(2) does not provide for the establishment of a new procedure for answering oral questions.

Therefore, I must conclude that the question of privilege was justified. I suggest to honourable Members that as far as answers to questions are concerned, Standing Order 41(2) should be given that interpretation.

I should like to consider now the procedural point raised in connection with the attempts by the Minister of Finance to table the memorandum to which I have already alluded. As honourable Members know, Standing Order 41(1) corresponds word for word with the previous rule, Standing Order 40, subsection (1). The Standing Order reads as follows: "Any return, report or other paper required to be laid before the House in accordance with any Act of Parliament or in pursuance of any resolution or Standing Order of this House may be deposited with the Clerk of the House on any sitting day, and such return, report or other paper shall be deemed for all purposes to have been presented to or laid before the House."

This rule, corresponding, as I have said, to the previous Standing Order 40(1) determines the class of documents or papers that must be tabled by a Minister pursuant to a statutory provision or to a Standing or other Order of the House.

The House has now adopted the additional Standing Order 41(2) which reads as follows: "A Minister of the Crown, or a Parliamentary Secretary acting on behalf of a Minister, may, in his place in the House, state that he proposes to lay upon the Table of the House, any report or other paper, dealing with a matter coming within the administrative responsibilities of the government and, thereupon, the same shall be deemed for all purposes to have been laid before the House."

The new Standing Order can be interpreted in only one of two ways; either it is intended to provide an additional method of tabling the papers described in Standing Order 41(1) or it is intended to provide a method to table documents other than those provided in 41(1). In my view, the second interpretation only is logical. Indeed, if Standing Order 41(2) means anything, it must be that it enlarges the class of papers which can be tabled by the government without notice and without leave.

The Chair is bound by the clear words of the rule to the effect that a Minister may table any report or other paper dealing with a matter coming within the administrative responsibilities of the government. So long as the report or paper deals with a matter which comes within the administrative responsibility of the government, and that the paper is an official document for which the Minister or Parliamentary Secretary accepts responsibility, it can be tabled pursuant to Standing Order 41(2).

If this interpretation of the rule results in the tabling of a type of papers or document which had not been contemplated by the procedure committee, it is of course open to the members of that committee to review the Standing Order and redraft it in a way which would justify a more restrictive interpretation. For the time being, the Chair would be inclined to accept for tabling papers or reports which deal with matters coming within administrative responsibility of the government and which are official papers in the sense that they are proposed to the House by a minister either directly or through his Parliamentary Secretary in the exercise of his ministerial responsibility.

Mr. Trudeau, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of (1) Report of the Continuing Committee of Officials to the Constitutional Conference, February 1969, together with a Briefing Paper on Discussions within the Continuing Committee of Officials.

No. 92

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1969.

2.00 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Laflamme, from the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Tuesday, December 10, 1968, your Committee had the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications under consideration, to determine the reason for the omission from the Report of a certain resolution adopted by that Committee, which Report was presented to the House on December 3, 1968.

This matter having been raised in the House as a question of privilege and the Speaker having ruled that there was a prima facie case of privilege, it remained for your Committee to decide:

1. If there was a question of privilege involved, and
2. The reason for the omission of the resolution referred to above.

Your Committee held four meetings and heard the following witnesses:

Mr. Antonio Plouffe, Chief of the Committees and Private Legislation Branch;

Mr. Robert Normand, Clerk of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications;

Mr. Gustave Blouin, M.P., former Chairman of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications;

Dr. Maurice Ollivier, Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel.

Your Committee reports that the reason for the omission is that it was never moved and concurred in that the said resolution adopted by the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications be part of its Second Report.

An Act which constitutes a breach of privilege being, inter alia, disrespect to the House, disobedience to its orders, or interference with its procedure, your Committee, in consequence of what has been said, is of the opinion that there has been no breach of privilege.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 3 to 5 inclusive) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 33 to the Journals).

Mr. Beer, from the Standing Committee on Agriculture, presented the Fifth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Tuesday, January 14, 1969, your Committee has considered Bill C-156, An Act to amend the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, and has agreed to report it without amendment.

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence relating to this Bill (Issues Nos. 15, 18 and 19) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 34 to the Journals).

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That on Friday, February 14, 1969, when “Government Orders” are called, the Right Honourable the Prime Minister will move that the House do adjourn for the purpose of discussing the Federal-Provincial Conference held earlier this week;

That no Member except the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition may speak for more than twenty minutes, provided that the first speaker of the other parties may speak for forty minutes;

That “Private Members’ Business” be suspended; and

That unless the motion has been disposed of earlier it shall be deemed to have been adopted at five o’clock p.m.

Mr. Mackasey, a Member of the Queen’s Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Authentic Text of a Recommendation adopted at the Fifty-Second Session of the International Labour Conference, held in Geneva June 25, 1968 (English and French) together with a copy of a letter from the Deputy Attorney General of Canada, setting out the legislative jurisdiction of this international instrument, as follows:

Recommendation No. 132 concerning the improvement of conditions of life and work of Tenants, Share-Croppers and similar categories of Agricultural Workers.

Mr. Kierans, a Member of the Queen’s Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Summary prepared by Mr. Justice André Montpetit for the Post Office Department and the Council of Postal Unions on certain recommendations contained in the Report of the Royal Commission of Inquiry into Working Conditions in the Post Office Department, dated at Montreal, January 27, 1969. (English and French).

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed Bill C-162, An Act to amend the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act, without amendment.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter:

GOVERNMENT HOUSE
OTTAWA

13th February 1969.

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that the Right Honourable J. R. Cartwright, P.C., M.C., Chief Justice of Canada, acting as Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General, will proceed to the Senate Chamber today, the 13th February, at 5.45 p.m. for the purpose of giving Royal Assent to certain Bills.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

LOUIS-FRÉMONT TRUDEAU,
Assistant Secretary to the Governor General.

The Honourable,

The Speaker of the House of Commons.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Turner (Ottawa-Carleton), seconded by Mr. Greene,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Latulippe, seconded by Mr. Lambert (Bellechasse), proposed to move in amendment thereto,—

That clause 13 of Bill C-150 be amended as follows:

That paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 179A be amended so as to read as follows:

“(b) for the government of a province or for a municipality, either alone or in conjunction with the said government of a province, to conduct or manage a lottery scheme in accordance with any law which could be enacted by the legislature of that province for any person in accordance with such law to do any thing described in any of the paragraphs (a) to (f) of subsection (1) or subsection (4) of section 179;”

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Before proceeding with the consideration of private members' business, will the house allow me to revert to the amendment moved earlier today by honourable Member for Compton (Mr. Latulippe)?

The Deputy Speaker then deemed advisable to take it under consideration. Since then, we thought the matter over and I am now ready to give a ruling.

First of all, I must advise the honourable Member that in order to be allowed on second reading, an amendment must not relate to particulars of the clause of the bill it seeks to amend or anticipate on those which might be moved in the standing committee that will consider the said bill.

As indicated in citation 382 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition, a member may, at the second reading stage, move a declaratory resolution of some principle adverse to those of the bill. Such is not the case here.

Citation 381 of the same author reads as follows:

On the motion for the second reading, it is out of order to discuss the clauses of the Bill.

Similar restrictions can be found in citations 388 and 389 of the same volume.

Therefore, for the reasons I have given, with the co-operation of my colleagues, I regret to say that the amendment moved by the honourable Member is out of order and unacceptable at this stage of debate on the bill.

[At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(4)]

(Private Bills)

The Order being read for the consideration of Bill S-6, An Act respecting The Canada Trust Company as reported without amendment, from the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs;

Mr. Saltsman, seconded by Mr. Peters, moved to amend the said bill as follows:

That Clause 1 be deleted.

And a point of order having been raised by the honourable Member for Grenville-Carleton (Mr. Blair) with regard to the said motion;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: There are considerations which the Chair cannot overlook, in particular the very words used in the Standing Order which indicate clearly that an honourable Member may do certain things at this stage of the proceedings, one of which is to move the deletion of a clause.

If the committee did not think this should apply to a bill which has only one clause it seems to me this should have been spelled out in some way by words or explanations. If the honourable Member for Grenville-Carleton (Mr. Blair) thinks that was not what was contemplated by the committee, this should be looked into. At this time we are trying to interpret the rules to the best of our joint abilities, by putting our heads together to decide in what way these rules can be interpreted reasonably. I see no possibility of interpreting this rule in any other way than what it clearly suggests.

The honourable Member has cited a number of interesting quotations from Beauchesne's and May's, but it is my understanding that the citations were based on precedents which did not occur at the same stage of consideration of a bill. That is my understanding of the citations from Beauchesne's and May's.

I should like honourable Members to consider this citation from May's seventeenth edition at page 566, dealing with a Report Stage which is substantially the same as we have under our new rules: "Amendments are moved to the bill, not to a particular clause, and amendments to leave out a clause, series of clauses or the preamble, are moved as amendments to the bill; and no question is put for each clause standing part of the bill."

In the Committee of the Whole the motion is to adopt a Clause. At that stage if an honourable Member moves an amendment that the Clause be deleted, it is an expanded negative. However, at the Report Stage there is no motion to adopt a Clause and a motion to delete stands by itself, so we have an absolute motion.

What the honourable Member is suggesting is not an amendment to a clause but a motion to amend or in effect modify the bill itself. For this reason I respectfully suggest to the honourable Member that the precedents to which he has referred are not applicable to this stage of the proceedings.

I might also say that I am worried about the possible consequence which would result from a decision that this motion is out of order. If there were three clauses to a bill and there were three motions moved by three honourable Members, each one of them feeling that for good reasons the particular clauses should be deleted, the Chair would then have to rule that these three motions, having as a consequence the loss of the bill, would not be acceptable. This example would indicate that it would be very difficult to make a distinction between a motion to amend a bill which contains only one clause and a motion to amend a bill which contains two, three or more clauses. For these reasons I would be inclined to think that the motion proposed by the honourable Member for Waterloo (Mr. Saltsman) should be accepted by the Chair.

I thank honourable Members for their valuable contributions. If it is felt that this interpretation of the rules results in difficulties, I suggest that honourable Members who take part in the deliberations of the procedure committee should give the situation further thought.

The Hour for Private Members' Business expired.

A Message was received from the Right Honourable J. R. Cartwright, P.C., M.C., Chief Justice of Canada, acting as Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General, desiring the immediate attendance of the House in the Senate Chamber.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker went with the House to the Senate Chamber.

And being returned;

Mr. Speaker reported that when the House did attend the Right Honourable the Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General in the Senate Chamber, His Honour was pleased to give, in Her Majesty's name, the Royal Assent to the following bills:

An Act to amend the Canada Evidence Act.

An Act respecting the marking of articles containing precious metals.

An Act to amend the Aeronautics Act.

An Act to amend the Navigable Waters Protection Act.

An Act to amend the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bills to which the concurrence of this House is desired:

Bill S-26, An Act to prohibit the advertising, sale and importation of hazardous products.—Mr. Basford.

Bill S-28, An Act to amend the Co-operative Credit Associations Act.—Mr. Benson.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Turner (Ottawa-Carleton), seconded by Mr. Greene,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs.

And debate continuing;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to Standing Order 40(1);

After debate the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Changes in Committee Membership

Notice having been filed with the Clerk of the House pursuant to Standing Order 65(4) (b), membership of Committees was amended as follows:

Mr. Barrett for Mr. Turner (London East) on the Standing Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. Sullivan for Mr. Deakon on the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Mr. Smith (Northumberland-Miramichi) for Mr. Ouellet on the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence.

Mr. Benjamin for Mr. Gilbert on the Standing Committee on National Resources and Public Works.

Messrs. Howard (Skeena) and Benjamin for Messrs. Skoberg and Schreyer on the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

At 10.20 o'clock p.m., the House adjourned until tomorrow at 11.00 o'clock a.m., pursuant to Standing Order 2(1).

ELECTION FOR THE ELECTORAL

HOLDEN UPON THE 25TH DAY

REASONS FOR JUDGMENT OF THE HONOURABLE
MR. JUSTICE RUTTAN
AND OF THE HONOURABLE
MR. JUSTICE MUNROE.

Kenneth D. Page, Esq.,
D. McK. Brown, Esq., Q.C.
and Brian Williams, Esq.,
Dates of Trial:
Place of Trial:

for the petitioner;
for the respondent.
January 27th and 28th, 1969.
Courtenay, B.C.

Mr. Thomas S. Barnett, a defeated candidate in the general election of June 25, 1968, for the Electoral District of Comox-Alberni, brings this petition under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act to have the election of Mr. Richard J. J. Durante declared void by reason that certain Canadian Forces electors who voted at civilian polls in the said electoral district were ineligible to do so.

On July 6, 1968, the Returning Officer completed a Certificate of Result of Voting showing that Mr. Barnett obtained 11,943 votes and that Mr. Durante obtained 11,940 votes. Following a judicial recount held on July 11th and 12th, 1968, His Honour Judge McKay declared that Mr. Durante received 11,939 votes and that Mr. Barnett received 11,930 votes—a difference of 9 votes—and accordingly Mr. Durante was declared elected as Member of Parliament from the Comox-Alberni Federal Electoral District.

It is the submission of the petitioner that the election aforesaid must be voided and that Mr. Durante was not duly elected or returned because twelve persons who on June 25, 1968 were Canadian Forces electors (being members of the Regular Forces of the Canadian Forces and otherwise qualified) applied their vote in breach of the Canada Elections Act and the Canadian Forces Voting Rules in the Comox-Alberni Electoral District rather than to the electoral district in which is situated their place of ordinary residence as shown on the statement made by them under paragraph 25 of the said Rules. Sec.14(5) (b) of the Canada Elections Act, 1960 Ch.39 enacts as follows:

"(5) A Canadian Forces elector, as defined in paragraph 21 of The Canadian Forces Voting Rules, is entitled to vote

(b) at a general election only under the procedure set forth in those Rules, or, if he has not voted under that procedure, at the place of his ordinary residence as shown on the statement made by him under paragraph 25 of those Rules."

Sec.16(5) thereof enacts as follows:

"(5) A Canadian Forces elector, as defined in paragraph 21 of The Canadian Forces Voting Rules, shall be deemed to continue to ordinarily reside in the place of his ordinary residence as shown on the statement made by him under paragraph 25 of those Rules."

Appended as Schedule 11 to the Canada Elections Act, 1960, is The Canadian Forces Voting Rules, which apply to a general election held in Canada.

Para.21(1) thereof provides that every person who has attained the full age of twenty-one years and who is a Canadian citizen or other British subject shall be deemed to be a Canadian Forces elector and entitled to vote at a general election under the procedure set forth in these rules while he is a member of the regular forces of the Canadian Forces.

Para.24(1) provides that, notwithstanding qualification under para.21, a Canadian Forces elector is not entitled to vote under the procedure set forth in these rules unless he completes a statement of ordinary residence as provided in para.25 or sub-para.(1) of para.36 and specifies in a declaration the name of the place of his ordinary residence in Canada.

Para.25(1) provides that forthwith upon enrolment in the Regular Forces, every person theretofore resident in Canada shall complete in duplicate before a commissioned officer a statement of ordinary residence in the prescribed form indicating the city, town, village or other place in Canada in which his place of ordinary residence immediately prior to enrolment was situated.

Para.25(3) makes provision for changing such residence to provide for a different place of ordinary residence by completing a statement of such change in the prescribed form.

Para.36(1) is not relevant to these proceedings.

Para.24(3) provides that a Canadian Forces elector, as defined in para.21, shall apply his vote only to the electoral district in which is situated his or her place of ordinary residence as shown on the statement made by such elector under para.25 or sub-para.(1) of para.36.

Similar provisions are to be found in the Canada Elections Act and The Canadian Forces Voting Rules which were in effect earlier when the twelve men in question in these proceedings enrolled in the Forces.

From the foregoing, it is clear that a member of the Regular Forces of the Canadian Forces as of June 25, 1968, who had attained the age of 21 years and who was a Canadian citizen or other British subject was entitled to vote at the general election held on that date but that he must apply his vote only to the electoral district in which is situated his place of ordinary residence as shown on the statement completed by him when he enrolled, or as shown on any statement of change of ordinary residence subsequently completed by him irrespective of his actual place of ordinary residence.

The petitioner led evidence before us designed to prove that, in breach of the Canada Elections Act and the Canadian Forces Voting Rules, twelve members of the Regular Forces of the Canadian Forces (stationed at Comox) who were Canadian Forces electors voted illegally in civilian polls in the Comox-Alberni Electoral District, thereby applying their votes to such electoral district instead of to the electoral district "in which is situated his or her place of ordinary residence as shown on the statement made by such elector under paragraph 25," thereby affecting the result of the election in Comox-Alberni Electoral District.

If it is proved that nine or more Canadian Forces electors voted illegally as aforesaid, the election must be declared void since there is no means of finding out for which candidate such illegal votes, or any of them, were cast and thus it cannot be determined which candidate obtained the largest number of qualified votes. If it is impossible to determine that any candidate received a majority over his nearest opponent of the qualified votes cast at the election, no candidate can validly be declared elected, and the election is void. See Lamb v. McLeod (1932) 3 W.W.R. 596; Neilsen v. Simmons (1958) 25 W.W.R. 68; City of Greenwood v. Board of School Trustees, School District No. 13 (1966) 55 D.L.R. (2d) 663.

Major N. D. McEachern, in whose custody and under whose direction a file for every member of the Canadian Armed Forces is kept at Canadian Forces Headquarters, Ottawa, testified that according to records contained in such files, none of the twelve Canadian Forces electors in question at the time of their enrolment in the Regular Forces had completed before a commissioned officer a statement of ordinary residence indicating a place of ordinary residence within the Comox-Alberni Electoral District, nor had they done so by any subsequent statement of change. On the contrary, such files indicated a place of ordinary residence elsewhere. Major McEachern testified also that according to the files examined by him and kept by the units to which such twelve men were attached, none of them at the time of their enrolment in the Regular Forces or by any subsequent statement of change had indicated or designated any place within the Comox-Alberni Electoral District as the place of their ordinary residence. On the contrary, all such unit files contained identical information upon such matter as did the Ottawa files with the exceptions that (1) the unit file of John Joseph Cryderman did not contain a copy of the document "statement of ordinary residence" (Exhibit 9) completed by Cryderman and found in his Ottawa file and (2) the Ottawa file of John Harvey George Faulkner did not contain a copy of the document "statement of ordinary residence on enrolment" (Exhibit 8) completed by Faulkner and found in his unit file.

The twelve persons in question, namely, Messrs. Hansen, Lambly, Yeoman, Hetherington, Williams, Raymond, Creamer, Kidd, Anderson, Cryderman, Stark and Faulkner testified that they had voted at the general election of June 25, 1968, at a civilian poll in the Comox-Alberni Electoral District.

Upon the evidence it is clear—and is not disputed—that four of them, namely, Messrs. Hansen, Creamer, Cryderman and Stark, voted illegally.

With respect to six of these persons, namely, Messrs. Hetherington, Williams, Faulkner, Anderson, Yeoman and Lambly, it is submitted by counsel for the respondent that they were entitled under Rules 26 and 42(1) to vote at such civilian poll because each of them, it is submitted, had completed (under para.25(3)) a statement of change of ordinary residence designating a place within the Electoral District of Comox-Alberni as their place of ordinary residence despite the fact that such statement is not in their unit or headquarters file. Each of the six men testified, with varying degrees of certainty and uncertainty, that they had completed such a statement between 1964 and 1968. Four of them, Messrs. Hetherington, Williams, Faulkner and Lambly go no further in their testimony than to say that they thought or they believed that they had completed a change of ordinary residence form. Messrs. Anderson and Yeoman were more emphatic, but like the other four, furnished no particulars of the circumstances under which the statements were completed. One would expect that a declaration made before a commissioned officer would be of sufficient significance to the declarant that he could recall something of the surrounding circumstances, including, perhaps, a description of the officer. None of the six persons did so, nor did they identify or describe in any way any person at the unit with whom they left such completed document for filing. Upon the evidence we are not prepared to find that the six persons or any of them changed their place of residence to a place within the Comox-Alberni Electoral District by completing a statement in compliance with para.25(3) of the Rules, despite any honest belief that they did. Accordingly, they voted illegally.

With respect to the last two persons, Messrs. Kidd and Raymond, it is submitted for the respondent that they were qualified to vote at a civilian poll or at civilian polls within the Comox-Alberni District not because they had completed any change of ordinary residence form but because they were on termination leave from the Canadian Forces and accordingly should not be classed as “members of the Regular Forces of the Canadian Forces”. Each had been struck off strength at the Comox Unit prior to June 25, 1968, Kidd on the 1st of May of 1968 and Raymond on the 3rd of June, 1968. Their files had been transferred immediately thereafter to Forces Headquarters at Ottawa, and they were no longer under any direction or control of the Command at the Comox Base. One had taken civilian employment, and there was no further discharge procedure they were required to follow. Complete termination of their services followed by the effluxion of time after the expiration of their accumulated annual, special and rehabilitation leave. The discharge dates were November 28, 1968 and December 14, 1968 respectively. Mr. Brown argued that since the names of these two men were struck off the Comox Base list they no longer had the privilege of casting their votes in the Station Poll pursuant to paragraphs 28 and 29 of the regulations and were confined to travelling to their Home Ridings for that purpose. Since therefore they had lost this voting privilege accorded only to Armed Forces Electors, they should be treated as civilians and entitled to vote at the civilian poll where they resided.

We cannot agree with Mr. Brown that Messrs. Kidd and Raymond were in part disenfranchised when they went on terminal leave. They were in exactly the same position as any other Canadian Forces Elector who on election day was absent from his unit on duty, leave or furlough. Provision is made in paragraph 42 of the Rules for such a person to cast his vote.

In the National Defence Act, R.S.C., 1952, Ch. 184, sec. 16(1) a member of the Regular Forces is described in these words:

"16. (1) There shall be a component of each Service of the Canadian Forces consisting of officers and men who are enrolled for continuing, full-time military service; and those components are referred to in this Act as the regular forces."

Messrs. Kidd and Raymond were enrolled "for continuing full-time military service" and so received full pay, allowances and benefits until their enrolment ceased at the end of their terminal leave. We hold that they were still members of the Regular Forces of the Canadian Forces whose voting rights were governed by the Canadian Forces Voting Rules and that the votes cast by them at a civilian poll in the Comox-Alberni Electoral District were illegal.

In summary, we find that twelve unqualified persons who were Canadian Forces Electors illegally cast their votes at a civilian poll in the Electoral District of Comox-Alberni at the general election held on June 25, 1968, and that since Mr. Durante who was declared elected had a majority over Mr. Barnett of only nine votes, it is impossible to determine which of them received a majority over the other of the qualified votes cast at the election.

The election is declared void.

Each of the parties will pay their own costs. The petitioner will in the first instance pay the expenses for attendance at the trial of the official court reporter and for the two copies of the transcript of the evidence ordered by us, but will recover one-half of such amount from the respondent.

Mr. Olson, seconded by Mr. Laing (Vancouver South), moved,—That the said bill be now read a third time and do pass.

The honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) having raised a point of order as to the regularity of the said motion.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: My understanding of Standing Order 75(14) is that if the report from the committee does not include an amendment at the report stage there can be third reading on the same day. The Standing Order reads: "(14) When a bill has been reported from a standing or special committee and no amendment has been proposed thereto at the report stage, and in the case of a bill reported from a committee of the whole, with or without amendment, a motion, "That the bill be now read a third time and passed", may be made in the same sitting."

The honourable Member has referred to an amendment which was not proposed at the report stage, but was proposed and adopted at the committee stage. It is only when there is an amendment proposed and debated at the report stage that there cannot be two stages on the same day. When an amendment has been made by the committee, and there is no further amendment, then, under the Standing Order, there can be a debate on third reading the same day.

I am not sure this is completely clear but I hope the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert), who is I believe in agreement with my interpretation of the Standing Order, is satisfied with the way I have attempted to interpret the situation for guidance of honourable Members.

Mr. SPEAKER: I am in agreement with the honourable member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) in the same way that I am in agreement with the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert). Obviously Standing Order 72 always prevails. If there has been a previous reading in that sitting there cannot be a subsequent reading on the same day.

What we have before us is the report stage, not a reading stage. This is why we can have the adoption of the report stage and third reading the same day.

And debate arising on the motion of Mr. Olson, seconded by Mr. Laing (Vancouver South),—That Bill C-138, An Act to amend the Bretton Woods Agreements Act and the Currency, Mint and Exchange Fund Act, be now read a third time and do pass.

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to Standing Order 40(1);

After debate the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Mr. Forest, Parliamentary Secretary to the President of the Privy Council, presented,—Returns to the foregoing Orders.

By unanimous consent, the Notice of Motion standing in the name of Mr. Blouin (Chairman of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications), was withdrawn from the Order Paper.

The Order being read for the consideration of the Business of Supply; pursuant to section 3 of Standing Order 58 Mr. Baldwin, seconded by Mr. Aiken, moved,—That this House concurs with the views expressed by the Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Estimates relating to the use of $1.00 items in estimates as set out in paragraphs one and two of the Fourth Report of the said Committee presented on February 28th, 1969.

And debate arising thereon; the said debate expired.

And the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) having raised a point of order as to the disposition of the said motion;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I have listened very carefully to the arguments put forward by honourable Members in connection with the interpretation of Standing Order 58 and the interpretation of the Special Order under which we are operating at the present time. I must say I agree with the general proposition advanced. What we have before us is a motion and that is the normal way for the House to consider its business. I believe also that this point of view has been advanced by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles). The House of Commons must consider its business by way of a motion being put, discussion on a motion and the eventual disposition of such a motion ordinarily is by a vote. It is only where circumstances are such that a Standing Order specifically states, for example in the case of Standing Order 26, that there should be no vote, that the House will not proceed to a disposition of the matter by way of a count or by a division.

Perhaps it would be easier to make a ruling in this case along the lines suggested by the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) or by those who have spoken in support of his interpretation of the rule. But if from the start, we had not placed ourselves, in the position of operating in accordance with the Standing Order which some say could apply and if these days are not allotted days, we would not be proceeding according to the terms which guide discussion on allotted days. I have trouble in deciding how the honourable Member for Peace River and the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre could file such notices because according to my interpretation of Standing Order 58, this is the Standing Order under which Members of the Opposition may file such notices.

The suggestion made by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre is that although the Standing Order and the Special Order refer to allotted days, this is not an allotted day.

I have given the matter serious and careful thought during the last few days because it was discussed outside of the House with the Members who are considered experts and who I suggest are experts in the matter of interpretation of the rules and with honourable Members who were on the committee which adopted this rule and recommended it to the House. I am still as uncertain as I was in the first instance as to how this Standing Order should be interpreted. But if honourable Members think there is some virtue or merit to my suggestion, I would make the proposition that because until this afternoon we have adhered to the provisions of the Standing Order and have received the 24 hours' notice it would be difficult all of a sudden to determine that we are no longer applying the Standing Order and that we are not dealing with allotted days and therefore we should take a vote on the motion.

The way some honourable Members have spoken, there does not seem to be any clear indication that there would, in any event, be a vote on the matter if my interpretation of the sense of the House is correct.

Perhaps it would be wise for the Chair to have additional time to reflect on this situation and to study in Hansard the learned arguments advanced by honourable Members and perhaps be prepared, when we are faced again with a similar situation and required to give a ruling whether, when we are considering so-called allotted days, or designated days dealing with the consideration of supplementary estimates, or where special provisions of Standing Order 58 should apply.

My view is that we have gone too far at the moment to turn back the clock, as the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) has suggested all along, but in my opinion, we proceeded on the basis of a 24 hour notice because these are special days, not allotted days of the normal type.

I also suggest for the guidance of honourable Members that we are dealing with a Special Order, and I wonder if honourable Members would want to establish a procedure, once and for all, at this point, when we are not dealing with our standing orders but with a Special Order of the House. This is a complicating factor, and in view of this additional consideration, and because of the fact that we do not have before us at the present time, a normal situation, where a motion would have been made in an ordinary way under the provisions of the Standing Order for the consideration of supplementary estimates during three allotted days, it is my view that it would not be wise to make a decision which would bind the House on every occasion in the future when it is asked to study a motion under that part of the Standing Order.

I have tried to suggest that it would be better to proceed at this point as though we were under allotted days which, according to my interpretation of the Standing Order, is that when this discussion is terminated, and no other notice having been given, we should go on and put the motion to the house, that is, the motion that will be proposed by the President of the Treasury Board (Mr. Drury) for concurrence in the supplementary estimates.

As a final word, it will be obvious that my decision is a non-decision.

On motion of Mr. Hellyer for Mr. Drury, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), Supplementary Estimate 12(b) (Revised) of the Department of Labour for the financial year ending March 31, 1969, was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. Hellyer for Mr. Drury, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), Supplementary Estimates (B), for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1969, presented to the House, Monday, February 24, 1969, except item 12(b) relating to the Department of Labour, were concurred in.

On motion of Mr. Hellyer for Mr. Drury, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), Bill C-177, An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1969, was read the first time.

The said bill was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, and progress having been made and reported, the committee obtained leave to consider it again later this day.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Hellyer, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), it was ordered,—That the Members of the Standing Committee on External Affairs and National Defence be granted leave to travel outside Canada between March eighth and March twenty-second, 1969, for the purpose of furthering their work; and that the necessary staff accompany them.

Dryer, a Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, the two judges appointed for the trial of a petition pursuant to the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, a certificate of judgment in the matter of an election in the Electoral District of Yukon, as follows:

IN THE MATTER OF THE DOMINION CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT

AND

IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION FOR A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS FOR THE ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF YUKON,
HOLDEN UPON THE 25TH DAY OF JUNE, A.D. 1968.

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons:
Ottawa, Canada.

Dear Sir:

We send you herewith our certificate and report made pursuant to sections 57 and 59 of the Dominion Controverted Elections Act with respect to the election for a member of the House of Commons for the Electoral District of Yukon, holden upon 25th June, 1968, together with the copies of the notes appended thereto.

Yours very truly,

Dated at Vancouver, British Columbia, this 7th day of March, 1969.

A. Bruce Robertson,
Judge.

Victor L. Dryer,
Judge.

IN THE MATTER OF THE DOMINION CONTROVERTED
ELECTIONS ACT, R.S.C., 1952, CHAPTER 87

AND

IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION FOR A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS FOR THE ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF YUKON, HOLDEN UPON THE 25TH DAY OF JUNE, A.D. 1968.

CERTIFICATE

The undersigned, the Honourable Mr. Justice A. Bruce Robertson, a Judge of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia and the Honourable Mr. Justice Victor L. Dryer, a Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, hereby certify, pursuant to section 57(1) of the Dominion Controverted Elections Act (hereinafter called "the Act"), as follows:

1. In the general election held in Canada on 25th June, 1968 (hereinafter call "the election") there were in the Electoral District of Yukon (hereinafter called "Yukon") three candidates and, following a recount by a Judge, the result of the election in Yukon was certified to be as follows: Erik Nielsen, 3,110; Chris Findlay, 3,048; Robert A. McLaren, 325. This gave Mr. Nielsen a majority of sixty-two (62) votes over Mr. Findlay.

2. Under section 5 of the Act one Norman G. Keglovic (hereinafter called "the petitioner"), who had been the official agent for Mr. Findlay during the election, presented, in the Territorial Court of the Yukon Territory, a petition (hereinafter called "the petition") praying that it be determined that Mr. Nielsen was unduly elected or returned and that his election was void.

3. The complaints in the petition were that:

- (a) The said election was not conducted according to law;
- (b) Fifty-seven persons voted contrary to Section 46 of the Canada Elections Act because, on polling day, each of them was not ordinarily resident in the polling division where he or she voted;
- (c) Eighteen persons voted notwithstanding that they were not qualified to vote because they were not ordinarily resident in the said electoral district at the date of the issue of the Writ of Election, namely, the 23rd day of April, A.D. 1968;
- (d) Fifteen persons improperly voted contrary to Section 46 of the Canada Elections Act because each of them was vouched for by an elector whose name did not appear on the official List of Electors for the polling division;
- (e) Five persons improperly voted contrary to Section 14 of the Canada Elections Act because at the time of voting they were not Canadian citizens or other British Subjects;
- (f) Two persons improperly voted contrary to Sections 33 and 37 of the Canada Elections Act because on polling day they were ordinarily resident in an urban polling division and they each voted notwithstanding that their names did not appear on the official List of Electors for that polling division;
- (g) One person improperly voted twice, once in each of two different polling divisions;
- (h) One person improperly voted a second time after having voted at an advance poll in another electoral district;
- (i) An Agent of the Respondent at the settlement of Watson Lake, in the said electoral district of the Yukon gave or offered money to electors in the said settlement in order to induce the electors to vote or refrain from voting, contrary to Section 65(1)(a) of the Canada Elections Act;
- (j) An agent of the Respondent residing in the settlement of Carcross, in the said electoral district of the Yukon, either directly or indirectly gave or provided, or caused to be given or provided, drink and refreshment to electors of the said settlement for the purpose of influencing those electors to give their votes, contrary to Sections 65(1), 66 and 49(5) of the Canada Elections Act; and
- (k) Supporters and agents of the Respondent unlawfully published the result or purported result of the polling in Newfoundland and the Maritime provinces before the closing of the polls in the electoral district of Yukon, contrary to Section 106 of the Canada Elections Act.

4. Under section 10(5) of the Act Mr. Nielsen presented a counter petition (hereinafter called "the counter petition") in which Mr. Findlay was named as the respondent and which complained of certain alleged unlawful and corrupt acts (including bribery, treating and undue influence) and also complained that during the election Mr. Findlay held an office in the service of the Government of Canada to which remuneration was attached and also held a contract with the Government of Canada, and that consequently the votes given for Mr. Findlay were void and of no effect and that Mr. Nielsen had a majority of lawful votes.

5. Commencing on 17th February, 1969 the petition and the counter petition were tried by us (as the trial judges provided for in section 2(3) of the Act) pursuant to section 37 of the Act, evidence being presented first in support of the petition.

6. The evidence called by the petitioner at the trial was directed towards proving that sixty-two (62) or more persons who had voted at the election in Yukon were not entitled to vote in Yukon or in the polling divisions where they did vote and that, consequently, on the principle stated in Re Dominion Controverted Elections Act; Re Yukon Election; Nielsen v. Simmons (1958), 25 W.W.R. 68, it could not be said that Mr. Nielsen had had a majority of the votes, and therefore that his election was void.

7. The trial of the petition proceeded on February 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 24th. By the time the Court rose on 24th February, forty-six (46) persons said to have voted at the election had given evidence about themselves and two (2) other persons, all forty-eight (48) said by the petitioner to be within one or other of the classes lettered (b), (c), (d) and (e) in paragraph 3 above.

8. When the trial resumed on 25th February, counsel for the petitioner stated that, in view of a ruling made by us on the previous day denying leave to amend the petition and the particulars thereof, the petitioner would be unable to prove that sixty-two (62) or more persons had voted in Yukon when or where they were not entitled to vote. Counsel stated that in the circumstances he did not propose to call any further evidence. No evidence had then been called in support of the allegations contained in sub-paragraphs (a) and (f) to (k) inclusive of paragraph 3 above and earlier in the hearing counsel for the petitioner had stated that he did not intend to call evidence in support of paragraphs (g), (h), (j) and (k) thereof. Thereupon we said:

"The Certificate of Result of Voting, Exhibit 13, shows that the respondent had a majority of sixty-two votes over Mr. Findlay, who received the second largest number of votes. The evidence we have heard has not shown that a number of ballots equal to or exceeding that majority were marked by persons not entitled to vote or that in any other way the respondent was unduly elected or that the election is void. The petition is therefore dismissed."

9. The counter petition was then called, whereupon counsel for Mr. Nielsen said that he did not propose to call evidence. Thereupon we dismissed the counter petition.

10. By dismissing the petition as aforesaid we determined that Mr. Nielsen, whose election as member for the Electoral District of Yukon was complained of, was duly elected and returned.

11. Appended hereto are photocopies of the notes of evidence taken in longhand by each of us during the trial of the petition and the counter petition.

REPORT

And we, the said undersigned, hereby report, pursuant to section 59 of the Act and with respect to both the petition and the counter petition, as follows:

- (a) No corrupt or illegal practice has been proved before us to have been committed during the election with the knowledge or consent of any candidate at the election.

- (b) No persons were proved at the said trial to have been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice. There was, however, evidence indicating that some persons vouched for applicant electors when they knew of facts relating to such applicant electors which, in our opinion, showed them to be not ordinarily resident in the polling division appropriate to the polling station at which they sought to and did vote. These vouchers, however, were not called to give evidence and did not have an opportunity to answer or explain and no issue was tried as to their conduct being an illegal practice, and we have no reason to believe that it was other than the result of misconception on their part of the meaning of the words "ordinarily resident". It was not charged as an illegal practice in the petition. We did not and do not feel that any trial of such persons was or is warranted.
- (c) At the said trial no corrupt or illegal practices were proved to have prevailed extensively in the Yukon at the election and there is no reason to believe that any corrupt or illegal practices prevailed extensively in the Yukon at the election.
- (d) We are not of the opinion that our inquiring into the circumstances of the election in the Yukon was rendered incomplete by the action of any of the parties to the petition or the counter petition and we are not of the opinion that further inquiry as to whether corrupt or illegal practices have extensively prevailed as aforesaid is desirable.

In witness whereof we have set our hands to the above certificate and report the 7th day of March, 1969.

A. Bruce Robertson,
Judge.

Victor L. Dryer,

PART I

Scope of Preliminary Report

The Committee's Order of Reference of January 16, 1969 authorizes a thorough review of Canada's policy with reference to defence and external affairs. The Committee intends to continue its present review of defence policy after the Easter recess.

Although its work is not complete, the Committee thinks it desirable to make this report, including recommendations with regard to Canadian participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), before the Government announces its policy with reference to NATO on or before April 10, 1969 when the North Atlantic Council meets in Washington.

Canada and the United Nations

Canada's territory is not directly menaced by threat of invasion by any other nation. Nevertheless Canada would be seriously affected in any world conflict and shares with all other nations a vital interest in the maintenance of peace, world order and stability. Canadians therefore need a peaceful world order—one which is not static but rather one that will permit and encourage change, so that the peoples of the world can live peacefully and with the largest possible measure of freedom and equality of opportunity.

The achievement of such objectives through collective security was one of the purposes for which the United Nations was founded after the Second World War. Unfortunately, for a number of reasons, hopes for world peace through the United Nations have not yet been realized.

Canadians are enthusiastic supporters of the United Nations as one of the best possible ways to achieve the type of world order which they desire. The Committee believes that all United Nations members should apply even more leadership, ingenuity and effort to assist the evolution and development of the United Nations so that it can effectively achieve collective security through the establishment and enforcement of the rule of law in international affairs.

Canada's Existing Alliances

Canada's defence policy since the Second World War has been based upon alliances—notably the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and defence arrangements with the United States including the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD). Such alliances are contemplated by Article 51 of the United Nations Charter.

NATO

The North Atlantic Treaty was signed on April 4, 1949 and the organization now consists of Belgium, Canada, Denmark, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Greece, Iceland, Italy, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States. The organization resulted largely from a reaction of its members to the rapid expansion of Russian territory and influence after the Second World War and from fears of further Russian aggression and subversion in Western Europe.

The Treaty did not itself impose specific military commitments upon any of its members. Article 5 of the Treaty recognized that assistance might be military or non-military, the nature of any military forces to be maintained by each of the members was left to the discretion of such member and the Treaty itself made no provision for the pooling of military forces or any integrated or joint command. Very soon, however, procedures and institutions were developed under the Treaty pursuant to which member countries undertook to provide military forces and to integrate these forces under a unified command.

The Treaty provides that after it has been in force for twenty years, any party may give written notice of withdrawal. Withdrawal becomes effective one year after such notice has been given. The Treaty came into force when it was ratified by a majority of the original signatories on August 24, 1949. Accordingly, at any time after August 24, 1969 any member can withdraw on one year's notice.

NORAD

The agreement between Canada and the United States for the formal establishment of the North American Air Defence Command was signed May 12, 1958. Originally it was effective for a ten-year period. It was renewed on March 30, 1968 for a further five-year period. However, it can be reviewed at any time and following such review it may be terminated by either Canada or the United States on one year's notice.

Basically the NORAD Agreement sets up an integrated command for the planning and operation of the air defences of Canada and the Continental United States. The Commander-in-Chief is an American. The Deputy Commander is a Canadian. They are responsible to the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the United States and the Chief of the Canadian Defence Staff who in turn are responsible to their respective governments.

The NORAD Agreement does not impose any specific obligation on either country to allocate military forces to the NORAD Command. The NORAD Command includes only such individuals and combat units as the two governments from time to time choose to allocate to it.

Because the Committee intends to continue its review of NORAD in later hearings, it decided not to include in this report any recommendations with regard to NORAD.

Canada's Present Military Contributions to NATO

Canada is providing a fully mechanized brigade group which now has a peacetime strength of approximately 6,000 men. The brigade is equipped with a variety of modern mechanized equipment, most of which is of recent origin and includes two Honest John launchers armed with short-range nuclear warheads. However, the Centurion tanks have seen heavy service and the Committee was informed that for this reason they would require replacements in the early 1970's. The 4th Canadian Mechanized Brigade Group, with its headquarters in Soest, Germany, forms a part of the British Army on the Rhine, which in turn constitutes a part of the Northern Army Group, which is responsible for defending the North German plains.

Canada has also committed an Air Division in Europe. The 1st Air Division is at present organized in 6 squadrons of Canadian-built F-104 aircraft. These are divided into 4 squadrons of strike-attack aircraft, capable of carrying nuclear or conventional weapons, and 2 squadrons of reconnaissance aircraft, which also have a limited conventional attack capability. The Committee was informed that these aircraft will probably remain serviceable until the mid 1970's. The complement of the Air Division, once the squadrons are concentrated on two bases, will be approximately 3,800 men. Its headquarters is in Lahr in Southern Germany and it forms part of the 4th Allied Tactical Air Force in Central and Southern Germany.

Canada also makes available to NATO for service in Europe a brigade of air-transportable troops which are based in Canada.

Canada's East Coast maritime forces are earmarked to NATO and would be assigned to Supreme Allied Command Atlantic (SACLANT) in an emergency. These forces include 1 aircraft carrier, 15 destroyer escorts, 3 submarines and 26 long-range Argus aircraft. Forces on the West Coast can also be assigned to NATO. They comprise 5 destroyer escorts, 1 submarine and 4 Argus aircraft.

The Committee visited the headquarters of the 1st Air Division and the mobile headquarters of the 4th Canadian Mechanized Brigade Group. All members of the Committee were impressed by the dedication and professional competence of the Canadian officers and men wherever they were serving. These Canadian forces are all highly regarded by the other forces with whom they are associated and are establishing a very favourable reputation for Canada.

PART II

Is Neutrality a Possible Policy for Canada?

While most witnesses believed that Canada should continue to participate in defensive alliances, a few have advocated Canada's withdrawal from alliances and the adoption of neutrality or a policy of non-alignment. These witnesses stated Canada was not menaced from abroad; they felt that the prime danger arose from involvement in any conflict between the alliances; and they argued that Canada could play a more independent and influential international role as a neutral or non-aligned nation.

The Committee had an opportunity to assess the validity of this argument in Sweden. They were impressed by the Swedish conviction that their defence forces must be capable of providing a balanced defence of the whole country with forces sufficient to make any attack by an aggressor unprofitable. The Swedish analysis assumes that their territory is of only marginal interest to the Great Powers and they depend on NATO to offset the power of the Warsaw Pact. Finally, they believe their defence system must be sufficiently effective to convince the Great Powers on both sides that Sweden will and can fulfill the obligations of a neutral state. This policy involves compulsory military service and much higher defence costs than Canada is now incurring.

The Committee concludes that neutrality would not be possible for Canada because of our proximity to the United States and the fact that we lie directly between the United States and the Soviet Union. Swedish experience, moreover, indicates that to have Canada's neutrality respected by both Great Powers would require prohibitively costly defence expenditures.

Should Canada Rely Solely Upon United States Protection?

It has been argued before the Committee that Canadian defence expenditures can be substantially reduced because of the fact that Canada's geographical proximity to the United States makes it necessary for the United States to defend Canada in order to defend itself. This has been referred to as the "free ride" theory.

The Committee does not accept this theory. On the contrary, it is convinced that Canada must be prepared to incur reasonable expenditures for its own defence in order to maintain its independence and freedom of action as a nation, and to ensure that Canadian interests are taken into account when continental defence measures are being considered. The Committee recognizes that Canada's geographical position as the neighbour of a super-power, the United States, does indeed confer certain advantages. One of these is that it frees Canada from the need to maintain a complete range of defensive equipment and thereby enables Canada to make a contribution to world security which in the broadest sense is also a contribution to her own security in other fields.

Can Foreign Aid be a Substitute for Defence Expenditures?

A few witnesses urged that Canada should reduce very substantially its defence expenditures and use the defence dollars so saved to increase aid to developing countries. The Committee is not satisfied that defence and aid expenditures should be interdependent. Expenditures to assist developing countries are desirable and Canada should be generous, but such expenditures do not, at any rate in the short term, provide security for Canada and therefore are no substitute for defence expenditures. This is, however, a topic which the Committee hopes to examine in the future.

Should Canada Concentrate on United Nations Peacekeeping?

Evidence presented to the Committee indicated that, in the future, United Nations peacekeeping operations would not be likely where the intervention of a peacekeeping force would be adverse to the interests of any of the Great Powers, whose approval in the Security Council would not otherwise be forthcoming. They would be required, however, when such interests were not involved, where the Great Powers had an interest in seeing stability in the area maintained, and when the host state was ready to extend the necessary invitation.

The Committee had the opportunity to visit the United Nations peacekeeping force in Cyprus. It was impressed by the spirit of co-operation among the national units making up the United Nations force and particularly by the efficiency and morale of the Canadian contingent (3rd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment) and by the respect for it which prevails not only among United Nations officials, but also among Greek and Turkish Cypriots. The Committee is satisfied that, in Cyprus, the Canadian peacekeeping forces are fulfilling a most useful and worthwhile role and making a valuable contribution to Canada's reputation abroad.

While some witnesses suggested that Canada's attractiveness as a state able to provide peacekeeping forces might be marginally increased if Canada were not a member of NATO, the more persuasive testimony suggested that any disadvantages were compensated for by certain advantages as a peacekeeper which NATO membership conferred on Canada. The record also indicates that NATO membership has not led to Canada's exclusion from any peacekeeping operation. The Committee accordingly concludes that NATO membership does not inhibit Canada from playing a useful peacekeeping role through the United Nations. Moreover, certain forces earmarked for NATO are also earmarked for United Nations service, so that no extra costs are involved in filling these two tasks.

What is the Effect of Alliance Membership on Canada's Influence?

A number of witnesses urged that Canada should withdraw entirely from its alliances on the ground that our continued membership makes us suspect with the non-aligned or developing countries of the world. As a member of alliances, it was asserted that Canada's influence with the nations of the "third world" is much less than it would be if we withdrew from them completely, our credibility as an independent nation at the United Nations is undermined and our acceptability in peacekeeping operations is seriously impaired.

Other witnesses who appeared before the Committee adopted an argument opposite to that outlined above. They advocated continued active participation by Canada in NATO on the ground that NATO provides the principal forum within which to exercise an influence on the trend of events in the area of the world where there is the greatest risk that local conflict could escalate into a nuclear exchange. Some of these witnesses further maintained that Canada's close association with the United States and other NATO countries was favourably regarded by some non-aligned states who believe that Canada can serve as an intermediary with these countries.

The Committee concludes that Canada's influence with other nations of the world, including the non-aligned and developing nations, its influence at the United Nations and its acceptability in United Nations peacekeeping operations will be determined more by the degree of independence, objectivity and fairness which Canada exhibits in its relations with other countries than by its alliance associations.

The Committee further notes that a neutral state such as Sweden does not appear to derive for that reason more influence with other nations than does a comparable state in NATO such as Canada. While the Committee finds it difficult to assess intangibles such as influence, it concludes that Canada derives advantage from being able to put its views forward in the NATO forum where issues affecting European and world security are discussed and decided.

Is NATO Necessary?

Conflicting arguments were presented to the Committee with regard to the continuing importance of NATO. Some argued that Russia remains aggressive and expansionist, e.g., Czechoslovakia. NATO provides more effective and economical protection than could be provided by any of the NATO countries acting individually.

Some argued that NATO makes unnecessary the proliferation under national control of nuclear weapons among the nations of Western Europe which do not now have them, so long as the United States' nuclear deterrent is available to protect all countries of the Alliance. Witnesses in France argued otherwise.

It was also argued that NATO's continued existence was particularly important because it provided security within a collective framework to West Germany. This makes it unnecessary for West Germany to seek her own security by bilateral military alliances or by building up military strength or a national nuclear capability—a process which would alarm her neighbours and create instability in Central Europe.

It was further suggested that NATO was necessary as an instrument to co-ordinate plans for the mutual reduction of the arms confrontation in Europe and Negotiations with the Warsaw Pact countries on other measures of détente.

Others argued that the urgent need for a defensive military alliance in Europe had disappeared as the threat of an all-out invasion of Western Europe had become more and more unlikely with the emergence of the nuclear stalemate. Such a stalemate, it was said, would effectively deter military adventures in Europe. Indeed some even maintained that the continued existence of NATO was provocative, perpetuating the Warsaw Pact and militating against the development of liberal tendencies within Eastern Europe.

Having considered these arguments, the Committee concludes that the military strength of the Warsaw Pact is greater today than ever before and that NATO continues to offer the most effective means of providing for the security of Western Europe. The Committee is also impressed by the extent to which the NATO Council has become a focus of political consultation and they believe NATO can and should be a useful instrument for promoting détente with the Soviet bloc.

Is Canadian security involved in Europe?

Many witnesses maintained that, by making forces available for the defence of Europe, Canada is contributing directly to its own security. They argued that, in the words of one witness, the "fault line of confrontation" between the Soviet bloc and the NATO alliance crosses through the middle of Europe. In this situation spontaneous outbreaks or accidental conflicts unless they are quickly and effectively controlled, could speedily escalate into a destructive nuclear exchange, in which Canada and her territory would inevitably be affected. The presence and availability for immediate use of adequate conventional NATO forces in Europe is important to provide a credible deterrent and time for negotiation in the event of limited hostilities. In the view of these witnesses, a pre-meditated all-out nuclear attack on North America was unlikely and the principal risk of nuclear war—which was the only kind of war in which Canadian territory would suffer directly—lay in escalation of conflict in Europe.

The Committee accepts this argument.

Is Canada Over-Spending on Defence?

Several witnesses have argued that Canada is spending too much on defence. Others have reached the same conclusion by pointing to the fact that Canada is the only Alliance member other than the United States to provide forces in three theatres: in Europe, at sea and for the defence of North America. Some witnesses limited their comments to recommending a reduction, on the ground that Canada is not directly menaced. Others advocate transferring the savings to foreign aid, and still others to domestic development.

The Committee found this to be a difficult question to assess objectively. The yardstick used most widely is a calculation which involves relating defence expenditure to per capita gross national product. By this standard of comparison, Canada's total defence expenditure in all theatres, and including peace-keeping, is now one of the lowest in NATO, whereas when Canada first sent forces to Europe in the early 1950's its contribution was one of the highest. But the Committee found this standard imprecise because it includes expenditure for large internal security forces maintained in some countries; for military activity carried on by others outside the NATO area; and does not distinguish among differing requirements for development funds.

The Committee believes that by comparison with other nations both inside and outside of NATO, Canada's defence expenditures are not disproportionately high. And while Canadian forces are spread over three theatres within NATO, the forces maintained in each are not excessive. The Committee considers that further conclusions regarding the nature and location of Canadian defence activities must be based on political and security considerations. The foregoing does not mean that the Committee has reached the conclusion that savings in defence expenditures cannot or should not be effected.

Does NATO Provide An Effective Forum?

The Committee had an opportunity to learn from experienced witnesses in Europe that the NATO Council provides an effective forum for political consultation. In this process, which is being steadily expanded, the views of the smaller nations, especially when they act in combination, can be much more persuasive than if they are advocated bilaterally.

Would Canada's Withdrawal Seriously Damage NATO?

Repeatedly arguments were made to the Committee that, if Canada withdrew its forces from Europe or substantially reduced them, the United States or the Western European states might follow suit and NATO might be seriously weakened as a result of such a Canadian initiative—that Canadian action might have a “domino” or “catalytic” effect.

Advocates of this argument who were concerned about a United States withdrawal from Europe placed special importance on the continued physical presence of substantial numbers of American forces in Europe. These forces were needed in part to assure Europeans that the United States, which was no longer invulnerable to Soviet nuclear attack, was determined to deter a Soviet move against Western Europe by whatever means might be necessary. In the view of several witnesses, Western Europe without United States support, would be obliged by its geographic location to accept a degree of political subordination to Russia. These advocates feared that, should Canada withdraw its forces from Europe, this example could be used by those political groups in the United States who are pressing for similar action by the United States.

Those who feared a “catalytic” effect in Europe suggested two possibilities: certain European countries with budgetary problems might follow Canada’s example; and Germany might feel the need to replace any forces which were withdrawn, thereby further increasing its now relatively large military contribution to the Alliance. Several witnesses spoke of the shock which would follow such a move by Canada; since Canada had a high reputation for responsibility and good judgment, its example would influence others.

Some witnesses in Europe spoke of the psychological effect of such action by Canada on Russia. It was asserted that even if forces withdrawn by Canada were replaced by equivalent forces provided by another country, so that NATO’s military power was unchanged, the deterrent effect of NATO on the Russians would be reduced.

The Committee recognizes that this is a difficult question on which to make a categorical judgment. However, the Committee considers that the withdrawal of Canadian forces—depending on how or when this were to be accomplished—might have some or all of the adverse effects suggested above.

Would Basing of Existing Forces in Canada for Service in Europe Be Feasible?

The question was raised as to whether Canada should withdraw its forces from Europe, but maintain them in their present form in Canada for dispatch to Europe in an emergency.

The Committee had ample opportunity to examine this suggestion. They ascertained that this approach would diminish the effectiveness of the training programme; that it would require the stockpiling of heavy equipment in Europe; that it would require considerable additional costly air transport; that it would not achieve any significant economies in operating costs; that the military utility of such forces in time of crisis was uncertain and their return to Europe might be provocative; and that accordingly the other members of NATO would attach considerably less importance to such a contribution from Canada. The Committee accordingly concludes that there is no advantage to be gained from transferring Canada’s existing forces in Europe to Canada, while maintaining them in Canada for service in Europe in an emergency.

What Should Be the Role of Canadian Forces in Europe?

This is one of the most important questions faced by the Committee. However, it does not have sufficient evidence upon which to form a judgment. The only definite suggestion made for a change in role was to replace our present forces in Europe with a light conventionally-armed air-transportable force. The Committee did not have sufficient evidence as to what the use and value of this force would be, nor did it have expert evidence in regard to what other roles might be open to Canada. The Committee will pursue its inquiries into this whole question with a view to making definite recommendations in a future report.

PART III

Having assessed the arguments presented to it, the Committee submits the following recommendations which flow from its assessment of the various arguments examined in Part II.

1. Canada should continue to play an effective role in the preservation of peace through membership in NATO.

2. Canada should continue to maintain forces in Europe as a contribution to the collective defence arrangements of NATO.

3. Canada should continue its present roles in Europe until such time as the main items of equipment for its Air Division and Mechanized Brigade require replacement.

4. The future long-term military roles of Canadian forces assigned to NATO must be reviewed promptly, and kept under periodic review in the future by the Government and by this Committee, bearing in mind

- (a) the desirability that our NATO forces should be as compatible as possible with our other forces.
- (b) that decisions on roles must be arrived at in sufficient time to negotiate with our allies and, if necessary, to acquire new equipment and to retrain forces.

5. Through NATO, Canada should use its influence to seek détente in Europe and, while maintaining security, negotiate balanced force reductions as recommended by the Harmel Report.

This subject will be investigated in the course of the Committee's continuing defence review.

The Committee has taken evidence in Canada and obtained information in Europe with regard to United Nations peacekeeping, Civil Defence and Disarmament. The Committee has decided however, to defer recommendations on these subjects to a later report.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1969.

2.00 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

The honourable Member for York-Simcoe (Mr. Roberts), having risen on a question of privilege relating to the refusal of the Government, upon his election to the House of Commons, to pay him the terminal gratuity provided as a normal practice to those leaving the Public Service.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I have listened very carefully to the honourable Member for York-Simcoe (Mr. Roberts) who had given me advance notice of the question of privilege, thus affording the Chair an opportunity to study the matter. This, of course, is the intention and purpose of the Standing Order that provides for advance notice of questions of privilege.

At first blush I would incline to the view that it is the honourable Member's rights as a former civil servant which are at issue. He has, perhaps, a grievance against the government in that capacity rather than in his capacity as a Member of Parliament. On the other hand, honourable Members know that the House has always exercised great care in attempting to protect the rights and privileges of all its Members. Since there is some doubt about the interpretation of the precedents in this situation, I would be inclined to resolve that doubt in favour of the honourable Member.

Whereupon, Mr. Roberts, seconded by Mr. Anderson, moved,—That the subject-matter of the question of privilege be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Mr. Duquet, from the Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Private Bills and Standing Orders, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of March 13, 1969, your Committee has considered the petition for a Private Bill of The Perth Mutual Fire Insurance Company, filed after the time specified in Standing Order 90, together with the Report of the Clerk of Petitions thereon tabled on February 26, 1969.

The Counsel for the petitioner stated that the delay beyond the time specified by Standing Order 90 was occasioned, in part, by a misinterpretation of the Standing Order.

The Parliamentary Agent for the petitioner stated that it is essential that the proposed legislation be allowed to proceed during the present session of Parliament. He therefore respectfully asked that the petition be received.

After having considered the petition, the Committee recommends that Standing Order 90 be suspended, in relation thereto, and that this petition be received. The consequent charges as provided for by Standing Order 91(3) (a) and (c) will amount to $300.00.

The petition referred to above, together with the report of the Clerk of Petitions related thereto, is returned herewith.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issue No. 2) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 56 to the Journals).

Mr. Caccia, from the Standing Committee on Labour, Manpower and Immigration, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Thursday, February 20, 1969, your Committee has considered the following item listed in the Main Estimates 1969-70:

Vote 10, relating to the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Your Committee commends it to the House.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issue No. 8) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 57 to the Journals).

Mr. SPEAKER: On March 25 when the notice of motion standing in the name of the honourable Member for LaSalle (Mr. Lessard) was called, the President of the Privy Council (Mr. Macdonald) rose on a point of order.

During the discussion of this point of order a number of honourable Members took the position that the President of the Privy Council was not raising his point of order at the appropriate time in our proceedings. In particular the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) drew the attention of the Chair to citation 318, subsection (3), of Beauchesne. That citation says: "A member will not be permitted in presenting a report to make any remarks on the subject-matter; he can only properly do so on a motion in reference to the report."

The honourable Member said that if this limitation is placed on an honourable Member who has the moving of the motion in his care, it applies as well to other honourable Members.

The question I have to decide therefore is whether or not the point of order raised by the President of the Privy Council came too early in our proceedings; in other words, whether or not the motion should have been put first and then the question as to the regularity of the report brought into issue by the House Leader.

It should be recalled that honourable Members who took part in the discussion on the point of order, more particularly the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin), the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) and the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles), dealt exclusively with the very limited point to which I have referred. Since, according to the submission, the minister's procedural objection could not be raised at that point they obviously did not consider it proper to argue the substance of the minister's arguments. For the moment I will therefore limit my comments to the objection raised by honourable Members to the timing of the minister's objection.

In my opinion it was not improper for the President of the Privy Council to seek to question the form of the committee report at the stage he chose to select. In this regard I bring the attention of the House to citation 323(1) of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition, where it is stated: "A committee report may be ruled out of order though it has been received by the House, and a motion to concur therein cannot then be entertained."

It seems to me this citation is directly on point and justifies the minister's submission that the procedural points should be considered and should be determined before the motion is put.

This having been said I would suggest that honourable Members interested in this extremely complex situation should be given an opportunity to express their views in relation to the substance of the points raised by the President of the Privy Council.

After giving much thought to the complex procedural aspects of the matter I am concerned mostly about three specific points. First, it must be determined whether the sub-judice doctrine is applicable here. Honourable Members may wish to consult citation 152(2) of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition on this point. Second, I am concerned with the form of the committee recommendation. Normally these recommendations propose that Parliament or the government take into consideration the advisability of introducing legislation for a specified purpose. One might well wonder whether the form of the present report does not constitute a direction rather than a mere recommendation. A further point is whether the report is within the terms of the committee order of reference.

Of course, there may be other points of procedure that honourable Members may want to raise, either in support of or in opposition to the presentation of the motion at this time. Because of the importance and complexity of the matter I would think that honourable Members would want an opportunity to give some thought to the procedural point I have raised and, at their convenience, submit arguments for consideration by the Chair. The honourable House Leaders may want to consult one another or with the Chair in this regard. In view of the circumstances I suggest that the motion should stand.

Mr. Sharp, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Copy of correspondence, dated January 24, 1969, exchanged between the Vice-President of the Council of Ministers of the Province of Quebec and the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Government of France. (French).

The Order being read for the second reading and reference to the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs of Bill S-15, An Act to amend the Food and Drugs Act and the Narcotic Control Act and to make a consequential amendment to the Criminal Code;

Mr. Munro, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time, and referred to the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs.

Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act as reported without amendment from the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs was again considered at the Report Stage;

Mr. Monteith, seconded by Mr. Rynard, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting in Clause 1 after the word “Commissioner” on line 15, page 2, the following words:

“on advice of a tribunal comprising the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, the Minister of National Health and Welfare and the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce.”

And debate arising thereon;

[At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(4)]

(Private Bills)

By unanimous consent, Order numbered one was allowed to stand.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Weatherhead, seconded by Mr. Turner (London East),—That Bill S-13, An Act respecting the Excelsior Life Insurance Company, be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Benjamin, seconded by Mr. Gleave, moved,—That Bill S-13 be not now read a second time, but that it be read this day six months hence.

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following bills without amendment:

Bill C-173, An Act respecting the organization of the Government of Canada and matters relating or incidental thereto.

Bill C-178, An Act to amend the Canadian Forces Superannuation Act, the Defence Services Pension Continuation Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act and the Public Service Superannuation Act.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Monteith, seconded by Mr. Rynard,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting in Clause 1 after the word "Commissioner" on line 15, page 2, the following words:

"on advice of a tribunal comprising the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, the Minister of National Health and Welfare and the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce."

After further debate, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Beaudoin, seconded by Mr. Gauthier, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting in Clause 1(4) after the word "medicine" on line 27, page 1, the following words:

"but valid for only five years or more after the granting of such patent."

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Dumont, for Mr. Lambert (Bellechasse), seconded by Mr. Beaudoin, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting in Clause 1(4) after the word "licence" on line 19, page 2, the following words:

"and, in the case of an import licence, such licence shall be declared by the Commissioner to be in the public interest and the foreign manufacturing plants shall be opened for inspection"

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Fortin, seconded by Mr. Matte, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act be amended by inserting in Clause 1(4), after the word "licence" on line 19, page 2, the following words:

"and subject to a report from the Food and Drugs Directorate of the Department of National Health and Welfare that the applicant has complied with all the provisions of the Food and Drugs Act and that the medicine manufactured under such patent has the therapeutic and pharmaceutical equivalence of the standard product accepted in Canada;"

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Monteith, seconded by Mr. Fairweather, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by deleting in Clause 1 the words "invention and for such other factors as may be prescribed." on lines 28 and 29 on page 2 of the bill and substituting therefor:

"invention with due regard for the cost of information to the professions by the patentee; with due regard to the cost of new drug submissions to the Food and Drug Directorate by the patentee; with due regard for the expense of drug systems recall and continuing information to the professions and for such other factors as may be determined."

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Rondeau, seconded by Mr. Fortin, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act be amended by inserting in Clause 1(4) after the word "prescribed" on line 29, page 2, the following words:

"that the Commissioner may at any time revoke such a licence, where the terms specified in the application are not complied with."

And debate arising thereon;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

11.00 o'clock a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter:

GOVERNMENT HOUSE
OTTAWA

28 March, 1969.

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that the Right Hon. J. R. Cartwright, P.C., M.C., Chief Justice of Canada, acting as Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General, will proceed to the Senate Chamber today, the 28th March, 1969, at 4.30 p.m. for the purpose of giving Royal Assent to certain Bills.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

LOUIS-FRÉMONT TRUDEAU,
Assistant Secretary to the Governor General.

The Honourable

The Speaker of the House of Commons.

Mr. Gilbert, seconded by Mr. Mather, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-186, An Act to amend the Criminal Code and the Canada Evidence Act (Expunging of Criminal Records), which was read the first time and ordered to be printed and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Mr. Mather, seconded by Mr. Gilbert, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-187, An Act respecting the Protection of Records of Canadian Business Concerns, which was read the first time and ordered to be printed and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act as reported without amendment from the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs was again considered at the Report Stage;

Whereupon, the House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Rondeau, seconded by Mr. Fortin,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act be amended by inserting in Clause 1(4) after the word “prescribed” on line 29, page 2, the following words:

“that the Commissioner may at any time revoke such a licence, where the terms specified in the application are not complied with.”

After further debate, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Matte, seconded by Mr. Rondeau, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting in Clause 1(10)(b) after the word “effect” on line 6, page 4, the following words:

“or immediately where the quality or safety of the product has been the cause of the rejection, and all persons who have acquired such product under a patent shall have their licences revoked.”

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Monteith, seconded by Mr. Rynard, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by deleting in Clause 3 the words “to be sufficiently different in its composition from” in lines 12 and 13 on page 7 and substituting therefor the following words:

“if it is not identical in its composition to”.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived, on division.

Mr. Saltsman for Mrs. MacInnis, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting immediately after clause 5(b) the following new sub-paragraph:

“(c) the regulation of drug manufacturing, importing and distribution so that only drugs having a generic name be allowed to be sold in Canada,”.

And debate arising thereon;

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER.

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: It is suggested that the newly-proposed amendment must be read and considered in the light of the wording of the last two lines of subclause (1a) of clause (5) in the bill so that we would have a construction reading as follows: “5(1a) the Governor in Council may make such regulations governing, regulating or prohibiting the regulations of drug manufacturing, distribution,” etc.

It is suggested that in tacking the amendment to the clause it purports to amend, its inconsistency becomes apparent.

It is suggested also that the amendment is not entirely relevant to clause 5(1a) of the bill. That clause relates to the making of regulations respecting imported drugs.

The amendment, it is suggested, seeks to give the Governor in Council authority to make regulations in respect of the manufacture of drugs. If this provision relates to the manufacture of drugs in Canada the amendment is not relevant to clause 5(1a).

Paragraph (7) of May's Seventeenth Edition states: "If an amendment would make the clause which it is proposed to amend unintelligible or ungrammatical, or if it is incoherent and inconsistent with the context of the bill, it is out of order."

The same author states, as may be found on page 549: "An amendment is out of order if it is irrelevant to the subject-matter, or beyond the scope of the bill, or if it is irrelevant to the subject-matter or beyond the scope of the clause under consideration."

Reference may also be made to page 567 where the same author states: "The rules of order respecting the admissibility of amendments in committee . . . are generally applicable to amendments moved on consideration."

This is the stage at which we are engaged at present. I must therefore rule that the amendment cannot be accepted.

Mr. Saltsman for Mrs. MacInnis, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting immediately after Clause 5(b) the following new sub-paragraph:

"(c) the permitting of hospital pharmacies, under the direction of a licensed pharmacist, to provide narcotics and control drugs on prescription under the Food and Drug Act and The Narcotics Control Act,".

And debate arising thereon;

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I might make some comment about this amendment. It appears to be irregular on much the same grounds as the previous amendment.

It is inconsistent in form and meaning with subclause 5 (1a) which it purports to amend.

Furthermore, it is suggested that it too goes beyond the bill now before the House since it also purports to amend "The Narcotics Control Act". It would seem that one of its effects would be to modify or regulate a provision or provisions in the latter Act and, if it were adopted, it is suggested that the title of the bill now before the House should be amended to indicate that the bill also amends the Narcotics Control Act. For these reasons the amendment cannot be put from the chair.

Mr. Saltsman, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting immediately after Clause 5(b) the following new sub-paragraph:

"(c) the establishment of a Crown Corporation on behalf of Her Majesty which shall be empowered to manufacture, sell, distribute and promote drugs offered for sale in Canada,"

And debate arising thereon;

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

Mr. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I am prepared to rule on the admissibility of the amendment.

Clause 5 (1a) of Bill C-102 deals only with the making of regulations respecting imported drugs. The amendment, if adopted, would necessitate the setting up of a Crown corporation for the purpose, among other things, of manufacturing drugs in Canada, and in doing so goes well beyond the purpose of the bill and would have the effect of creating a public charge.

Reference may be made to paragraph (13) of May's 17th edition, page 551, where it is stated: "Amendments or new clauses creating public charges cannot be proposed, if no money resolution or Ways and Means Resolution has been passed, or if the amendment or clause is not covered by the terms of the resolution."

Further, as stated in paragraph (1) on page 549 of May's 17th edition: "An amendment is out of order if it is irrelevant to the subject-matter, or beyond the scope of the clause under consideration."

For the reasons stated, I regret to say that the amendment is not in order.

Mr. Saltsman, seconded by Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by inserting immediately after clause 5(b) the following new sub-paragraph:

"(c) the prohibition of distribution of drug samples by drug manufacturers for purposes of advertising and promotion, except when a physician or the pharmacist makes a separate specific written request for samples of the particular drug or drugs in which he may be interested,".

After debate thereon, by leave of the House, the said motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Monteith, seconded by Mr. Rynard, moved,—That Bill C-102, An Act to amend the Patent Act, the Trade Marks Act and the Food and Drugs Act, be amended by adding Clause 6, as follows:

"6. Within two years of the coming into force of this Act, the Minister of National Health and Welfare shall prepare and table in Parliament a report reviewing the operation and the effect of the Act and all regulations enacted thereunder and the said report shall be considered by Parliament and its appropriate Committees."

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion it was negatived, on division.

On motion of Mr. Basford, seconded by Mr. Cadieux (Labelle), the said bill was concurred in.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Basford, seconded by Mr. Cadieux (Labelle), moved,—That the said bill be now read a third time and do pass.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the third time and passed.

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That upon completion of the consideration of item numbered three under the heading of "Private Members' Business" the House will revert to the consideration of "Government Orders".

[At 4.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(4)]

(Private Bills)

Orders numbered one and two were allowed to stand, by unanimous consent, and retain their precedence.

The Order being read for the second reading and reference to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs of Bill S-27, An Act respecting The Quebec Savings Bank;

Mr. Laflamme for Mr. Guay (Lévis), second by Mr. Richard, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs;

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs:

Pursuant to Special Order made earlier this day, the House reverted to "Government Orders".

The Order being read for the consideration of Bill S-26, An Act to prohibit the advertising, sale and importation of hazardous products, as reported with an amendment from the Standing Committee on Health, Welfare and Social Affairs;

Mr. Deachman, seconded by Mr. Guay (St. Boniface), moved,—That Bill S-26, An Act to prohibit the advertising, sale and importation of hazardous products be amended by deleting subclauses (3), (4), and (5) of Clause 8 and substituting the following:

"(3) Every order adding a product or substance to Part I or Part II of the Schedule shall be laid before the Senate and the House of Commons not later than fifteen days after it is made or, if Parliament is not then sitting, on any of the first fifteen days next thereafter that Parliament is sitting.

(4) If both Houses of Parliament resolve that an order or any part thereof should be revoked, that order or that part thereof is thereupon revoked."

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Basford, seconded by Mr. Pepin, the said bill, as amended, was concurred in.

By leave of the House, the said bill was read the third time and passed.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed Bill C-185, An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1970.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed Bill C-172, An Act to amend the Financial Administration Act, without any amendment.

A Message was received from the Right Honourable J. R. Cartwright, P.C., M.C., Chief Justice of Canada, acting as Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General, desiring the immediate attendance of the House in the Senate Chamber.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, went with the House to the Senate Chamber.

And being returned:

An Act to amend the Canadian Forces Superannuation Act, the Defence Services Pension Continuation Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act and the Public Service Superannuation Act.

An Act to amend the Financial Administration Act.

Mr. Speaker informed the House that he had addressed the Right Honourable the Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General as follows:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR:

"The Commons of Canada have voted Supplies required to enable the Government to defray certain expenses of the public service.

"In the name of the Commons I present to Your Honour the following Bill:

'An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service, for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1970.'

"To which Bill I humbly request Your Honour's Assent."

Whereupon, the Clerk of the Senate, by Command of the Deputy to His Excellency the Governor General, did say:

No. 124

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1969.

2.00 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

The Acting Prime Minister (the Honourable Paul Hellyer); the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin); the honourable Member for York South (Mr. Lewis) and; the honourable Member for Shefford (Mr. Rondeau), paid tribute, on behalf of the House of Commons to the memory of the former President of the United States of America, the late General Dwight David Eisenhower.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: On Friday last the honourable Member for Calgary North rose on a question of privilege concerning the alleged taping of an announcement dealing with the selection of a choice for the new Montreal airport. In closing his remarks, the honourable Member proposed to move a motion as follows: "I move that the question of information of the announcement of the new Montreal International Airport at or near St. Jerome, Quebec, having been given prior to the said announcement by the government in the House of Commons and including all the circumstances under which the allegation is made, be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections of the House, so that a full inquiry investigation may be made and that the said committee be empowered to examine all persons and papers material to the matter in question."

Mainly because two of the Members more directly concerned with the matter were not in the House at that moment I felt it might be fair and proper to wait until they were in the House and had an opportunity to make a statement, before a ruling could be made or might be made on the procedural aspect of the motion proposed by the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Woolliams).

The Chair, of course, is grateful to all honourable Members who have taken part in the discussion. The particular point at issue at this time is whether there exists a prima facie case of privilege.

The honourable Member for Calgary North raised the point as to whether this matter had been raised at the first opportunity, and I would think it was raised at the first opportunity. When the honourable Member brought the question up on Friday without prior notice, I had some doubt for a moment as to whether he might not have been required to give the usual notice. At the same time I gathered that the question was being raised as a result of a question or questions asked of the Prime Minister (Mr. Trudeau), which to some extent at least made it proper and procedurally correct for the honourable Member to move the motion. In any event I assumed that the hour's notice would have expired rather quickly and the motion could have been put at a later hour in the afternoon and taking this aspect and other aspects into consideration I felt that the honourable Member should be heard then.

Honourable Members who are interested in the procedural aspects of this matter raised by the honourable Member will be reassured to know that the Chair has not taken this matter lightly indeed, and that many hours have been devoted since Friday to the consideration of the many complex aspects of parliamentary law and procedure as they apply to privilege. It is on the strength of this analysis, as well as on the basis of opinions expressed during the discussion in the House on Friday, and of course today, that I am prepared to make a ruling now.

I should say once again, as I indicated earlier today, that my ruling deals only with the technical and procedural aspects of the matter and not in any way with the merits of the situation or the allegations. As the honourable Member for York South (Mr. Lewis) stated earlier today the question before the House is not whether there were leaks—as he called them—or not. I add that the question is not whether or not in fact there was ministerial impropriety but whether the situation or allegations should be considered as a matter of privilege and be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

The President of the Privy Council (Mr. Macdonald) has given the standard definition of privilege as defined in May's 17th edition at page 42. Later on the learned author adds: "...The privileges of parliament are rights which are 'absolutely necessary for the due execution of its powers'. They are enjoyed by individual Members, because the House cannot perform its functions without unimpeded use of the services of its Members; and by each House for the protection of its Members and the vindication of its own authority and dignity."

These definitions are very general; it is perhaps on purpose that a clear and logical definition has never been given of parliamentary privilege. However, authorities on the subject argue that privilege includes freedom of speech, in the sense of immunity against suits in defamation; freedom from arrest in certain very limited circumstances; exemption from court duty as a witness or as a juror; protection against undue influence, and reflection on Members.

There are also the collective privileges of the House dealing with the control of its proceedings and publications; the calling and protection of witnesses; reflections and indignities affecting the House as a body or as an institution; the right to set up its own rules, and the traditional privileges claimed by the Speaker on behalf of the House at the opening of Parliament.

It will be seen, thus, that parliamentary privilege is concerned with the special rights of Members not in their capacity as Ministers or as Party Leaders, or Whips, or Parliamentary Secretaries but strictly in their capacity as Members. Allegations of misjudgment, or mismanagement, or maladministration on the part of a Minister in the performance of his ministerial duties, does not come within the purview of parliamentary privilege.

A thorough study of each and every one of the cases of privilege raised in the British House during a period of 20 years shows clearly that each and every one of the cases reported deal with situations where Members felt they had been adversely affected in their right to participate in parliamentary work without undue pressure, influence or accusations either from inside or outside the House. In fact nowhere in the British or Canadian precedents can there be found authority for the proposition that administrative "misdeeds" as such can be raised by way of questions of privilege.

The honourable Member for Calgary North made reference to two cases in the British House and it may be helpful if I were to summarize these two precedents.

The first one relates to what is known as the Thomas case, and that summary is as follows:

In this case Mr. Thomas resigned from the government over a budget leak in the budget of 1936. There was no question of privilege, but on May 5, 1936, Mr. Chamberlain on behalf of the government moved: "That it is expedient that a tribunal be established for inquiring into an urgent matter of public importance, that is to say, whether, and if so, in what circumstances and by what persons, any unauthorized disclosure was made of information relating to the budget for the present year or any use made of any such information for the purposes of private gain."

This motion was made under the Tribunals of Inquiry (Evidence) Act, 1921, and after debate the motion was carried, and it is known that the tribunal was set up and made a report because on June 11, 1936, a further motion was made by the Prime Minister, Mr. Baldwin, as follows: "That the report of the tribunal appointed under the Tribunals of Inquiry (Evidence) Act, 1921, be now considered."

After debate on that motion it was resolved on the main question that the report be accepted, and this occurred on June 11, 1936. In parenthesis, before the motion was moved Mr. Thomas resigned his seat having previously resigned from the Cabinet.

The point here I suggest that is relevant to our discussion was that the matter was not considered at any moment by way of question of privilege.

The second case referred to by the honourable Member for Calgary North relates to the Dalton case, and here again I summarize the proceedings in relation to that case.

On November 13, 1947, Mr. Dalton as Chancellor of the Exchequer was asked a question concerning the forecast of budget proposals in a newspaper. Mr. Dalton stated that in reply to questions put to him by the correspondent of the Star newspaper he had indicated to that correspondent a subject-matter contained in the publication in question. He said that this was a grave indiscretion on his part and offered his apologies to the House.

The next step occurred when Mr. Churchill put a notice or motion down for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the circumstances of the disclosures of the budget information. Mr. Churchill raised this on November 17 and, in the meantime, the Chancellor of the Exchequer had resigned.

On November 20 the question was proposed on Mr. Churchill's motion and it was agreed to. That motion reads: "That a Select Committee be appointed to inquire into all the circumstances relating to or associated with the disclosure of budget information by Mr. Dalton, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, on Wednesday, 12th November:

That Messrs.—"

Then follows the names of committee members.

"That the committee have power to send for persons, papers and records—"

And there is also reference to the quorum.

It is of interest of course to note, and again I suggest to honourable Members that this is the important point of these two cases which were quoted by the honourable Member for Calgary North, that although there were substantive motions made to the House for the consideration of alleged improprieties on the part of Cabinet Ministers the consideration which took place was not by way of reference to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, was not founded on a question of privilege but rather on substantive motions.

At the time at my disposal I have been able to find but one case in our own House in over 100 years of proceedings where the conduct of a minister has been subject to review by means of question of privilege.

On May 22, 1924, an honourable Member raised a question with regard to the then Minister of Labour's conduct and stated that he was credibly informed and that he believed he was able to establish by satisfactory evidence that the then Minister did withdraw from the Home Bank thousands of dollars on deposit therein to his credit, using certain information he had received, as such minister, of the likely immediate failure of said bank, and had received advantage and profit to himself to the extent of such withdrawals, contrary to his obligations as such Minister in derogation of his office and the honour, dignity and traditions of Parliament.

This precedent, I suggest, was outside the administrative responsibility of the Minister in that he used Cabinet information to his own personal advantage. It was not a matter of administration but a question of his personal honesty, integrity and conduct.

This is the one instance we have in all the precedents. In this instance the matter was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

In closing I could do no better than refer the House to the decision of Mr. Speaker Michener on June 19, 1959 in which he stated: "In finding that a question of the privileges of the House is not prima facie involved in this motion, I am making a procedural decision the effect of which will not prevent the further discussion by the House of the matters in issue. The effect is to refuse precedence to this discussion but not to prevent it. No barrier is raised to the presentation of this matter under different circumstances on another occasion. For example, the subject-matter could be brought before the House as an amendment to the next motion to go into Supply. I should add too that the debate on the point of order on Wednesday and the discussion of the same matter on the estimates of the Minister of Transport were so broad that there would be little left to be said if the motion itself were to be debated this morning."

Honourable Members have now or will have within the next few days or next few weeks an opportunity if they so wish as Members of the opposition to bring this matter back perhaps as a matter of no confidence. I suggest to honourable Members that if they wish this matter to be considered further it should be dealt with in this way either by substantive motion or by a motion of no confidence in the government.

The Order being called for concurrence in the Fifth Report of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, presented to the House on Wednesday, March 19, 1969;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I have listened with attention to the arguments advanced by the President of the Privy Council (Mr. Macdonald), which were essentially a restatement of the interesting points made when the matter was initially raised last week. I have also heard the honourable Member for St. John's East (Mr. McGrath) and the other honourable Members who took part in the debate. They referred to the three points which I had mentioned when the matter was first brought up in the House: namely 1, whether the committee report goes beyond the Committee's terms of reference; 2, whether the report offends the sub judice rule or doctrine, and 3, possible objection with the form of the report.

First, dealing specifically with the terms of reference of the committee I would remind honourable Members that, that argument was not made seriously by any honourable Member, and indeed the President of the Privy Council said that he was not putting forth a view in this regard, and so I will not consider that aspect of the matter in any way.

The second important point is whether the report offends the sub judice doctrine, and in the course of the discussion I have been referred to many clauses in the Railway Act. I doubt very much whether it is the duty of the Chair to take the Railway Act, or, and any other statute to see whether or not the report submitted by the committee offends in any way some of the clauses of any statute.

It has been said that the House of Commons might inform the government of its opinion on the matter, since, according to section 53 of the Railway Act, the Governor in Council may vary or rescind an order or decision of the Canadian Transport Commission. That is the kind of argument that has been submitted to the Chair and in my submission it is not the kind of argument that the Chair should be asked to review. The Chair, as I have said, should not be invited to go into the constitutional aspects, the jurisdictional aspects of a statute or of a clause of a Statute which has been considered by a committee. These considerations, I suggest, should not be adjudged by the Speaker. These matters may be adjudged by the House itself and the way to proceed is by means of a motion. On the motion for concurrence it may be proposed that the report be not now concurred in and that it be referred back to the committee for further consideration, or for the purpose of deleting the paragraph which recommended that the order of the Transport Commission be left in abeyance.

My suggestion to honourable Members is that none of those considerations should be decided upon by the Chair at this time.

A similar question was raised in this House on July 1, 1919.

I am sorry that I have to refer so far back, but at the same time I am comforted in the fact that the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) in support of his case went back to 1874.

The report of this case can be found at page 498 of the Journals of that year, 1919. When on the motion for concurrence in a Committee Report a point of order was raised to the effect: "—that as certain proceedings in the committee were irregular the House should refuse to entertain the report of the committee, but that it should be referred back to the said committee for further consideration."

On that occasion Mr. Speaker, ruled: "—that the point of order was not well taken inasmuch as the alleged irregular proceedings complained of took place in the committee and the House is only seized of the proceedings of the committee from the report presented to the House. There is no reference in the report whatever to any question having been raised in the committee and, therefore, my ruling is that it is not competent for this House to go back of the report which is now in its possession."

I must make the same ruling in the present case.

Dealing now with the third specific point, the form of the report I might say that this was the aspect which gave me great difficulty and the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) mentioned that he had little doubt that the form of the report was acceptable.

My own understanding is that the established form of a committee recommendation dealing with legislative proposals suggests that the government take into consideration the advisability of introducing legislation for a specified purpose. The wording of this committee's recommendation is a departure from the established practice in that the words "take into consideration the advisability of" are not included.

Both the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre and the honourable Member for Peace River suggested that this should not be considered as a serious objection or an obstacle in that the words used were tantamount to the words normally used in a report from a committee.

If indeed I felt that the omission of these words resulted in the recommendation being interpreted as a direction rather than a mere recommendation, it is doubtful that the report could be accepted. On the other hand, I have doubts as to the advisability of referring the report back to the committee for the sole purpose of effecting a purely formal modification.

At the same time I should caution honourable Members that committee reports should be drafted according to procedurally acceptable forms. There are countless precedents to which honourable Members could be referred in this regard. As I have indicated the form of the report should not and cannot, directly or by implication, direct the government to introduce or Parliament to enact legislation. The accepted form of a committee's recommendations dealing with proposed legislation is "that the government give consideration to the advisability of introducing the necessary legislation".

I recognize the very valid point raised by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre and by other honourable Members, and it is my belief that the new rules have upgraded the committees. Perhaps we should depart from the long established procedures and allow committees to make reports which do not necessarily follow the rules which have been accepted, as far as their form is concerned. However, I would doubt very much that the Chair is empowered to accept these changes. That is the type of question which in my view might well be considered by the Committee on Procedure. That Committee might submit a report to the House indicating whether the form of committee reports should be changed to take into account a new status of the committees in the legislative process.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), seconded by Mr. Hellyer, moved,—That the said report be not now concurred in but that it be recommitted to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications with instruction that they have power to amend the same by deleting the fourth paragraph thereof, which reads as follows: "Your Committee recommends that the Order of the Canadian Transport Commission, authorizing the Canadian National Railways to suspend rail passenger service in Newfoundland on April 5, 1969, be left in abeyance, until your Committee tables its complete report in respect to this question".

And a point of order having been raised as to the form of the proposed motion, the said motion was not received.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Lessard (LaSalle), seconded, by Mr. Francis,—That the Fifth Report of the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, presented to the House on Wednesday, March 19, 1969, be concurred in.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Allmand, seconded by Mr. Breau, moved,—That the said report be not now concurred in but that it be recommitted to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications with instructions that they delete from the report the paragraph thereof, which reads as follows: "Your Committee recommends that the Order of the Canadian Transport Commission, authorizing the Canadian National Railways to suspend rail passenger service in Newfoundland on April 5, 1969, be left in abeyance, until your Committee tables its complete report in respect to this question.

And a point of order having been raised by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) as to the substance of the proposed motion;

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for their contributions to the discussion. I have in fact done some preliminary research in anticipation that this matter might be raised. The arguments put forward by the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) and by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) do raise points which need to be considered very carefully but I suggest that there are citations other than those they have chosen which are categoric on this important question.

First, I should like to refer to the decision of Mr. Speaker Rhodes as found in Beauchesne's Parliamentary Rules and Forms at page 690: "When a motion is made for the adoption of a report of a committee it is competent for the house to adopt it, or to reject it, or to refer it back to the committee with or without instructions."

A citation which is probably more relevant and more particular, and one which in this particular case I have to treat as decisive in deciding this question, is Beauchesne's citation 326 as it appears on page 252: "The report of a Standing Committee should be considered final only when it is adopted by the House, because, until then, the House can refer it back to the committee with instruction to amend it in any particular."

I am therefore obliged to rule that the amendment as proposed by the honourable Member for Notre Dame de Grâce (Mr. Allmand) is in order.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), seconded by Mrs. MacInnis, proposed to move in amendment thereto,—That the motion be amended by adding at the end thereof the following words: "and that the Members of the said Standing Committee be discharged, since the passing of this motion, as amended, constitutes a vote of non-confidence in the said Members."

And debate continuing;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At 10.01 o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to Standing Order 40(1);

After debate the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Mr. Groos, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of National Defence, presented,—Returns to the foregoing Orders.

The Senate amendment made to Bill C-154, An Act to prevent the introduction or spreading of pests injurious to plants, was read a second time and concurred in.

The Order being read for the consideration of the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-155, An Act to provide compensation to farmers whose agricultural products are contaminated by pesticide residue, and to provide for appeals from compensation awards;

Mr. Olson, seconded by Mr. Macdonald (Rosedale), moved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours that this House disagrees with the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-155, An Act to provide compensation to farmers whose agricultural products are contaminated by pesticide residue, and to provide for appeals from compensation awards, for the following reason:

The amendment changes the principle of the Bill so that compensation is payable even if the pesticide residue resulted through the fault of a pesticide manufacturer or another person. It makes it a responsibility of the Minister to pay and carry court action against a third party. It would also remove the precise requirement that the Minister may require a farmer to take action to reduce losses before paying compensation, such as washing, trimming, changes in storage etc. If this requirement is removed, it would substantially increase the costs involved in applying the provisions of the legislation. The amendment would also increase the possibility of marginal or frivolous claims.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on division.

The Order being read for the consideration of the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-157, An Act to regulate products used for the control of pests and the organic functions of plants and animals;

Mr. Olson, seconded by Mr. Côté (Longueuil), moved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours that this House disagrees with the amendment made by the Senate to Bill C-157, An Act to regulate products used for the control of pests and the organic functions of plants and animals, for the following reasons:

It is difficult to foresee all the ramifications of an appeal procedure provided by cross reference to another proposed statute that was substantially amended by the House after the amendment to this bill was made by the Senate;

The amendment provides for a review procedure that was considered by the House of Commons and rejected; and

Any manufacturer, under the proposed statute without this amendment, would have not only an opportunity, but an obligation to present in detail all required technical information, and, in addition, a review procedure already is provided for all cases where goods are detained.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on division.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I have serious doubts as to the acceptability of this amendment from the procedural standpoint. The honourable Member for Selkirk (Mr. Schreyer), has said that this amendment purports to be a reasoned amendment. May's seventeenth edition at page 527 lists the conditions for a reasoned amendment and, in particular, paragraph (1) at page 527 refers to the fact that such an amendment would have to be declaratory of a principle in opposition to or differing from the principles, policy or provisions of the bill. I think that the amendment proposed by the honourable Member does not follow this requirement. It appears that the amendment as proposed is not declaratory of a principle but rather proposes an alternative scheme. It is, in my view, in the form of a substantive motion which would have to be moved with the usual notice. In view of the circumstances I doubt very much that the amendment can be accepted. The honourable Member might give the matter some thought. The debate will proceed, and there may be an occasion later on to move another amendment which might perhaps conform a little more to my interpretation of a reasoned amendment.

Debate was resumed on the amended motion of Mr. Kierans, seconded by Mr. Lang (Saskatoon-Humboldt),—That Bill C-184, An Act to establish a Canadian corporation for telecommunication by satellite, be now read a second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts.

And debate continuing;

Ordered,—That there be laid before this House copies of the contracts between Rod Service Ltd. and the Government of Canada relative to the purchase in March 1969 of vehicles owned by Rod Service Ltd., and for copies of contracts between Transfer Lapalme and the Government of Canada for the sale of these vehicles to Transfer Lapalme.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 99—Mr. Macquarrie).

Ordered,—That there be laid before this House copies of Official Purchase Orders of the Post Office Department sent to Rod Service Ltd. at the time of purchase by the Government of Canada of vehicles from Rod Service.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 100—Mr. Macquarrie).

The Order being read for the consideration of Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, as reported with amendments from the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs;

A notice of motion standing in the name of the honourable Member for Abitibi (Mr. Laprise) having been called, as follows: That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended in that the Bill be not now read and that the subject-matter of the Committee Report be grouped into four sections entitled, namely:

- (a) abortion
- (b) homosexuality and indecent assault
- (c) lottery and gaming
- (d) the remaining clauses of the Bill.

Mr. Speaker ruled the said proposed motion out of order on the grounds that it was in the nature of a reasoned amendment since it proposed that the bill be not now read, and according to long standing practice was the type of an amendment which might have been proposed at the Second Reading Stage of the bill but the type of amendment at the Report Stage of a bill is restricted by the provisions of section 5 of Standing Order 75.

A notice of motion standing in the name of the honourable Member for Abitibi (Mr. Laprise), having been called as follows: That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended in that clause 7 be not read until the words "act of gross indecency", as found in section 149 of the Criminal Code be defined by the Committee.

Mr. Speaker ruled the said proposed motion out of order on the same grounds as stated in respect of the prior proposed motion.

A notice of motion standing in the name of the honourable Member for Broadview (Mr. Gilbert), having been called as follows: That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting therefrom clause 7 and substituting therefor:

"7. Sections 147, 148 and 149 of the said Act are repealed and the following substituted therefor:

147. Every one who commits buggery or bestiality is guilty of

(a) an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for five years, or

(b) an offence punishable on summary conviction.

148. Every male person who assaults another person with intent to commit buggery or who indecently assaults another male person is guilty of

(a) an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for five years, or

(b) an offence punishable on summary conviction.

149. Every one who commits an act of gross indecency with another person is guilty of

(a) an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for five years, or

(b) an offence punishable on summary conviction."

Using Citations 203, 406 and 408 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition, Mr. Speaker ruled the said proposed motion out of order on the grounds that the amendment was irrelevant to the clause which it purported to amend and that it was beyond the scope of the bill now before the House.

Mr. Woolliams for Mr. Valade, seconded by Mr. Baldwin, moved,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting therefrom clause 7.

And debate arising thereon;

No. 133

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1969.

2.00 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Blair, from the Standing Committee on Procedure and Organization, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

1. Your Committee, pursuant to its Order of Reference of January 29, 1969, was instructed to review the operation of the House under the present Standing Orders, more particularly to give special attention inter alia to the means of meeting the need to make available to the Standing Committees stronger and more extensive support facilities.

2. Your Committee was impressed by the obvious fact that the present provision for meeting rooms for Committees, for accommodation of present Committee staff, including the reporting, interpretation and translation services, is inadequate.

3. Your Committee has also noted that the administrative work of the Committee staff has increased because of changes in procedures of the House in the present session. As a result of this revision all departmental estimates, and most governmental bills are now referred to the Committees, in addition to the matters that were in the past normally referred. Because of the requirement for simultaneous translation, and the necessity to have Committee evidence printed as quickly as possible, additional staff must be recruited.

4. Your Committee has determined that in order to provide for the expanded work of Standing and Special Committees, the present staff in the Committee Sector will have to be increased and that additional space off Parliament Hill aside from Committee Rooms must be made available for them in order to provide office accommodation of a standard equivalent to that prevailing in the Public Service. Space for such additional office accommodation is not available in the East, Centre or West Blocks. Your Committee, therefore, recommends, as an interim measure, to meet the immediate foreseeable needs for office accommodation of staff in the Committee Sector, the following:

- (a) That sufficient space be acquired in a building as nearly as possible adjacent to Parliament Hill to provide office accommodation for the staffs of the Committees Branch and of the Reporting, Interpretation and Translation Services.
- (b) That in addition to the foregoing, provision be made in the Centre and West Blocks for up to six (6) Committee rooms of a size more appropriate to the needs of Standing and Special Committees than those presently in use.
- (c) That the accommodation referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) including all necessary supporting equipment and systems installations be made ready and available for use at the commencement of the next session of this Parliament.

5. Your Committee recognizes that the foregoing represents only a short term solution, and recommends that the Government consider constructing, as a matter of priority, a special conference and Committee building as part of the Parliament Hill complex. This building should include adequate Conference and Committee Rooms for parliamentary and governmental purposes, office accommodation for the Committee Sector and Conference staffs, Committee Chairmen, members of Parliament and, possibly parking facilities. The building should be built having in mind the future growth of Parliament, and planned to meet the needs of Parliament over the next century.

Mr. Anderson, seconded by Mr. McNulty, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-189, An Act to amend the Territorial Sea and Fishing Zones Act, which was read the first time and ordered to be printed and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, as reported with amendments from the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs, was again considered at the Report Stage;

Whereupon, the House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre), seconded by Mr. Lewis,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting from clause 13 thereof paragraph (a) and paragraph (b) of sub-section (1) of the proposed new section 179-A of the Criminal Code.

After further debate, the question being put on the said motion, pursuant to section 11 of Standing Order 75, a recorded division was deferred.

Mr. Laprise, seconded by Mr. Latulippe, moved,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting in clause 13 the words "either alone or in conjunction with the government of another province," on lines 41 and 42 on page 31 and by deleting in clause 13 the words "in that province, or in that and such other province," on lines 44 and 45 on page 31.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, pursuant to section 11 of Standing Order 75 a recorded division was deferred.

Mr. Laprise, seconded by Mr. Gauthier, moved,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting therefrom clauses 12 and 13.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, pursuant to section 11 of Standing Order 75, a recorded division was deferred.

And the question being put on the motion of Mr. Valade, seconded by Mr. Baldwin,—That Bill C-150, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, the Parole Act, the Penitentiary Act, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and to make certain consequential amendments to the Combines Investigation Act, the Customs Tariff and the National Defence Act, be amended by deleting therefrom clause 7.

No. 135

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1969.

2.00 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Three petitions were presented in accordance with Standing Order 67(1).

Mr. Laflamme, from the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections, presented the Fifth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Thursday, March 27, 1969, your Committee has considered the question of privilege raised by the member for York-Simcoe, viz, the refusal of the government upon his election to the House of Commons to pay to him the accumulated vacation leave provided as a normal practice to those leaving the Public Service.

Your Committee held one meeting and heard the following witnesses:

Mr. John Roberts, M.P.;

Dr. Maurice Ollivier, Q.C., Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel;

Mr. J. P. Connell, Assistant Secretary (Personnel), Treasury Board.

Your Committee reports as follows:

1. The question of privilege is well founded.

2. Your Committee is of the opinion that in the light of the accepted practice, an injustice occurred when Mr. Roberts upon his election to the House of Commons could not be paid for the accumulated vacation provided as a normal practice to those leaving the Public Service.

3. Your Committee is of the opinion that the services to the government of Mr. Roberts as executive assistant to a minister of the Crown for which payment is claimed, were performed before he became a member of the House of Commons and, although the government may make an ex gratia payment according to the accepted practice for persons leaving the employ of the Public Service, the Committee recognizes the government's possible difficulty in the face of legislation as it now stands.

4. In order to overcome any possibility of a further question of privilege in the light of Section 16 of the Senate and House of Commons Act, it is recommended that the government consider the expediency of introducing an item in the estimates or supplementary estimates, equivalent to the amount of vacation leave accumulated by Mr. Roberts with a proviso that such payment be made notwithstanding any other Act of the Parliament of Canada and that acceptance of such payment would not require him to vacate his seat in the House of Commons.

5. As there are similar cases involving other members of the House of Commons, your Committee recommends that the government give the same consideration to such members.

6. Your Committee is of the opinion that the government should consider the expediency of introducing legislation to amend the Senate and House of Commons Act to resolve the question of the propriety of members of the House of Commons receiving such payments.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 7 and 8) is tabled.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 65 to the Journals).

Mr. Douglas (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands), from his place in the House, asked leave under Standing Order 26 to move the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a specific and important matter requiring urgent consideration, and stated the subject to be:

the resignation of the Minister of Transport because of the failure of the Government to agree to take action to increase the housing supply in Canada, and the consequent danger of further delay in the taking of adequate legislative and financial steps to meet the housing crisis that now faces this country.

And leave having been granted to the honourable Member to propose the said motion;

Mr. Speaker, pursuant to section (9) of Standing Order 26, directed that the proposed motion stand over until 2.00 o'clock p.m., Friday, April 25, 1969.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Sharp,—That this House supports the Government's policy of continued Canadian participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the intention of the Government, in consultation with Canada's allies, to take early steps to bring about a planned and phased reduction of the size of Canadian Forces in Europe.

And on the motion of Mr. Stanfield, seconded by Mr. Baldwin, in amendment thereto,—That the motion be amended by deleting the words "the Government's policy of," and by deleting everything after the word "and", and adding the following:

"strongly condemns the retreat from internationalism to isolationism contained in the Prime Minister's statement of April 3rd and his speech of April 12th".

And on the motion of Mr. Douglas (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands), seconded by Mr. Lewis, in amendment to the said proposed amendment,—That the amendment be amended by deleting all the words after the word "condemns" and by substituting therefor the following words:

"the failure of the government to announce the withdrawal of the Canadian forces from Europe, its failure to demand, as a condition of Canada's continuing membership in the Alliance, that NATO change its role from concentration on military measures to one of energetic pursuit of détente in Europe, and also its failure to propose a substantial reduction in defence expenditures and a large increase in assistance to developing nations."

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

Mr. Walker, Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, laid before the House,—Exchange of correspondence between the Prime Minister of Canada and the Minister of Transport, dated April 24, 1969.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Trudeau, seconded by Mr. Sharp, —That this House supports the Government's policy of continued Canadian participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the intention of the Government, in consultation with Canada's allies, to take early steps to bring about a planned and phased reduction of the size of Canadian Forces in Europe.

And on the motion of Mr. Stanfield, seconded by Mr. Baldwin, in amendment thereto,—That the motion be amended by deleting the words "the Government's policy of," and by deleting everything after the word "and" and adding the following:

"strongly condemns the retreat from internationalism to isolationism contained in the Prime Minister's statement of April 3rd and his speech of April 12th".

And on the motion of Mr. Douglas (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands), seconded by Mr. Lewis, in amendment to the said proposed amendment,—That the amendment be amended by deleting all the words after the word "condemns" and by substituting therefor the following words:

"the failure of the government to announce the withdrawal of the Canadian forces from Europe, its failure to demand, as a condition of Canada's continuing membership in the Alliance, that NATO change its role from concentration on military measures to one of energetic pursuit of détente in Europe, and also its failure to propose a substantial reduction in defence expenditures and a large increase in assistance to developing nations."

After further debate at 9.45 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker interrupted the debate pursuant to Order made April 16, 1969;

And the question being put on the said proposed amendment to the amendment, it was negatived on the following division:
